Wildlands Bill On Unsteady Course

The Garrett County Wildlands bill was on an unsteady course last week in the General Assembly when the House Environmental Matters committee was asked to hold off action on including the Monroe Run section in the state's wildland system.

The request came from two county commissioners, and if heeded would reduce the proposed wildlands acreage from 4,000 to 2,000.

Early last month the bill came before the committee but at that time the State Department of Natural Resources had so many amendments to offer that the committee chairman ordered that the bill be redrawn.

The delay was a disappointment to approximately 12 persons from Western Maryland who had traveled to the capital to testify in support of the proposal.

Another half dozen or so persons attended the hearing but only Wayne B. Hamilton and Earl Opel, commissioners, were from Garrett County.

Hamilton spoke briefly, revealing that the county would rather not have Monroe Run in a wildlands designation at this time. The county objected to Monroe Run because the acreage is flanked on both sides by state-owned recreation land which is now contiguous with the wildlands.

Mr. Hamilton gave as an example the fact that motor powered bikes and recreational vehicles are prohibited in wildland areas, while the state recreation areas on either side of Monroe Run would permit their uses.

"The present proposal would be a deterrent in the best use of the properties concerned," he told the committee, adding that it was the county's opinion that the proposed wildland area was "chosen arbitrarily."

One other change brought out at the hearing was the new bill provided for a 200-foot right of way along roads in the proposed wildland areas so that the county could undertake maintenance responsibilities without express state approval.

County residents were briefed on the wildlands plans last October when a public hearing was held in Oakland.

Train Cuts Loom

A Department of Transportation report on Amtrak is recommending that some trains should be cut with passenger facilities in some areas being given another two years to see if it can be successful.

One of the cuts recommended is the one now running between Washington and Parkersburg.

The DOT report was scheduled to go to Congress last week.

A recommended criteria for deciding whether a special run should be kept or cut would depend on whether the train loses more than two cents per passenger mile.

Area Coal Output Increased In 1972

Coal production in Western Maryland reached post-war record proportions last year, according to fourth quarter statistical reports released by the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

The post World War II record of 1,834,295.46 tons for 1972 topped the 1971 high by 42,618.26 tons.

Cause of the unsurge in production and overall increase in mining activity last year was attributable largely to the rise in market value of coal, according to Harry Buckley, bureau director. Coal presently sells for about $7 per ton.

"With the value of coal skyrocketing on the open market in late 1971, all of the dormant companies in this area which had shut down operations, sprung up again to take advantage of the higher prices," Mr. Buckley said.

Mr. Buckley said that despite the nationwide increase in mining activity, the supply for coal did not nose-dive as the supply of coal increased. The arrival of the energy crisis and continued delays in the construction of nuclear power plants, shortage of other fuels, including natural gas, has caused a greater reliance on coal for energy needs.

The overwhelming majority of Western Maryland coal is obtained from the strip mine process with a few deep mines and augering accounting for the rest.

Buffalo Top Producer

Once again Buffalo Coal Company headquartered in Oakland and Bayard, was the major producer of coal in Western Maryland. The firm, operating primarily in the Georges Creek area and Savage River state forest, produced 259,566.15 tons, nearly 70,000 more tons than second high producer, Moran Coal Company, of Westernport. Buffalo accounted for 16 percent total production, while Moran accounted for 12 percent.

As has been the trend for the past two decades, Garrett county produced over two times more coal than did Allegany. Garrett operators produced 1,114,252.35 tons, while Allegany was the source of 520,043.11 tons. The Allegany county total was up from 433,624.71 tons in 1971 while Garrett's total dipped from 1,158,652.49 in 1971.

The production in this county from the companies and total tonnage include: Buffalo, 259,586.15; Franklin Police, 100,060.61; G and S Coal, 95,219; Grafton Coal, 95,193.70; Ace Drilling, 80,637.84; Ginniman, 78,091.71; Mary Ruth, 69,293.09; Shallmar Coal, 40,633; Chief Coal 28,050.15; Keystone Coal, 24,285.44; Mineral CC, 19,965.15; Harold Upole, 13,612; Coal Lick, 8,308.18; Shafer, 5,432.21; Magruder and Drees, 3,693.50, Rodanier, 2,605; Burrell Brothers, 2,570; Cross Cut, 467; Dorsey Coal, 359; R and R Coal, 114.

Leaky
waste water
and gas
and money.

The steady bleep-bloop of a leaky water faucet is more than a nuisance, it's a waste of one of our vital natural resources—water.
And if the leak is hot water, it wastes another vital natural resource—the natural gas used to heat the water.
Not to mention the money used to pay for the gas to heat the water.
A leak that fills an ordinary cup in ten minutes wastes 3,280 gallons of water a year.
Fix your leaky faucet. With a two-cent washer.
Natural gas and water . . . and money . . . are too valuable to waste.
There are other ways you can conserve gas. Keep the thermostat on your water heater set at the normal temperature. Avoid partial loads in your washing machine and dishwasher.
Don't use an excessive amount of hot water in your bath or in the shower.
Keep your water heater working efficiently by draining about a bucketful of water a month from the faucet at the base of the heater.
This prevents mineral deposit build-up that makes the heater work harder.
Use the gas you need in your home. But not a penny's worth more.
Write for our free booklet, "30 Ways to Save", for more ideas.

Improved Status For Garrett College Noted

The Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has informed Garrett Community College that on Saturday, March 3, the Commission voted to change the status of the college from "Correspondent" to "Recognized Candidate." Acceptance as a Recognized Candidate for Middle States accreditation attests that the Commission on Higher Education considers an institution to be offering its students, on at least a minimally satisfactory level, the educational opportunities implied by its objective. In the Commission's view, the institution's organization, structure, and staffing are acceptable for its stage of development, its sponsors are committed to supplying its needs and are able to do so, its governing board is functioning properly, and its academic and financial plans are well-designed.

Garrett will be listed as a "Candidate for Accreditation" in the Middle States Directory and also in the list of Accredited and Candidate institutions published annually in the Fall for the Federation of Regional Accrediting Commissions of Higher Education by the American Council on Education.

Dr. Luther G. Shaw, President of the College, stated "We are pleased to have received this change in accreditation from the Middle States Association since it is the highest accreditation status a college may have at this stage of its development. Coupled with the accreditation received last month from the Maryland State Department of Education, the college community is pleased to have its efforts so recognized and wishes to extend on behalf of the Board of Trustees its appreciation to those members of the college staff, students and citizens of the community whose interest and support have made this recognition possible.

Property, Estate Seminars Are Set

Property owners are evidencing considerable interest in the series of three seminars entitled "Planning for Property Disposition and Estate Planning." These seminars are to be held at Garrett Community College on March 27th, 28th and April 4th. Each meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. in the college auditorium.

Dr. George Max Beal, University of Maryland Specialist, will conduct two sessions on "Property and Estate Planning." The session on April 4th will be conducted by a panel of experts on "Managing Your Estate." The panel will be comprised of Fred A. Thayer, State's Attorney; W. Dwight Stover, Attorney for the Garrett National Bank; and Courtney Tusing, president of the First National Bank of Oakland.

The programs are being offered through the Community Services Division of Garrett Community College, Stewart P. Jackson, Director. James McHenry, Extension Agent of the Cooperative Extension Service, has assisted with the planning of the program.

A registration charge of $2.00 per person is being charged and is payable at the meeting. Further information may be obtained by calling the Community Services office at the college.

Driving While Intoxicated Draws A Heavy Fine

Driving while intoxicated or ability impaired drew a heavy fine in District Court by Judge Lewis R. Jones. The same person was found guilty of two other counts but fines were suspended. Eleven forfeited collateral, one on two counts.

Herbert J. Fazenbaker, Bittinger, pleaded not guilty on three counts but was found guilty on all three. On the count of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated or ability impaired, he was fined $100. On the other two counts, failing to keep to the right of the center of the road and reckless driving, fines were suspended, $25 on the first and $100 on the second. A $5 cost applies to each charge.

Those forfeiting collateral were:

Melvin G. Kahl, Friendsville, two counts, speeding greater than reasonable and prudent $25, and failing to grant the right-of-way, $25.

Rosalie V. Evans, Swanton, failing to obey a traffic control device, $20.

Felix J. Bruno, Jr., Wheeling, W. Va., passing against roadway markers, $15.

Teddy W. Dotson, Houston Tex., failing to obtain a Md. Road Fuel Tax sticker, $30.

Chris A. Fitzwater, Swanton, failing to stop at a 'stop' sign intersection, $15.

Olin L. McKenzie, Frostburg, failing to obey a traffic control (truck stop), $15.

Amounts shown include fine and costs unless otherwise noted.

Martin's Insanity Plea Is Upheld

John H. Martin, 60, former owner and publisher of The Guardian, a Frostburg weekly newspaper, was found not guilty by reason of insanity Monday in a trial before Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, of Oakland, in the Allegany County Circuit Court.

Martin was brought to trial on charges of assault with intent to murder his wife, Mrs. Dorothy M. Martin, 47, and Gerhard William Karl Thiele, 36, a printer for the publication.

In his verdict Judge Hamill ordered Martin committed to the Department of Mental Hygiene for the State of Maryland, with a recommendation by the court that he be confined to the Springfield State Hospital for examination and evaluation.

The shooting incident occurred on September 27 of last year when Martin shot his wife twice and Thiele once in the office of the newspaper in Grahamtown, near Frostburg, according to police.

Martin was indicted by the recalled grand jury on December 11 on charges of assault with intent to commit murder. He has been in the custody of the Allegany County Sheriff's department prior to Monday's trial.

The only testimony given during the trial was presented by Dr. Allen S. Greenberg, who testified for the defendant.

Bolden Bill Would Save Casselman River Bridge

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Garrett Co.) introduced into the Maryland General Assembly a resolution requesting the State Department of Transportation to cooperate with the Department of Natural Resources in conducting a cost estimate study for the restoration of the Casselman River Bridge at Grantsville.

The resolution notes the historic and scenic values of the structure and requests the study to be completed by July 1, 1973 and reported to the Capital Budget Committee.

Bolden said, "This great old state and national historic landmark deserves to be preserved. In addition to its value as a part of Western Maryland's heritage, its architecture is unique. It is told that people come from all parts of the world to view this bridge as one of the few remaining examples of its type."

Pesticide levels in lettuce have been investigated.

In a way it is too bad Tennyson gave the world his classic verse about a young man's fancy. The dreams of Spring are not only for young men . . . and they're not only thoughts of love.

In many ways Spring awakens new hopes in every heart. The surge of life is renewed. Old frustrations are forgotten. The targets of happiness seem nearer. This is particularly true during Lent.

It's a good time to think. And from our thinking to plan how best to pursue the goals we really cherish.

Spring and Lent, is a good time to go to church . . . or to go back to church if you've been away awhile . . .

Spring is a good time to seek the Source of resurgent living.

LOVE'S "HOW MUCH?"

Lesson for March 25, 1973

Background Scripture: Psalms 103:8-14; Hosea 11:1-9; John 3:16-17; Ephesians 1:3-10.
Devotional Reading: Lamentations 3:22-26.

"Do you love me?" asks the wife for the eight hundred and fifty-first time in their marriage.

For the eight hundred and fifty-first time her husband answers: "Yes, dear, you know I do."

Then follows the customary question: "How much do you love me?" Once again, as many times before, the husband is stumped. How can you tell someone how much you love them? What words can serve as adequate measures?

Rev. Althouse

Deeds instead of words

Actually, few of us are able to answer "how much?" with mere words. The extent and limits of love seem to defy our poor attempts at verbalization. Phrases like "with all my heart," "eternally," and "deepest love," seem weak and empty.

It is only when we can translate these words into deeds that we can begin to communicate the depth and strength of our love. In the musical, "My Fair Lady," Eliza Doolittle sings: "Don't speak of love, show me." Love is one of the most [illegible]

"So great is his steadfast love . . ."

If the Hebrew were to ask, "How much does God love me?", he would be answered, not with words, but would be pointed to God's loving deeds. Though they deserved great punishment, God demonstrated his love with his gracious forgiveness.

When we get to the New Testament, however, we find an even better measure of God's love for his children: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life" (John 3:16). To man's age-old question, "How much do you love me?", God gave a once-and-for-all answer that tells it all: Enough to sacrifice my own Son on your behalf.

When we see God's love demonstrated so graphically, then the words used to describe his love become more meaningful: "For as the heavens are high above the earth, so great is his steadfast love toward those who fear him" (103:11). Yet, it is still the acts themselves that are the only adequate answers to love's "how much?"

THE DIRTY DOZEN ARE STILL AROUND

It is 1973 and we have improved health and living conditions generally. Along with this we have developed specific ways to identify diseases, treat them and sometimes prevent them by the use of vaccines. But, despite this vast improvement a threat to life still exists today from a group of well known killers who have been around for a long time.

1. Polio
2. Diphtheria
3. Tetanus
4. Measles
5. Small Pox
6. Influenza
7. Venereal Disease
8. Viral & Serum Hepatitis
9. Tuberculosis
10. Rubella
11. Typhoid
12. Cholera

It takes constant surveillance and quick reaction to outbreaks by health authorities at all levels to prevent epidemics and keep these killers under control.

Bidding Due Soon On Freeway Jobs

Four more contracts completing the westerly portion of the National Freeway to the West Virginia line are to be submitted for bids in April and May, persons attending a road progress and schedule meeting with representatives of the Department of Transportation and the State Highway Administration last Thursday were assured.

Three contracts are to be submitted for bids next month and one other in May. The four contracts will carry the Freeway from Big Savage mountain to the West Virginia line.

Originally the contracts were to be submitted for bids in February and March.

A Western Maryland delegation attending the briefing was told that Maryland was hopeful there would be no holdup in federal funds for the project and the highway should be completed from Cumberland to the West Virginia line in 1975.

Among those attending the session from this area were Wayne Hamilton and Bernard Guy, County Commissioners.

Wildlife Week Is March 18 to 24

Information about the activities of farm people in supporting National Wildlife Week, March 18 to 21, was provided last week by John Reckner, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, but it was unable to be included in last week's story, due to a lack of space.

The information is provided this week.

Reckner continued, "Too often it seems as though man is only interested in taking from the land, without putting anything back. However, this is not always the case. For example, last year in Garrett County, farmers and landowners converted approximately 50 acres of land to wildlife uses at considerable personal expense. Thousands of shrubs and trees were planted to provide wildlife food and cover."

According to last year's Census Bureau statistics, about two-thirds of the nation's hunters did all their hunting on private land and another one and one-half million spent over half of their hunting time on privately owned land. Records also show that almost eight million fishermen used small pounds, most of which were on farms.

In Garrett County alone last year, fifteen ponds were constructed by landowners, with technical assistance from Soil Conservation Service. Wildlife shrubs, made available by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, were distributed by the Garrett Soil Conservation District to more than fifty district cooperators in 1972. Fishpond Management assistance was provided to eighty five district cooperators during the same period.

Packets containing shrubs suitable for wildlife will be available again this year to Garrett County residents, and fingerlings for fish pond stocking are also available.

The class planned the project, advertised and sold over 800 glasses of lemonade, earning $33.65 for the fund. Finzel Community Bldg. Free Of Debt

The mortgage on a Community building, plans for which were initiated in the spring of 1969, for the Long Stretch and Finzel communities has been burned.

The estimated debt of $6,000 was paid off when Shirley Blank, treasurer for the building committee of the ladies auxiliary of the Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire company, presented a check for $2,500 to Paul Clark, fire company treasurer.

The multi-purpose building which adjoins the fire hall is used frequently and offers facilities for library service, club meetings, dinners, dances, teen activities, community meetings, etc.

Library service has been added to the community. The building has facilities for fund raising activities for the fire company which has on order a new fire truck. Youngsters are able to plan activities and anticipate classes in crafts and hobbies.

The possibility of the community building was first learned in the spring of 1969 through Beatrice Opel, target area director of Community Action. Interested residents of the area met with the committee and requested the building from Lowell Bender, community action director, and Wayne A. Frederick, deputy director of the development program.

Residents were to furnish funds for materials. Labor was to be furnished by Community Action. A building 40 feet by 50 feet was planned which included a fireplace. Office space and a furnace were added. Beatrice Opel was named chairman of the committee and was assisted by Shirley Blank, Eileen Steele, Alice Snyder and Paul Clark. Members of the firemen's auxiliary and committee worked on fund raising activities over the period of four years toward payment of the mortgage.

Big Tree Planting Program Planned

"More Trees for Maryland" a program that envisions planting nearly 100,000,000 trees over the next ten years, is the theme of an all-day conference scheduled to be held at the Hunt Valley Inn, in Cockeysville, on Wednesday, March 28, Adm R. Bond, Director of the Maryland Forest Service, announced.

Several co-sponsoring organizations are aligned with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources for this project.

The conference is a follow-up of a National Tree Planting Conference sponsored by the American Forestry Association, held in New Orleans in October, 1972. At that conference, State Forestry officials pledged goals for tree planting over the next ten years. Maryland's Forest Service director accepted a goal of 96,000,000 for this State.

Emphasis in the tree planting project will be centered on the reforestation of critical areas such as strip mining tracts and other affected by erosion, increasing roadside and streetside plantings and development of tree stands in parks, recreation areas and school properties.

Column For Homemakers

By Mrs. Freda Denison Extension Agent

Economy Meals for Good Eating

Serve a royal feast by having the king of poultry for your main dish. Turkeys are now so plentiful and relatively reasonable in price, in the high-protein food class, they rate a place in an economical menu plan.

The big birds are outstanding in nutritive values. Turkey meat supplies large percentages of many of the essential nutrients recommended for the daily diet. It's especially valuable for the body-building proteins it provides at relatively low calorie levels. It's a complete protein of high nutritional value. Turkey meat is also highest in the B vitamins, niacin and riboflavin. And its low fat content shows an excellent ratio of polyunsaturates to saturated fatty acids.

All the traditional ways to serve turkey—roast, with or without stuffing—are a feast in themselves, but why not try some "different" preparation to perk up the menu. Turkey chowder, turkey casseroles, turkey croquettes, turkey Brunswick stew, and scores of other creations can make gourmet yet thrifty main dishes.

Homemakers Meetings

March 26, 8:00 p. m., Cove Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Dennis Margroff.

March 27, 11.30 a. m., Sunnyside Club will have a luncheon at Mrs. Baity Ridder's; 12:30 p. m., Bittinger Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Alvin Brenneman.

We do not need any special day to bring you to our mind.
The days we don't think uf you are very hard tu find.
It's been a lonesome home without you.
And sadness has been the way.
For life and home are not the

Music To Your Ears

There are certain little speeches that may come tn us from other people whom we value. Perhaps it is their friendliness and sincerity in treating us as human beings with a divine spark, but their words are never erased and are always evoked in our minds when these people appear. They are what make living a real experience and a thrill, along with some dignified or mundane words as these:

That day I was SO down in the dumps—and then In you came!

This is the nicest story I've ever read, so I kept it out for you.

I never expected that flnwer to grow for you, and here it is, bigger than mine.

You can surely tell she's her father's daughter.

It must be great to have an animal as attached to you the way that dog is to you.

Oh, it doesn't matter about the dress; it's the girl inside.

That tie looks like a millinn dollars on you.

That's the best design in your new car—the nicest I've seen this year, especially the chrome.

If I had a beautiful home like yours, I wouldn't care abnut going anywhere.

Hurrah, you won your bet on the Kentucky Derby!

You left my magazine nutside and it got wet? Don't worry; I've read all of it.

Nuw that's really what a field of (corn, rye, oats) should luok like.

If you considered me company, I'd be hurt.

Your grandfather was a good man.

You'll never guess—the first of March and I saw a robin!

We never have any trouble gahhing, do we?

You planted that tree? It is certainly a lnvely specimen, isn't it?

C'mun, we don't have anything to celebrate, hut let's go out for dinner, anyway.

BLANCHE SPIKER

The friendly person with a cheerful smile who has greeted meat department shoppers for the past eight years is Blanche Spiker. Children who pass by her department are always anxious to attract Blanche's attention, for she is one of the nice people who always gives them lollipops and balloons.

Blanche's main responsibility in the meat department is the wrapping and displaying of the product. She is very efficient in her work and is highly respected by all, for her sincerity and pleasant nature.

Many customers have been enjoying the freshly baked bread, rolls and candies Blanche has provided for them for the past two years. After completing an eight hour work schedule Blanche goes home and bakes. The money she makes from these bakery products is used to finance trips to the Holy Land. For Blanche, this trip is the highlight of the year.

At the present time Blanche is convalescing at home following surgery. We all miss her at Foodland and hope that she has a speedy recovery.

It's very possible that you might not see Blanche again in the meat department. We're hoping that she might consider employment in our new Yum Yum Shoppe. We're sure that her presence would be a definite asset to the new bakery and delicatessen.

Blanche and her husband Bliss live at 137 Third Street and they have one daughter and four grandchildren.

Commissioners Get More Budgets

The County Commissioners continued to receive budgets for the ensuing year's operations.

Edward Heath, executive director of the Tri-County Council, presented the forthcoming year's budget on Monday. Tentative approval was indicated with the exception of one item, which is to be considered by the Commissioners and acted upon at a later date. The council's budget was practically the same as the present one, it was pointed out.

The Commissioners also had a luncheon meeting with the Board of Education members and Dr. William Buser, county superintendent of Schools. A tentative budget estimate was presented but no action was taken, due to the lack of various necessary facts and figures, it was stated.

Mrs. Ruth Turney received information from the commissioners concerning her tax payment.

The Commissioners announced that the court house would be closed on Monday, March 26, in observance of Maryland Day, with the exception of the Treasurer's office which will remain open for the sale of automobile license tags.

Keep Neutral . . .

Public assistance to strikers, such as food stamps, welfare benefits, and other payments is mounting rapidly. It is estimated that the cost to taxpayers will be over $300 million annually this fiscal year and in the future. What is more, the use of tax funds is a threat to the survival of true collective bargaining.

When management and union representatives sit down at the bargaining table during a strike, economic pressures are always present on both sides: loss of wages by employes and loss of income by the employer as production and sales decline or are cut off completely. Eventually these pressures induce a meeting of the minds.

But the striker is less inclined to go back to work when working taxpayers are providing food for his table and money for the other necessities of life. And strikers put less pressure on union officials to settle the strike because the availablity of tax funds lessens the strain on the strikers' pocketbooks.

Where tax dollars are used, or merely are available to support strikers, and obvious result will be higher wage settlements than otherwise might be expected.

Taxpayers and the public, in turn, are forced to pay higher prices, withstand diminished production, and might even be faced with a loss of their own jobs, if their employers curtail operations because of a strike.

The use of public aid to enlarge union power is morally unjustified, detrimental to the viability of free collective bargaining, and makes questionable the national policy that government should remain neutral in labor disputes.

$2.5 Billion State Budget is Approved

The House of Delegates rejected a flurry of last minute amendments and gave final approval Tuesday to a $2.5 billion state operating budget for fiscal 1974.

As it now stands there is a $795 difference between the House and Senate passed version. The House voted Monday to restore that amount to pay for the three member Board of Motion Picture Machine Operator examiners.

The budget bill now goes back to the Senate which will be asked to concur with the House amendment.

Land Use Bill

Gov. Marvin Mandel said Tuesday he thinks the House of Delegates will approve its own version of a state land-use bill, but that a proposal which he prefers is in trouble in the Senate.

The James-Mandel proposal would create a nine-member state commission with the power to advise local governments on land use and planning decisions of statewide or regional impact.

Several Measures Placed In Hopper

Several bills were placed in the hopper at Annapolis in recent days by both State Senator William Wilson and Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden.

The following were listed in the Senate:

SB 1147, to amend Section 7-5 of the Garrett County Code raising the salary of members of the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett county, beginning December 1, 1974.

SB 1148, to amend section 37-1(k) of Article 87 of the Code to provide that the sheriff shall appoint a person to perform clerical duties and act as matron of the Garrett County jail, and set the compensation for this position.

SB 1149, to amend Section 7-3 of the Garrett County code to provide that each commissioner

Escapees Get 1 Year Terms; Rape and Drug Cases Pending

Traversers Represented by Allegany Attorneys — Judge Must Act on Several Motions

The March Term of the Circuit court came to a quick conclusion, at least for the time being, after trials on Tuesday.

Still remaining are a number of drug cases, and rape charges against three individuals.

Two inmates of the county jail who escaped from the institution were sentenced to one year in custody of the Department of Correction of Maryland, after entering pleas of guilty of jail break.

They were Dailey F. Lewis, 22, of the Swallow Falls area, and Lawrence H. Moats, 23, of Salisbury, Md. Sentence was pronounced by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill.

John Rolls, 27, local contractor, was arraigned and pleaded guilty to passing worthless checks and larceny after trust. Rolls was picked up on a bench warrant and returned to the county from Las Vegas, Nevada several weeks ago.

Harry Riggleman, 23, of Kitzmiller, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assisting with a rape case, specifically as being an accessory before the fact.

Jerry Woodrow Waybright Bradley Manor, Oakland, pleaded guilty to carnal knowledge of a girl under the age of 14. He also had been charged with rape, assault with intent to rape, and statutory rape.

The three men were remanded to the county jail pending the pre-sentence investigations.

Dates of additional trials for the March Term of court were uncertain. James Robert Harvey and Donna Lee Harvey, charged in the rape case, have engaged attorneys H. R. Athey and H. Whitworth, of Allegany county, while John Somerville, also Allegany county, was hired by Kenneth Ray Broadwater in the same case.

Leo Stottlemeyer, Jr., charged with possession of a dangerous drug with intent to distribute, has engaged Mr. Whitworth as his attorney.

Earl E. Manges is attorney for Arden and Robert Dale Reeves, on drug indictments, with Mr. Somerville representing Raymond Spiker, R. Rinehart representing John Liller, John R. Toston, public defender, will represent Roger Mattingly.

The two who were arrested on drug charges, following adjournment of the grand jury will be given a hearing in district court, but the date has not been set. They are Paul DelSignore and William Sims. Dates for all the

Adams Robbed Of Money And Auto

An Oak Park man was tied up and robbed of his money and car at knife point early Monday morning by two young people.

The two allegedly responsible, William Taylor of Pittsburgh, and a 15-year-old juvenile girl, were apprehended 1½ hours later in the victim's car near Accident, and are presently lodged in the county jail.

Taylor, 19, and the girl allegedly entered the home of Harold Adams, Oak Park through the basement entrance about 4:30 a. m. They used a knife to cut the telephone cord. Mr. Adams, who is employed as a clerk to the county commissioners, was tied with the phone cord and forced to hand over the $17 in his possession.

When the robbers left the scene, they took his car. Mr. Adams reported the matter to the sheriffs' office, who in turn alerted state police. After its recovery near Accident by state police, the car was returned undamaged to Mr. Adams.

Bond for Taylor was figured at $11,000: $500 for destruction of property; $500 for assault and battery; $5,000 for larceny of a motor vehicle, and $5,000 for armed robbery.

Charges against the girl have not yet been filed, pending further investigation.

Bolden Introduces House Measure

A bill introduced into the General Assembly by Delegate DeCoursey Bolden (R-Garrett) creates a merit system board for Garrett County The board would consist of three members. One member would be elected by a majority vote of all county employees covered by the merit system. The two remaining members would be appointed by the Board of County Commissioners representing the public at large, but the appointments shall not be made from among the county employees.

The initial terms of office for the members would be staggered with the member representing county employees serving one year. The other two members would serve two and three years respectively as determined by the County Commissioners.

Kidnapping Story Found To Be Hoax

It's not nice to fool mother nature—nor the sheriff's department, as a Mt. Lake Park man is finding out this week.

Robert L. Crosco, E Street, Mt. Lake Park, went to the sheriff's office Sunday afternoon to report the kidnapping of his wife, Korchie Ruth.

The alleged kidnapping took place on Route 560, about 4:15 Sunday, when Crosco said he had been stopped by a light blue car with a loud muffler.

He also said the unidentified driver, wearing a golf-type hat, had pointed a pistol at him and taken Mrs. Crosco away in the other car, toward Gormania.

Noting some discrepancies in his tale, the sheriff's department sent the Crosco man to the La Vale State police barracks, where he underwent a lie detector test, which allegedly showed that the story was untrue, and Crosco was jailed on a charge of giving a false report of a crime.

Crosco was later released on $50 cash bond, and is to be tried in District Court Monday, April 2, on the charge.

Wednesday afternoon he supposedly told police that his wife had left him, and he made up the kidnapping to try to get her to come home.

Meanwhile, the search goes on for Mrs. Crosco, who had left her two children with her mother. The 19-year-old woman has reportedly been seen in Terra Alta and in Mt. Lake Park and a later report phoned to the sheriff's office this morning said she had been seen in Deer Park last night.

The young woman is about 5 feet, one inch tall, has long reddish-brown hair and green eyes.

The sheriff's office plans to question Mrs. Crosco as soon as she can be located.

Workers Reject Sterling Wage Increase Offer

Production remains at a standstill at Sterling Processing plant in Oakland as the union members voted Wednesday to reject an offer made by the company.

According to Gilman Sylvester, president of the poultry processing plant, the company had offered a 20 cent raise per hour the first year, and a 16 cent raise per hour the second year.

The members of Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers union, local No. 421, turned down the offer at a meeting at the American Legion Wednesday. The latest offer had been worked out with Federal mediator Robert Householder from Pittsburgh and the negotiating committee at a Tuesday meeting with company representatives.

The workers have been picketing the plant since March 12.

Phone Directory Closing Dates Announced

Closing dates for the 1973 Garrett County telephone directory are April 13 for the Yellow pages, and May 1 for the white pages, it was announced

Frank H. Eberly, manager for the company, reminded customers that if they wish to change their listings, they should call the business office of the telephone company.

Many Groups Plan To Plant Trees This Arbor Day

This year for the first time in 101 years of celebrating Arbor Day, the Garrett Forestry Board is encouraging the wood using industries in this county, as well as other groups, to participate in tree plantings.

Celebrating the first Wednesday in April, which falls on April 4th this year, Arbor Day has been observed here in previous years by distributing several thousand tree seedlings to schools, 4-H clubs and other groups for planting.

Max Messenger, chairman of the local Forestry Board, recently presented a two-year-old pine seedling to the sawyer, Theodore Rembold, at Harco Lumber Co.

As head sawyer at Harco for five years, Ted has put 15 million board feet of lumber through his saws.

Mr. Messenger noted that several wood producers are encouraging their employees to plant trees.

As a representative of the Garrett Board, Messenger attended the first Maryland Tree Planting conference held near Cockeysville March 28. Theme was "More Trees for Maryland." According to Messenger, speakers brought out the fact that some 95 million trees will need to be planted in the next ten years to meet future needs for state well-being.

As Garrett representative, he brought home one of the first seedlings from the Maryland State tree, the Wye Oak. The seedling will be planted in the Oakland vicinity.

Friendsville School Property Purchase Final This Week

Purchase of the Frost property in Friendsville for the construction of an elementary school was finalized by the County Commissioners this week

Purchase price for the property is $25,647.00.

This was the first use of any of the county's revenue sharing funds, and falls within the priorities of "Permissible Expenditures" of the Revenue Sharing Act as a capital expenditure, it was pointed out by the County Commissioners.

The purchase of the property was contingent upon obtaining the use of the town park by the proposed location, and this was negotiated by the school board before the purchase. These two properties will make an adequate site for the new school, they said.

Thus far the county has received $2,411.80 in interest on Federal Revenue Funds on deposit. This interest and the use of it is governed by the same guidelines governing the revenue sharing funds themselves.

The Commissioners will be in session on Tuesday, April 3 rather than on Monday. Commissioner Hamilton plans to represent Garrett county at the National Association of Counties meeting in Washington, D. C.

Community Band To Give Concert

The Garrett County Community Band will present its second annual spring concert on Sunday, April 1st, at 3:15 p. m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium. The group is made up of local musicians from Preston, Garrett and Allegany counties. They are under the direction of William F. Robinson, a member of the Music Department of G. C. C.

Also included on the program will be three guest conductors from the area. David Zimmerman from Frostburg State College will conduct the Air and Finale from "Water Music" by Handel in his conducting debut. Richard Clever and Kent Pomeroy, local band directors, will conduct a Lennon-McCartney Medley and "Streets of Athens" by Cacavas.

There is no admission charge.

Thefts, Riderless Motorcycles Noted

Five breakings and enterings were noted at the sheriff's office late last week, all of cottages on Cheek's Lane, Swallow Falls.

Missing items seemed to be antiques and copper items of value.

The sheriff's office and Maryland State Police are investigating.

Two motorcycles without riders turned up during the week, one a Honda found in Deep Creek Lake near Johnny's Bait House Monday evening, and the other a Bridgestone found yesterday at Mary Drive and 12th Street. The latter cycle appeared to have been hotwired.

Backbone Mountain Service Station reported its third breaking and entering in a month this morning. Mrs. Juanita Bosley had lost several small items, including a small amount of change, the other two times. What, if anything, was missing this morning had not yet been determined by sheriff's deputies.

The U. S. used its veto power in the U. N. recently to block a resolution taking control of the Panama Canal from it.

It was designed to familiarize bank personnel with latest approaches and techniques in bank administration, and consisted of lectures and workshops in a number of banking functions.

Bill Compels Competitive Bid Purchasing

A bill to require Garrett County governmental agencies to make purchase on the basis of competitive bids was introduced into the General Assembly today by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Garrett Co.)

The bill applies to all county purchases in excess of five hundred dollars and covers purchases by "every elected or appointed Board, Commission, Agency, Authority or Council."

Delegate Bolden said, "This bill will bring Garrett County buying procedures into line with requirements in other counties."

Veto Cancels New Office In County

An official of the Maryland Department of Education said yesterday that the president's veto of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act could cripple programs for the handicapped in Maryland and would cancel the opening of a division office in this county.

The act apparently would have provided Maryland with over $900,000 a year out of the $2.5 billion three-year allotment.

About 3 a. m Mrs. Hodgson had heard a noise, and thinking it was one of their five children asleep upstairs, she went into the hallway.

A hand went over her mouth and a gun was thrust into her back Two men demanded the money they knew Mr Hodgson had taken out of the bank the day before.

Mrs. Hodgson immediately gave them the money, but before the men left, they went in and put a bullet in the mid-

Y. D. Hance Is Speaker At Inter City Rotary Meet

Some one hundred twenty-five or more Rotarians and farm operators heard Y. D. Hance, Maryland's first secretary of Agriculture, address the inter-city meeting of the Rotary clubs of Friendsville, Grantsville and Oakland, at the Friendsville fire hall on Monday evening.

Mr. Hance was named to the newly created position the day after Christmas last year by Governor Marvin Mandel, and he told the group that much needed to be done in the business where farming was still the most important single use of land in Maryland, and would continue to be for a long time.

A main concern for farmers was the rapid disposition of farm land, he told the group, but that the industry was still a six billion dollar investment which must stay healthy.

Among the many problems ahead he included pollution and air quality, but stressed the fact that the agriculture department must maintain a close liaison with other agencies of government, so that their business would not be unduly hampered

Juvenile Escapees Captured Tu[illegible]y

Two juvenile esca[illegible] from the Victor Cullen Be[illegible] Training school were apprehended in Oakland shortly after 8 a. m. Tuesday morning by state police and members of the sheriff's office.

The boys, one 17-year-old from this area, and one a 15-year-old from Landover, were found in the trailer home of Miss Mabel McGill on Eleventh Street.

Two days previously the boys had allegedly stolen a motorcycle from Donald "Pansy" Hinebaugh. The cycle was returned undamaged to Mr. Hinebaugh on Tuesday.

The youths are being held in Garrett Co. jail pending a juvenile hearing Monday on charges of larceny of a motor cycle.

The 17-year-old had been sent to Victor Cullen last October, after he had been declared a child in need of supervision.

Delegates Okay Land Use Bill

A bill that would give the state limited control over land development in Maryland passed the House of Delegates Wednesday in a showdown that featured charges of excessive lobbying by county governments.

The bill, generally rated as the stronger of two measures, would create a nine-member state land-use commission to designate critical areas in the state and formulate criteria for development within such areas.

More Spring-Like Weather Prevails During Past Week

More spring-like weather prevailed including a thunder storm, over the area during the past week, in contrast to the previous week's snow storm. Much sunshine has taken away most of the snow. Temperatures have been mostly near normal all week.

The 'sunshine' days were Friday, Saturday, Tuesday and yesterday. Occasional snow flurries were noted last Thursday afternoon. Occasional rain showers moistened the Mountain Top Sunday. There was a heavy fog Monday morning with thunder storms and some hail in the afternoon. The storm dumped about a third of an inch of rain About 2 inches of rain will be needed in the next two days to bring the March total up to the normal. Only 2.5 inches of precipitation have fallen as compared to the normal of 4.5 inches for the month.

Daily high temperatures for the week averaged 50 degrees or just about normal. The highest was 62 degrees Saturday. Before that the mercury remained in the 40s or below and since that in the milder 50s. Morning lows averaged 28 degrees with the lowest being 16 degrees Sunday.

Winds have been calm most of the week except a little brisk Sunday afternoon and during the thunder storms Monday. Winds were light Tuesday and yesterday.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The action of Two Garrett County commissioners regarding House Bill 857, designating as wildlands both Big Savage and Monroe Run areas, is disappointing to those who value these locations for what they really mean. I am led to wonder—has either commissioner ever really gone to this forest land? Does he really appreciate what it could mean to people using it quietly? Is he really representing the people's views?

Last October there was little opposition to this bill when it was heard in Oakland. It had received favorable attention at the first hearing until so many wrenches were thrown in.

Now the biggest wrench of all—opposition because adjoining Monroe Run is an area where motorbikes and other powered vehicles are permitted. What the worthy commissioners forget is that (1) much of primitive wildland is definitely not suited to these vehicles, (2) many visitors wish to have a corridor of quiet, and (3) once this wilderness has had interference, it will never again be a natural area. Surely those who wished to use motorized vehicles would not cause so much interference in a 2,000 acre tract if they possessed most of the other 50,000 odd acres and were not policed in using these!

In my walks on Monroe Run, covering a span of 5 years, I have met only two walkers, so I cannot believe that it should be turned over to litter and urbanity if those who have studied it are aware of primitive qualities. This whole section was timbered out about 150 years ago, slashed of valuable trees and exposed to great run-off from the forest cover. Sawdust choked away new root growth. Do we want vehicles there to repeat this devastation by tearing away the soil cover to allow erosion? I do not believe that any sensible person would agree with such waste. Frederick County has the same problem because one councilman wants to allow snowmobiles and motors on the watershed, removing much needed natural vegetation.

As far as arbitrary selection of Monroe Run for this purpose, anyone who truly knows terrain can be sure that it was cited by no less than A. R. Bond, chief of the Maryland Forest Service because of his knowledge of forestry in Garrett County. The bill is self-explanatory: "Whereas, lands at higher elevations are important for protection of watersheds, are ecologically vulnerable if unwisely altered by human interference, and often may be uneconomic for logging or construction, it is hereby found that lands may be suitable for this classification" (primitive). Monroe Run is in the Savage River watershed and is high enough to influence this system.

I implore you to contact your delegates by mail or by phone at 267-5364 or to get information on assembly proceedings at 267-5201. Anyone else you know can do the same. If we make our weight felt, these areas will be saved; if we just stand by, they will be lost. I do not believe that Garrett citizens are unwilling to leave both areas preserved out of the 52,000 acres because we are the ones who have so much of this beautiful country.

Column For Homemakers

By Mrs. Freda Denison Extension Agent

Colors for Spring

Women's fashions for spring hinge on color this year, according to Mrs. Eleanor F. Young, Extension clothing and textiles specialist at the University of Maryland in College Park.

This spring's array of confectionery or "gumdrop" pastel colors have a clearness and brightness that place them near the top center of the imaginary color globe.

Skimming off the vivid and brilliant descriptions from the color pockets for various hues of pink, green and blue among the 267 colors described in the National Bureau of Standards' Dictionary of Color gives a basketful of shades which seem to predominate among spring fashion showings this year.

Included in this grouping are such shades as pistachio, peach, pink, and coral. Mrs. Young observed that the big colors this spring will probably be concentrated on the latter three colors, with many shades of pink blending into coral and peach. She noted that clothing racks will also be loaded with shades of green blending into aquas and blues. And all of these colors will be used with lots of white, she emphasized.

The look for spring also de-emphasizes granny dresses and other vintage costumes. So you can put grandma's clothes back in the trunks.

Jackets will also be big news this spring, including the shirl jacket, which "arrived" last fall. Waist-length baseball jackets will be among the newest items for spring wardrobes.

Despite inroads by dresses, women's pants will not be going out of fashion. In fact, they will be appearing in several new looks, including the straight leg baggy pants with waistline pleats, wide cuffs and wide waistbands.

Palazzo pants, flaring from a fitted hipline, will still be around from last fall.

Second eliminations for the "It's Academic" television program were held Monday morning in the cafetorium. Students from grades 10 and 11 who had advanced from the first elimination were quizzed by members of last year's team to determine the group for the final session.

Last fall Southern's team of Barbara Leighton, Jeanne Nichols, and Alan Cvetnick placed second on the WBAL-TV program. Dulaney High School won by one question over Southern and Seton Hill Girl's School came in third.

This year Ms. Sylvia Rowe from the station will come to Southern on April 16 to conduct the final elimination instead of the students going to Baltimore. The finalists will be divided into two groups with one group being quizzed that afternoon in a special program for the sophomores and juniors and the other group being quizzed as part of the PTA program that night. Three team members and three alternates will be chosen.

Ram Baseballers List Schedule

The Southern baseball team members are coming down the home stretch before starting their regular season, a sixteen game schedule. Unusually favorable weather has aided the spring practice.

The Rams have eleven lettermen returning with seven being two-year lettermen.

Coach Green's attitude toward the season is optimistic. Ernie Shotwell, pitching ace, said, "I think this year's team has the potential to be the best team in Southern's baseball history." Don Upole, outfielder said he was looking forward to a great season.

The baseball schedule begins April 2 with Fort Ashby, away, and includes the following:

April 6, Beall, home; April 17 Union, home; 21, Piedmont, away; 27, Keyser, home; May 2, Petersburg, home; 4, Piedmont, home; 7, Petersburg, away; 10, Fort Ashby, home; 15, Keyser, away; 21, Northern, home, 25, Northern, away; 29, Beall, away, June 1, district, away.

Grant At Ohio River Basin Meet

The initial meeting of the Ohio River Basin Commission's Citizens Advisory Council, held March 20 in Cincinnati, Ohio, was attended by William W. Grant of Oakland.

The Commission, created by President Richard Nixon, is charged with coordinating the water and related land resource - planning efforts of the 11 Member States, 10 Federal Agencies and 2 Interstate Commission.

Fred E. Morr, Chairman of the Ohio River Basin Commission, expressed enthusiasm at the meeting by saying, "This Council can be the mechanism by which the public can express its views and desires in matters directly related to water planning."

There are eight user-interest classifications that make up the Citizens Advisory Council. They are Agriculture; Commerce and Industry; Environmental; Power; Recreation; Transportation; Water Supply; and General Interest. Each of the 11 states within the Ohio River Basin has two representatives in each of the first seven user-interest classifications and four representatives in the general interest clasification.

Mr. Grant, representing the General Interest Classifications said "This Council can be representative of the public only if people direct their comments, views, and questions to the Ohio River Basin Commission through myself or other members of the Citizens' Advisory Council. We are, in effect, a liaison between the public and the water planning agencies within the Ohio River Basin."

Maryland's Chief Judge Murphy recommended the state abandon the use of the Grand Jury indictments in criminal cases.

by regulations that were not for the best interest of the farmer.

In pointing out the importance of agriculture he revealed a number of facts; that there were 2.97 million acres of farmland in Maryland on 18,000 farms, some 50 percent of the land area, but that these figures were expected to decline to about 2.4 million acres by 1986, and that farms would drop from 18,000 to 10,500, but that the average farm would increase from 165 acres to 229 acres.

In recounting the difficulties that farmers faced, he related the heavy cost of farming. Where a tractor sold in 1947 for $1 830 it now was $4,200; where a three bottom plow was $220, it is now $733, where a pick-up truck was $1,450 in 1917, it now was $3,050, and even a pitchfork, $1.73 in 1917, was now $6.09.

Burton Lytle, president of the Friendsville Rotary club, presided, and B. O. Aiken, former House of Delegates member, served as master of ceremonies.

It was the first inter-city meeting held by the Rotary clubs in a year or more.

Mr. Hance who had served as president of the Maryland Farm Bureau in 1965 and '66, had been chairman of the Maryland Agriculture commission since 1968. He owns and operated a tobacco and livestock farm near Prince Frederick, Calvert county.

Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information typical of the kind asked of me on or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me:

What is your position in regards to post-War aid to North Vietnam?

I believe that aid to North Vietnam would be unfair to the American taxpayer and to the American GI's who fought in Indochina. We've got problems here at home and the taxpayer's money should be used for this purpose. I have not voted for any of our expensive foreign aid programs in the past and would oppose aid to North Vietnam when and if, it ever comes before the House.

What government agency can I phone concerning a problem with a moving van company?

Answers to consumer questions in such areas as small shipments and moving household gouds can be secured by phoning the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) hotline at (202) 343-1761.

Can you send me information on the scope of EPA's legal authority?

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has published a booklet entitled "The Challenge of the Environment, A Primer on EPA's Statutory Authority." It discusses the agency's legal authority in relation to air, water, solid waste, pesticides, radiation and noise. Citizens interested in receiving a copy of the free booklet should write my office here in Washington.

Please explain your recent legislation pertaining to the energy crisis?

Recently I joined with Rep. Lawrence Williams of Pennsylvania in introducing a bi-partisan, anti-pollution measure in the House. Specifically, the proposed bill would give businesses a tax incentive to promote the construction of power-producing facilities which would use waste products to generate their power. These facilities would help to conserve dwindling supplies of natural gas and oil and would also help to reduce the pollution of the environment caused by commercial and domestic refuse.

Is the government going to ban lead shot for hunting or it it all just a rumor?

The Department of Interior says that it is moving toward a conversion from lead shot to iron shot in order to eliminate lead poisoning which kills 2 to 3 million waterfowl annually. A cooperative study by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers Institute has confirmed that soft iron shot is as effective as lead for hunting. If results from proposed tests on selected flyways prove positive, a nationwide ban on the use of lead shot may be instituted for the 1975-76 waterfowl season.

Use Care In Placing TV Or Radio Antenna

Care in the installation of TV or radio antennas was urged this week by Monongahela Power Company officials.

Installation of these antennas in the proximity of power lines is extremely dangerous, it was pointed out. Contact with live electric wires can lead to serious injury.

Get experienced, qualified servicemen to install the antenna for your protection and his; have them use the best and strongest materials capable of withstanding high winds and icing conditions; and have them choose a location for the antenna a safe distance from electric wires.

These precautions should always be taken because there is the danger that th falling antenna will seriously injure persons below or—at the very least—cause property damage.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother, Grace E. Resh, who passed away two years ago, March 30, 1971.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest.
And the ones who think of her today
Are the ones who loved her best.
It broke our hearts to lose her
But she did not go alone.
For part of us went with her
The night God called her home.
Sadly Missed By Her Family

26 Attend Mt. Lake Development Plan Meeting March 22

Twenty-six persons were present at a public meeting held last Thursday evening March 22 in the Mt. Lake Park town hall to present the draft of the comprehensive development plan for the town and surrounding area.

Mt. Lake Park mayor Elmer Upole presented the preliminary draft and served as chairman of the meeting.

W. Marshall Rickert, county planning director began his presentation by stating that "Mt. Lake Park has historically been a well-maintained residential community, with small nodes of commercial development primarily to support the town population."

He noted that the two existing areas of commercial usage were located where the Montgomery Ward catalog store and Oak Park plumbing are located, and the other along the border of Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn, along the B and O railroad tracks.

The plan presented will promote the historical development trend in the future, concentrating primarily on the encouragement of new residential development on the above two sites within the town limits designated for future commercial-type development.

Following the meeting, a question and answer period was held. The needs for housing codes and abandoned automobile codes to improve the existing appearance of the town were discussed.

Mr. Upole concluded the meeting by informing the citizens the town budget was "big business" and that implementation of the comprehensive plan would help them wisely manage their budget in future years.

Also present at the meeting were David Humphrey, vice president of Urban Research and Development Corp., and Tom Jones, assistant director of Garrett County Development Corporation.

May Enroll For Medical Ins. Part Of Medicare

People 65 and older who have not already signed up for the medical insurance part of Medicare can enroll now through April 2 at any Social Security Office, according to James E. Robertson Social Security District Manager in Cumberland, Maryland.

Medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses. It is the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and general revenues from the Federal Government. The basic premium is $5.80 a month through June 1973. It will be increased to $6.30 a month, starting July 1.

This year's general enrollment period has been extended through Monday, April 2, because March 31 falls on Saturday.

The medical insurance part of Medicare supplements the Medicare hospital insurance program which helps pay for hospital bills and certain post-hospital expenses.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Cumberland Office, located at 316 Baltimore Street, is open Monday through Friday (except National Holidays) from 8:45 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

by Rev. Donald R. Thomas

The Christian Faith is a living Faith. It is not simply a moral code nor is it a legalistic system of do's and do not's similar to the ideas of the ancient Jews, nor is it bound to any type of government or political system devised by man. For the Christian faith to be alive it must be so in the fullest sense of the word. It must be a dynamic, moving, active force in every situation that exists in today's world as well as the world of tomorrow. For the Christian Faith to be truly alive it must be able to cope with the challenges of science, psychology, and the new morality." If it cannot then it is dead for it no longer speaks the Word to our world.

Our Lord Jesus Christ told us to love our neighbor as ourselves and in this statement I find the key to keeping our faith live and active. Faith active in love is the means by which the Word constantly and effectively confronts sinful man today and tomorrow. The personification of this faith active in love was in the gracious gift of God in His only Son Jesus Christ. We have no gift to offer to God that can compare with the gift already given as our redemption. But we can give all that we have, that is ourselves, totally in love to our neighbor. To give anything less is to respond to the love of Jesus with only our own selfishness and sin. When Jesus was approached by the ten lepers He did not ask about their family background, or their code of ethics, or even what sin they had committed but He responded in love to their need and did so in the context in which He found them. We are also called upon to meet the needs of our neighbor in a loving way. We cannot allow ourselves to become so concerned with another man's sin or with his situation in life that it blinds us to the real needs that are to be met if love really commands our response. We are to meet the needs of our brothers in response to the love that we have been given through Jesus our Lord.

This is not as easy a task as we might imagine for we are constantly bound by our own sinful nature and our own needs and desires. To meet the needs of others in the context where we find them requires, first of all, an intense and intimate knowledge of the love that God has for us. This is the foundation from which we work. We proceed from this point by keeping our faith from becoming rigid and thus becoming unable to meet new situations. The way our parents and grandparents spoke and acted out the Word of God may still be valid today but it also may be invalid. A completely new situation in a new time may call us to look deeper into ourselves and respond in a new and different way while still responding from that base of our knowledge of God. Thus a legalistic or moralistic answer to a new problem may be totally inappropriate. This does not mean that we become so flexible that we can no longer oppose sinfulness but rather that we continue to try and meet new challenges with a living, dynamic, loving Faith. Thus the love and knowledge we have of our Lord does not bind us but frees us to greater witness in ever changing times.

Youths' opinions of the military inched up last year.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons To Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages.

"As we look back to the old principles, we find them as timely as they are timeless. We believe in independence, and self-reliance, and in the creative value of the competitive spirit. We believe in full and equal opportunity for all Americans, and in the protection of individual rights and liberties.

"We believe in the family as the keystone of the community, and in the community as the keystone of the Nation. We believe in compassion toward those in need. We believe in a system of law, justice, and order as the basis of a genuinely free society.

"We believe that a person should get what he works for—and those who can should work for what they get. We believe in the capacity of people to make their own decisions, in their own lives, and in their own communities—and we believe in their right to make those decisions.

"To the young people of America today, I say this: It's true that you are inheriting a world you never made. But this was also true of every generation. The great, exciting difference is that you live in a world you can change.

"Our destiny offers not the cup of despair, but the chalice of opportunity. So let us seize it not in fear, but in gladness. Let us go forward, firm in our faith, steadfast in our purpose, cautious of the dangers, but sustained by our confidence in the will of God and the promise of man.

We have endured a long night of the American spirit. But as our eyes catch the dimness of the first rays of dawn, let us not curse the remaining dark. Let us gather the light."

Foresight Needed Before Buying Lots

According to Arnold Schiffman, chief of ground water service for the Department of Natural Resources, Water Resources Administration, there is sometimes difficulty in many Maryland counties in obtaining water supplies for individual lots for homes.

"Although we are requiring for most subdivisions that a well be drilled before the house is built," said Schiffman, "there are cases where individual lots are sold and the purchaser contracts for his own well. In these cases, there is little we can do to protect the individual from buying a lot on which he either may not be able to get an adequate water supply or the cost of several wells might be prohibitive."

The counties where Mr. Schiffman advised particular care on the part of individual lot buyers are Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Carroll, Montgomery, Howard, Baltimore, Harford and Cecil.

"In these counties," he said, "we would recommend that prospective buyers of individual lots drill a well before the house is built. Or, it might be a good idea to drill a test well before the land is purchased or make the sale contingent upon being able to obtain a well water supply."

Barbara was the first Cashier of the Year winner for the Oakland Foodland in 1971, and came very close to repeating her victory in 1972. It is very hard to say enough good things about Barbara. She is always friendly, helpful, efficient, accurate and very dependable. She is also very attractive and always neat.

To be good as a cashier, it is important to be efficient and knowledgeable about the job. In these aspects, Barbara is tops in her field. She performs her job with the speed and accuracy which enable you, the customer, to receive the type of service you expect and deserve. She has a great deal of knowledge about the job of cashier and uses it every day.

One of Barhara's duties is working in the front office periodically each week to relieve the office manager of some of his duties, such as cashing checks, and handling customers requests for information, etc. This is a very important responsibility which Barbara does with great skill.

Barbara is very popular with both employees and customers. Everyone at Foodland is very proud of the fine job she does as a cashier. The next time you shop, make it a point to go through Barbara's register and see if you don't agree with us that you receive excellent service.

Barbara and her husband Jim, live in Swanton. They have one son, Jeff, who is 5 years old. In her spare time, she enjoys swimming and water skiing. Although working full-time, she also enjoys homemaking tasks, especially baking.

Key 73 Meetings For Area Set For This Sunday

In connection with the religious survey planned as a part of the Key 73 program, interested ministers and members of their congregations are invited to attend one of two meetings scheduled for 2:30 p. m. on Sunday afternoon, April 1st. The survey plan has been extended to include areas of northern and southern Garrett County. The meetings will be held in these areas to minimize the travel distance for the people involved. One meeting will be at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, for churches of the northern part of the County. A second meeting will be held at the same time in the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, between Oakland and Mt. Lake Park, for churches in the Southern part of the County.

The Rev. Paul Crumley, pastor of the Oak Park Church, and President of the Mt. Top Ministerial Assn., is urging all ministers who possibly can to attend one of these two meetings. He emphasized that the survey is for the benefit of all of the churches in the county, and hoped that as many as possible would participate in the work.

Police Lodge Buys 34 Acres Here For Recreational Use

Mt. Lodge 40, Fraternal Order of Police, purchased 34 acres in this county Monday, March 26, and plans to use the land as a recreational area and a lodge home.

The property was purchased from St. Michaels Catholic Church, Frostburg, which had bought the property some 10 years ago with the intent of using it as a church picnic ground and future boys' camp.

The property has a cinder block cottage which will be converted into a temporary lodge home, a spring-fed pond with possibilities as a swimming and fishing site, and a stream.

The land is located near the Green Lantern in the northeastern part of the county.

Future plans for the area include picnic groves, a softball field, pistol, rifle and shotgun ranges and parking facilities.

Some men were working in the area last Saturday on a cleanup detail, and also began working on the parking area.

Mountain Lodge 40, which recently was incorporated as a non-profit organization, has 51 active members and 430 associate members.

Only members of the Maryland State police are eligible for membership. Citizens of good character are eligible for associate membership, subject to approval by the lodge.

Present officers of Mountain Lodge are Stephen M. Russell, president, from Garrett County; T. Gary Lindner first vice president, Lawrence T. Tracy, second vice president; Bernard J. Chabot, secretary; Joseph H. Helmstetter, treasurer, guard and Donald R. Wade, chaplain.

Each year the lodge participates in a charitable benefit basketball game and its first effort in 1971 netted nearly $10,000 for a 10-year-old girl who was paralyzed after being stabbed while on the way home from school. The 1972 game benefited the handicapped children of Allegany county. Proceeds from this years game will go to the American Red Cross blood bank and to the Allegany County Association for Retarded Children.

New York State has a weekly lottery but a Tax Department spokesman suggested a daily lottery.

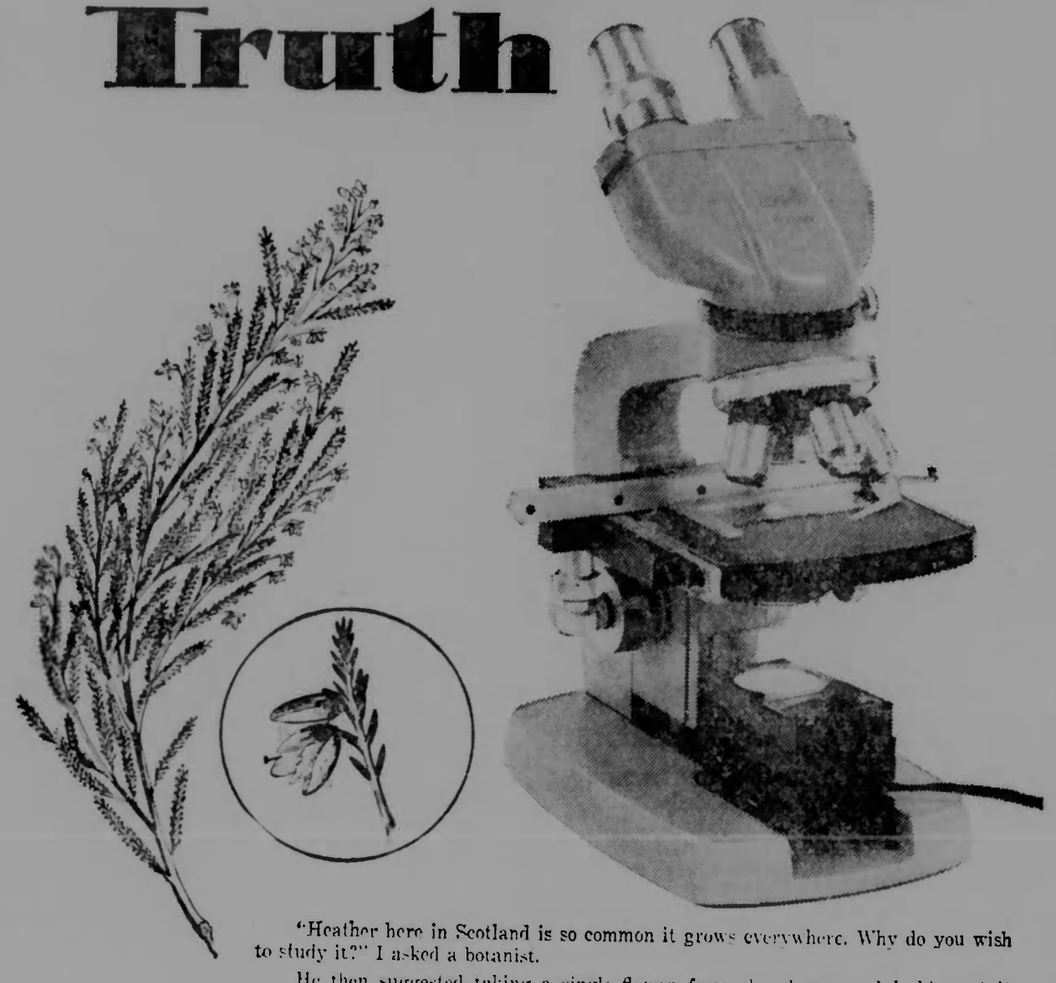
... to see the Truth



"Heather here in Scotland is so common it grows everywhere. Why do you wish to study it?" I asked a botanist.

He then suggested taking a single flower from the cluster and looking at it through his microscope.

I was amazed at the delicate shading and breath-taking design of an individual bloom. I almost wished he hadn't shown it to me. I trample on thousands of them every day.

The beauty and blessings of life are enhanced by observing God's creation through the lens of Truth.

Consider the Church as a spiritual microscope. It helps you see the worth of single souls. It encourages you to call no man common or trample his capacities under the foot of indifference. It helps you discover and appreciate all the wonders of God's marvelous creation.

WHAT GOD'S REALLY LIKE

Lesson for April 1, 1973

Background Scripture: John 1:1-8, 14-18; Acts 10:34-43, Hebrews 1:1-4. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 42:5-9.

One of the most persistent of man's questions through the ages has been: "What is God really like?"

Men have attempted to answer that question with pictures, statues, temples, scriptures, rituals, and theologies. Usually, however, these attempts have been something less than satisfying. The varying descriptions of God have often clashed. Others have not been very convincing. Some have been only fragmentary, bits and pieces that give only a partial image.

Rev. Althouse

Partial Truth

The Jews pointed to their elaborate system of law and said, "God is like that." The prophets emphasized the themes of justice and righteousness, indicating that the nature of God was to be found in them. And all of these were partly right, but they were also partly wrong.

Three blind men were taken to the zoo to experience their first elephant. Led to the elephant, the first grasped the elephant's trunk and he thereby concluded that an elephant was shaped like that all over. The second got a hold of his ear, and he concluded that an elephant was thin and flat. The third grasped the elephant's tail and he was sure the elephant was long and thin. Each of these men were partly right, but only partly right.

Often, this is the only way it is with our perception of God. We experience one narrow perspective of God's nature and we unfortunately assume that we have discovered the totality of his nature. Yet, even if you could put together all these views, they still would not add up to an adequate picture.

A reflection of God

So men have constantly been frustrated in their attempts to get an adequate composite picture. Thus they were still searching when God sent his own Son so that that question could be answered once and for all. Two New Testament writers approach the same truth from two different perspectives.

The writer of Hebrews proclaims: "In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets; but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son . . . He reflects the glory of God and bears the very stamp of his nature. . . " (1:1-3).

The writer of John's gospel tells us: "And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, full of grace and truth . . . No one has ever seen God; the only Son . . . he has made him known" (John 1:14, 18).

What both of these witnesses are saying is that the only way we can have an adequate picture of what God is really like, is to look to Jesus. In his personality, his nature, we come face to face with the heighth, depth, length, and breadth of what we mean when we use the term "God."

WHAT IS YOUR PAIN QUOTIENT?

Pain, your body's signal to you that something is wrong is not tolerated equally by the sexes. It is far more painful for women than for men. Also more painful for the young and for orientals than for the blacks and whites. A recent experiment in pain tolerance found that sex was the most important factor in determining how well a person can stand pain. Even the oldest men withstood pain better than the youngest women.

Fortunately, pain relief can be equally appreciated by everyone and in our prescription department we regularly stock thousands of medicines whose sole purpose is to alleviate pain.

Various Kinds Of Accidents Occur

Several kinds of accidents occurred recently. One accident was during last week's snow storm, one involved a deer and another a hit and run. There were no apparent personal injuries.

Jerry A. Cline, Alder Street, Oakland, was headed south and Danny L. VanMeter, Maysville, W. Va., in a light truck, was headed north on U. S. Route 219 near Silver Knob road last Sunday at noon. The two met in a blinding snow storm where traffic was confined to one way with visibility 'zero' at the time. Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis investigated.

A deer was involved in an accident on U. S. Route 219 near the Accident-Bear Creek road about 1 a. m. last Thursday. Freddie R. Stoner, Jr., RD 1, Gormania (Md.), was southbound on Route 219 when a deer ran into his path from the left. Stoner applied his brakes but was unable to avoid hitting the animal. The deer was thrown on the west shoulder. Trooper Dale K. Williams made no charges.

A 'hit and run' accident occurred last Friday about 11 a. m. on State Route 560 near the top of Backbone Mountain. Larry E. Steadman, RD 1, Gormania (Md.), was driving north on 560 and started to make a left hand turn into a private drive. At that time an unknown vehicle following Steadman, tried to pass him, collided with his left front and continued on northbound without stopping. Tfc. Lewis investigated.

Another mishap involved a State Police car on Oakland drive at Deer Park Ave. in Mt. Lake Park last Friday evening. Tfc. Robert E. Friend was stopped in the rear of the car of Clarence W. Stemple of Mt. Lake Park. Trooper Friend approached the Stemple car on foot and at that time the Stemple car drifted back and hit the State Police car. The drift occurred as the occupants of the Stemple car attempted to change drivers. Cpl. Stephen M. Russell investigated.

Gets Bonus On Re-enlistment Extra Year

AQ-3 Donald W. Friend, right, takes oath of re-enlistment aboard the carrier U. S. S. America, while stationed in the Bay of Tonkin, Vietnam. AQ-3 Friend received a bonus of $10,000 for an extra year's enlistment, having signed up previously for 5 years. The money was tax free due to his squadron's combat deployment to Southeast Asia. His rate was critical to the A-6 community and especially so in a combat environment it was stated.

The carrier returned to Norfolk, Va., March 24 after a ten month tour of duty in Vietnam. The carrier was met at the pier by a local high school band, Miss America, Miss World, and a recently released POW who was assigned to the America at the time of his capture in 1968.

AQ Friend will begin further schooling in Avionics at Oceana, Va., in May. He took his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill., and graduated from the Naval Air Technical Training center in Millington, Tenn. and a specialized aviation maintenance course at Naval air station at Virginia Beach. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Friend, Friendsville and is married to the former Linda Kersey, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Entertain At Goodwill Home

For the past several years March has been the month chosen by the Route 40 Homemakers club to sponsor a project suitable for the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing home near Grantsville and when it was learned this year that patients appeared happiest when groups would visit and sing to them, the club members, and the Mt. Zion United Methodist church choir combined efforts for a visit on March 15.

Club members purchased 44 gifts of personal items and wrapped them at the March 11 meeting in addition to making plans for the visit. Gifts were presented by the Homemakers and the choir entertained with a number of hymns. In the top photo are those who brought gifts: Miss Luella Yoder, licensed practical nurse, who received the gifts; Mrs. Leonard Winebrenner, new member; Miss Clara Layman, foods chairman and in charge of sending birthday cards to patients; and Mrs. Edwin Robeson, charter member and music chairman.

The route 40 club was organized in 1960. There are 16 members and officers Mrs. Wesley Lashbaugh, president; Mrs. Elwood Klotz, vice-president; Mrs. Harold Crowe, secretary; Mrs. Jack Ferree, treasurer. Three members serving on the county council include Mrs. Earl Opel, safety; Mrs. Jack Ferree, clothing; and Mrs. Edwin Robeson, vice-president.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our thanks to friends and relatives of Sadie Pearl Pressman for their sympathy and kindness following her death, and to all who sent flowers. A special thanks to the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home and the help there, to Dr. Grant, the Rev. H. B. Rittenhouse, and the Humbert Funeral Home.

No To Drugs . . .

Most people, it would appear, support President Nixon's strong anti-crime stand, and his opposition to the legalization of marijuana. The problem seems to be getting closer to Oakland residents all the time, judging from the number of cases coming before the Circuit and Juvenile courts.

In a radio address President Nixon said: "In recent days, there have been proposals to legalize the possession and use of marijuana. The line against the use of dangerous drugs is now drawn on this side of marijuana. If we move the line to the other side and accept the use of this drug, how can we draw the line against other illegal drugs? Or will we slide into an acceptance of their use, as well?

"My administration has carefully weighed this matter. We have examined the statutes. We have taken the lead in making sanctions against the use of marijuana more uniform, more reasonable. Previously, these sanctions were often unrealistically harsh. Today, 35 states have adopted our model statute on drugs, including marijuana. I hope others will. But there must continue to be criminal sanctions against the possession, sale or use of marijuana."

Not everyone, of course, agrees with the President. There are some who say that marijuana does little harm, that it is not an addictive drug, and that it should be legalized. But there is increasing evidence that marijuana is indeed very harmful, more than was heretofore suspected. And the United States is not alone in its opposition. The United States is one of 95 nations, which, in 1961, agreed to restrict the cultivation, traffic and use of marijuana and its derivatives such as hashish.

Young people have enough ways of messing up their lives without the use of marijuana. We feel, giving way to the policy of permissiveness in this matter would be a grave mistake.

Official Opening Of Golf Course Set For Weekend

The 18-hole golf course at the Oakland Country club will officially open for the season this weekend, in spite of the fact that avid golfers have been using the course for the past few weeks, encouraged by the unusually mild March weather.

James Kreyenbuhl, golf pro, said the greens were in excellent shape and the course as a whole was in better condition for this time of the year than for several seasons.

The clubhouse will be open on a limited scale today and remain open for the season.

A new pro shop and cart storage building is under construction with the facility already under roof. The pro shop part of the building is expected to be completed by April 15. In the meantime the basement of the club house will be used for that purpose temporarily.

The first nine holes of the course were constructed and open for business around 1939, while the last nine have been in operation for about four years.

Memberships are as follows: family, $150; single, $100, and junior membership, $35. Greens fees: weekends, $5 plus 10 percent admissions tax; weekdays, $4 plus the 10 percent tax. Cart rentals are $4 for nine holes, $8 for 18 holes, plus sales tax. A non-member may use the course for $2.50 after 5:30 p. m.

Senate Passes Non Public School Aid

Less than five months after Maryland voters rejected a similar proposition at referendum, the Senate Tuesday approved legislation to provide state aid to non-public schools.

The action came on a 25-16 roll call on a bill to permit secular and church-operated schools to receive up to $6 million a year in the form of textbooks and other educational materials.

Last year voters rejected a $12 million a year plan to use taxes to help pay the tuition to private school pupils. The plan now goes to the House of Delegates for action.

$23,151 Grant Will Aid County-Wide Communications

Among funds allotted by the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice was a project for Garrett county.

A $23,151 grant for this county will be added to $6,328 from local funds and $1,390 from the county budget to total $30,869 to be spent on a coordinated county-wide communication network system.

A new dispatching system will be the first phase in planned county-wide emergency network system, linking the hospital, rescue squads, civil defense, county and state roads departments with the sheriff's office, Maryland State Police, fire departments, and town police departments.

Efforts are aimed at building a complete control system for use in time of emergency.

Funds will allow equipment in deputy's cars to replace the equipment bought some years ago from the state police, after the radios were already 20 years old. New radios will be fully transistorized and have 100 watt transmitters.

The new system will allow radio contact with West Virginia and Pennsylvania state police, rather than making phone contact.

Boy Fatally Injured In Rt. 219 Crash

Six Year Old Youth Dies In West Virginia University Med Center

A six year old Pittsburgh boy died Friday night of injuries he sustained in a two-car accident earlier that day on U. S. route 219, two miles north of McHenry near the Four Winds restaurant.

The victim was David Richard Strunk, son of David E. Strunk, 35, one of the operators involved in the crash. The injured youngster was taken to Garrett County Memorial hospital and later transferred to the West Virginia University medical center at Morgantown where he died several hours later.

His father was admitted to the Oakland hospital but was released Saturday. Two other passengers in the Strunk car, Dana Murphy, Cherry Grove, W. Va.; and Richard E. Hoffmaster, 52, both were treated and released at the same hospital.

The operator of the other car, John Henry Dolan, 25, of Elm Road, Arbutus, also was held overnight in the hospital.

State police said the mishap occurred when Dolan was driving north on U. S. 219 and crossed the center line where he struck the left side of the Strunk car. Dolan's car then turned over on the roadway and came to rest on its top. The Strunk car ran off the right side of the roadway and came to rest in a field, police said.

Authorities said driver error was a contributing factor on the part of Dolan and that seat belts which were available in both cars, were not in use.

The mishap was investigated by Cpl. H. W. Graham and Tfc. C. D. Skidmore.

Two German shepherd dogs owned by Mr. Hoffmaster and in the Strunk car, were killed in the mishap.

They were sentenced to the Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene and specifically to the Maryland Training School for Boys. The sentences were suspended and they were to make restitution of one third of $50, payable at the office of Wayne Wilt, Juvenile Officer. They were also placed under the jurisdiction and supervision of the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services for an undetermined period. The Sang Run youth was charged with receiving and possession of stolen goods and received the same suspended sentence. These hearings took place Monday.

Work On Freeway Began This Week

The District 6 office of the State Highway administration notified contractors on the various segments of the National Freeway to resume work this week according to John D Bushby, district engineer.

Bids are to be asked on three contracts this month and two in May and this will cover the remaining 13-mile segment of the Freeway between the Finzel road interchange area and U. S. route 219 interchange near Grantsville.

A $2,038,598 contract for paving the Freeway between Winchester road and new state route 36 at Frostburg is expected to be completed early this summer. This is a 4.84 mile stretch.

The S. J. Groves and Sons company has only a small amount of work to complete the girder bridge over Vale Summit road at Clarysville. Another paving contract is by Cumberland Contracting for $2,204,933.50 and includes paving the Freeway dual lanes for 5.4 miles from west of state route 36 to west of relocated state route 546 (Finzel road).

Central Penn Industries has a contract of over $8 million to grade and drain the Freeway from the county line to a mile west of Finzel road which includes bridges over U. S. route 40 and relocated Beall School road and is 92 percent complete.

April 9 the Cameron Construction company will resume work on construction of a dual span bridge over relocated Lower New Germany road, just south of U. S. 40 at Piney Grove.

The George Hazelwood Co. is to begin construction of a steel girder underpass at relocated New Germany road. The Herbert R. Imbt company, is starting on a steel girder bridge at state route 495 in the Grantsville area.

One of the large contracts is that of the Imbt firm for grading, drainage and surfacing some 6,100 feet east of U. S. 219 south and extending westerly to a point 2,400 feet east of Pig's Ear road for 4.049 miles, including interchange at 219 for over $8 million.

The Trumbull corporation will begin grading, draining and paving the Freeway from half a mile east of Pig's Ear road to a tenth of a mile of Bear Creek. The 6.31 mile stretch also includes construction of a steel beam underpass on the Freeway at Pig's Ear road and Old Morgantown road. This contract is for over $6 million.

The W. P. Dickerson and Son company has been working on a partial basis on erecting a dual five-span continuous composite plate girder bridge to carry the Freeway over the Youghiogheny river about half a mile of grading, drainage and paving is included and will be the bridge approaches. A dual three span bridge to carry the road over State route 42 will also be in this contract. The Grove company has just about completed the bridge over Bear Creek at the southeast limits of Friendsville. This bridge cost almost $3 million and is one of the higher structures on the Freeway.

The Trumbull corporation was to resume work of grading, draining and paving the highway from west of the Youghiogheny river to .83 mile west of relocated state route 42, a distance of little more than a mile. An interchange ramp will be 1.15 miles and a continuous steel beam bridge to carry the road over route 42 is included.

The Trumbull firm also was to start this week on a project partially worked during the winter. The firm has completed 17 percent of the work which includes grading, draining and paving from .83 mile west of relocated route 42 westerly to the West Virginia state line for some three miles. The work includes a bridge to carry the road over Sand Spring road. The cost is over $6 million.

Mr. Bushby said the entire National Freeway from Cumberland to the West Virginia line should be completed by 1975 and could be shortened. Current work underway is in excess of $50 million.

The Freeway will open up highway traffic from the Ohio valley in the Cincinnati area and traverse West Virginia.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"The time has come for us to leave the valley of despair and climb to the mountain so that we may see the glory of the dawn—a new day for America, a new dawn for peace and freedom in the world.

"The moment has arrived to harness the vast energies and abundance of this land to the creation of a new American experience, an experience richer and deeper and more truly a reflection of the goodness and grace of the human spirit.

"We can no longer afford the luxury of inefficiency in government. We cannot count on good money to bail us out of bad ideas.

"We can no longer have effective government on any level unless we have it on all levels. There is too much to be done for the cities to do it alone, or for the states to do it alone—or for Washington to do it alone.

"A third of a century of centralizing power and responsibility in Washington has produced a bureaucratic monstrosity, cumbersome, unresponsive and ineffective. We intend to reverse the tide, and to turn back to the States a greater measure of responsibility—not as a way of avoiding problems, but as a better way of solving problems.

"We were not elected to pile new resources and manpower on the top of old problems. We were elected to initiate an era of change.

"We live in a time when headlines are made by those few who want to tear down our institutions, by those who say they defy the law. But we also live in a time when history is made by those who are willing to reform and rebuild our institutions—and that can only be accomplished by those who respect the law."

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN
BEALL JR.

Rent Controls

The free enterprise system is the foundation of the American economy and, for the most part, it has worked well in helping our nation to achieve the highest standard of living that the world has ever known.

The past two years have produced some extraordinary strains on our economy, however, and these have prompted the President and Congress to enact the federal controls that we have called Phase I, and Phase II and Phase III.

The legislation which implemented these controls is called the Economic Stabilization Act, and within the past week the Senate has passed a bill to amend the act and extend it for another year.

The economy has been making a recovery under the controls, but it also has been in something of a state of flux since the Phase III guidelines were announced by President Nixon in January.

The steady increase in prices during the past two months has, rather predictably, caused a number of legislators to call for a return of rigid wage and price controls.

However, it has become clear to most members of the Senate that a return of rigid controls would defeat the whole purpose of the Economic Stabilization Act—that being to restore a balanced wage and price system that will be able to maintain itself without federal controls.

Thus, the amendments that would have restored mandatory controls were defeated, except for one to impose rent controls in metropolitan areas with low vacancy rates.

The rent control amendment was a very sensitive issue for many Marylanders, but I voted against it because I believe that its passage could bring about more problems than it hopes to solve.

In the first place, rent increases are much more of an isolated local problem than an issue of national scope.

It is true that the Washington metropolitan area is one of the handful of urban areas where alarming rent increases have occurred, but I cannot subscribe to the theory that congressional action is the best, or only, remedy.

The Prince Georges and Montgomery county governments has rather predictably have the power, and they are ready to use it, to control rents and order rollbacks where necessary. And the Maryland state government also is preparing to take action in this area.

So it would seem that federal intervention would only interfere with the mechanisms that are already being applied in the few localities having problems with rental rates.

Furthermore, past experience with rent controls has been bad for landlord and tenant alike because the controls have a depressing effect on both the quality and quantity of housing that is available.

Rent controls have led to reductions in maintenance, a slowdown in rehabilitation and new investment in rental housing, eviction of tenants who complain about housing violations or threaten to report them, and even the abandonment of rental units producing only a marginal return.

Even though all of these problems might not occur under rent controls, I think the negative effects would still outweigh the benefits of another round of federal intervention.

Senate OKs Bills To Fund 3 Projects

The Maryland Senate gave preliminary approval to three measures which together would commit the state to more than $300 million in borrowing for construction and development projects.

The largest price tag was attached to the $220 million bond authorization bill submitted by the Mandel administration to finance school construction throughout the state in fiscal 1974.

Another bill would authorize the state to spend up to $70 million for grants to subdivisions to cover up to 87½ percent of the cost of sewage treatment facilities.

The grants would be approved by the Board of Public Works for projects deemed to be of immediate need or unable to be funded by a timely federal grant.

The third measure approved was an $11.5 million fund for acquisition of outdoor recreation and open space land.

Minimum Wage Increase Means More Inflation

President Allen Nixon of the Southern States Industrial Council told the House General Subcommittee on Labor recently that a proposed increase in the federal minimum wage could easily trigger uncontrolled inflation.

Appearing for the Council in opposition to a bill by the Subcommittee chairman, Representative John H. Dent (D., Pa.), Nixon said any increase in the minimum wage would inevitably contribute to price increases. "The supposed beneficiary of a higher minimum wage might well find himself worse off because of a further decline in the purchasing power of every dollar in his paycheck," he said.

The Dent bill would increase the federal minimum wage from the present $1.60 rate to $2.00 immediately and to $2.20 a year later. It would extend minimum wage coverage to millions of additional workers, including federal, state, and local government employees and domestic service employees.

"Each increase in the minimum wage pushes the entire wage structure in the U. S. upward," the SSIC president told the Subcommittee. "Federal action to establish an artificial minimum has caused serious economic dislocations in the past from which we are now reaping an unpleasant harvest. For Congress to give wages another upward push in the present volatile situation when it appears almost touch and go whether we bring inflation under control would seem to be an extremely risky action."

Nixon, who is president of E. C. Barton and Company of Jonesboro, Arkansas, which operates retail lumber yards in 26 towns in Arkansas and Missouri, said the SSIC's opposition to increasing the minimum wage also was based on evidence it would magnify the problem of foreign competition with U. S. business and industry and increase unemphyment among minorities and teenagers.

The inability of U. S. business and industry to compete in world markets, Nixon said, is due to the wage and productivity gap between American labor and that of foreign competitors. He pointed out that labor costs in this country already are 130 percent more than in France, 142 percent more than in Italy and 340 percent more than in Japan. "The American labor market has become almost too rich for the American businessman to survive in world trade," he said.

The SSIC president said the unemployment rate for Negro and other minority group males between the ags of 16 and 21 stands over 21 percent, according to the U. S. Department of Labor. An increase in the minimum would lead to a direct decrease in employment opportunities for people in that category, he declared.

The Southern States Industrial Council represents 3,000 business and industrial firms throughout the country employing some 3,000,000 people and is headquartered in Nashville, Tennessee.

Up, Up And Away!

Minimum wage legislation might be compared to a balloon. The more you inflate it, the higher it goes until it hursts.

Understandably, this remains a popular Congressional subject. Upping wages is a sure-fire vote getter in spite of the fact that it turns out to be a fiscal mirage!

When the base wage is increased by government mandate, the entire wage structure is disturbed. It sets up a demand for increases all along the line, irrespective of other considerations such as international competition, productivity growth and higher prices in the marketplace.

Increasing the wage base also reduces the opportunity for the less-skilled and others to enter the job market. They cannot compete with the more experienced talent which is available at higher and higher base wages.

Let's be realistic. The creation of a higher wage base has not assisted those it is designed to help—and more often has in fact tended to limit the creation of job opportunities for them.

Congress is considering many bills to raise the minimum wage. The danger of inflating the balloon is real! And so is the danger of it explosion. —Industrial Press Service.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

The development that has bothered me most in recent years has been the alienation of so many of our young men and women from the basic American values, moral, economic and political. More so than at any other time in life, youngsters of high school and college age are follow-the-leader conformists. And many of the leaders among youth today are intellectual Marxists condemning the American system and calling God an outmoded superstition. How can we reach our youngsters who follow the revolutionary Pied Pipers? If we could restore their faith in God we would have gone a long way.

Recently I have made a study of faith among the intellectual leaders of past generations. I feel sure that our present generation of youngsters do not know that the great intellects throughout history, with few exceptions, have publicly in their statements and works expressed faith in Almighty God. So the following facts are particularly addressed to young conformists who have been led to believe that it is "smart to reject God."

The records of antiquity show Plato to have been one of the great minds. Here is what Plato wrote for posterity, in 510 BC: "The soul of man is immortal and imperishable." Plato believed in God. His most illustrious student was Aristotle. In 320 BC, Aristotle wrote: "God is mightiest in power, fairest in beauty, immortal in existence, supreme in virtue; therefore, being invisible to every mortal nature, He is seen through His works themselves."

All intellectuals claim kinship with the Roman poets Virgil and Horace. Virgil, in many of his writings expressed faith in God and God's immeasurable power. In discussing events that dismayed him, Virgil said: "God will give an end to these things." Horace, recognizing God as the Creator of all things, wrote: "Tomorrow the Father may fill the sky with black clouds or with cloudless sunshine."

Dante, one of the most famous writers, wrote in 1300 AD: "The greatest gift which God in His bounty bestowed in creating, was the freedom of the will."

Sir Walter Raleigh wrote, the night before his death: "My God shall raise me up, I trust." Another great writer, Sir Francis Bacon might well have been observing the militant atheism in some of today's youth generation, when he wrote: "A little philosophy inclineth men's minds to atheism, but depth in philosophy bringeth men's minds about — to religion. I bequeath my soul to God my body to buried obscurely."

Shakespeare wrote in his King Henry VI play: "God be prais'd, that to believing souls gives light in darkness, comfort in despair." John Milton wrote: "Dissolve me into ecstasies, and bring all Heaven before mine eyes." And John Bunyan, who wrote Pilgrim's Progress, wrote in 1678: "The first string that the musician usually touches is the bass, when he intends to put all in tune. God also plays upon this string first, when He sets the soul in tune with Himself."

George Washington was a believer: "Almighty God," he beseeched in his inaugural address, "we make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy Holy protection." Amen! Abraham Lincoln said: "It is difficult to make a man miserable while he feels he is worthy of himself and claims kindred to the great God who made him Without assistance of that Divine Being I cannot succeed. With that assistance I cannot fail."

So far, no one has located the 19-year-old mother of two, wanted for questioning in the kidnapping hoax begun by her husband nearly two weeks ago.

Measure Receives Favorable Report

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Garrett Co.) member of the House Appropriations Committee announced that Senate Bill 229 received a favorable report in committee.

The bill identifies the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland as a "municipal corporation." The passage of this bill now makes Tri-County Council employees eligible for benefits under the State Retirement System.

Under the terms of the bill it is also possible for Tri-County employees to maintain their retirement benefits after leaving Tri-County by having their new employer continue the required contributions.

Heavy Hail Storm Features Mt. Top Weather For Week

A heavy hail storm Sunday was the feature of the past week's weather on the Mountain Top. The week was also wet with some rain every day. Winter was back this morning as yesterday's rain changed to light snow during the night. March as a whole was above normal temperature-wise but below normal in precipitation.

April started out as a wet month with plenty of "April Showers." There has been some rain or snow every day since Friday. Skies have been overcast to mostly cloudy all week with little sunshine. Precipitation has been much above the normal of 1.03 inches with 3.73. The heaviest rain day was Sunday with 1.48 inches. The hailstones last Sunday varied in sizes from peas to marbles and were an inch and a half deep in spots. Thunder and lighting accompanied the hail storms which lasted about two hours during the early afternoon.

Temperatures during the week were near normal with highs averaging about 54 degrees and lows 35 degrees. The high of the week was 67 degrees before the hail storm Sunday. There were no below-freezing readings during the week.

Brisk winds were noted during the storms Sunday, also Monday, yesterday and this morning.

Temperature-wise March highs and lows averaged 9 degrees above the normals. Highs averaged 56.1 degrees and lows 33.7 degrees. The warmest day was the 11th with 71 degrees. Only one day, did the mercury stay below the freezing mark, being the 18th. The lowest reading of the month was 16 on the 24th. The mercury remained above freezing 19 days during the month with most of these being the first part of the month.

March could be called a "dry" month with precipitation 1.7 inches below the normal of 4.55 inches or 2.85 inches of fall. There was 7 inches of snow which fell mostly during the season's worst storm, the weekend of the 17th. This is about half the normal snowfall for March.

Statistics are based on figures given by Logan Weber, local observer for the National Weather Service.

Inflation Is A Global Problem

For whatever comfort the thought may give, inflation is not a problem peculiar to the United States — it is global. The First National City Bank, with offices throughout the world, monitors the currencies of nearly all of the non-Communist countries and Yugoslavia. (The currencies of the Communist countries are beyond the reach of rational audit. That is also true of some non-Communist nations — Uruguay, for example.)

In fact, the United States dollar's record of stability over the years continued to head the list of industrialized countries of the world in 1972 through July. The inflation rate for the twelve-month period was 3.2 per cent. Then followed Greece, Japan, Luxembourg, Canada, Italy, Belgium, West Germany, France and Sweden. Austria, Iceland, South Africa, Denmark and Switzerland (with 6.1 per cent) were next.

From the bottom upward were Yugoslavia, with 13.3 per cent; Portugal, 11.7; Ireland, 8; the Netherlands, 7.7; and Spain, 7.5; New Zealand, Finland, the United Kingdom, Australia and Norway were next in order. Norway, with 6.2 per cent, was just nosed out by Switzerland, which is often thought of as having the strongest currency. The Swiss franc has a good record over the years, but not better than the Greek, Luxembourg, West German, Italian, Belgian, or Austrian records.

A French philosopher once said, "All generalizations are untrue, including this one." Tentatively, then, the evidence seems to indicate that the farther away from free enterprise a country goes the greater the inflation. Chile's Marxist Government in the last year has recorded inflation of something like 150 percent. Uruguay's inflation under leftist governments became so great that it was no longer monitored. Irresponsibility in fiscal matters — only that and nothing more — is also the engineer of great inflation. Let us avoid it. — U.S. Press Association.

A message to our customers:

Thank You . . .

The Staff and Management of The First National Bank of Oakland would like to thank you — our customers — for your help and consideration in making our new schedule of banking hours work — and work beautifully, too!

When we initiated the new change in hours to allow our employees to have a work schedule in step with modern times, we were understandably somewhat concerned that there may be some problem areas. However, much to our delight, we have experienced only minor difficulties — and we are extremely grateful to you for your understanding in our behalf.

Now, by being open on Friday evenings we offer a greater number of banking hours at our Main Office than before because we continue to maintain limited service on Saturday mornings from 9 A.M. to 12 noon. Our branches are still maintaining the same number of banking hours as in the past, but they are open Friday evenings instead of Saturday mornings. However, our Lake Office at McHenry will be open Saturday mornings from 9 A.M. to 12 noon in addition to Friday evenings to serve our many lake area customers from the Memorial Day weekend to the Labor Day weekend (May 26 to September 1). This schedule allows our employees weekend time off —– when families should be together. We feel that by giving our employees extra consideration they will be better employees for us and better bankers for you.

We know that you must agree because you have responded so favorably to our new hours. Should any problems arise with regard to our service to you. we encourage you to discuss them with us. It is our fullest intent to offer you, our customers, the very best possible in banking service.

Again, our sincere thanks to you for your understanding and support.

Five More Juvenile Cases Are Heard

Five juvenile cases were heard Tuesday morning by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., sitting as juvenile judge.

A 16-year-old female of the Pittsburgh area was found to be a delinquent minor by Judge Hamill. She was specifically charged with being accessory to robbery and larceny of a '69 Opel car. Judge Hamill ordered her to be detained at Montrose School for Girls pending admission to Maryland Children's Center May 4.

Two children, one a year old and another 9 months, of the Mt. Lake Park area were found to be neglected by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ahern, Sr. They were charged with having inadequate food, shelter and clothing as of December 1. The court granted permanant legal custody of the children to the Garrett County Department of Social Services for the purpose of placing them in suitable foster homes.

A 16-year-old male of the Swanton area was found to be neglected by his father, Wesley W. Lee by reason of suffering serious harm and physical abuse by his father. The youth was emotionally disturbed due to constant friction at home. The court ordered permanant legal custody taken from the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wane Lee, and given to the Garrett County Department of Social Services for the purpose of placing him in a group home known as Volunteers of America at Hagerstown. The youth is further ordered to attend public schools.

A 15-year-old male of Landover and 17-year-old male of the Oakland area were both charged with being delinquent. They were specifically charged on 2 counts each: unauthorized use of a motorcycle, valued at $450 the property of Donald E. Hinebaugh, and assault and battery on Harry W. Riggleman on March 27 and 28 in the Garrett County jail. The court found them both to be delinquent on both counts. They were both committed to the Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene and specifically to the Maryland Training School for Boys until discharged by due process of the law.

Bill To Continue Busing Children Rejected Wed.

HB 945, seeking to continue the policy of transporting pupils living within one mile of school to and from classes, was rejected Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

This means that Garrett County would have to come up with many thousands of its own funds if it wishes to continue the busing of school children living within what the state feels is "walking distance" of their schools.

The bill had been sponsored by the Allegany, Garrett and Washington county delegations, the three hardest hit by the state's ruling to cut off funds for the transportation program.

Hazardous walking condition for children in these areas, many of which have no sidewalks or any other safe walking area, prompted the bill.

To Conduct Revival

A revival will be held at the Sand Flat Assembly of God church beginning Sunday, April 8, at 7:30, and will continue through April 22. Evangelist will be Rev. John Masto, of Clarksburg, W. Va. There will be special singing every night, it was announced.

1973 Land Use Bill Dead Issue

The Senate Economic Affairs Committee ripped apart the Land use bill this week, ending its chances to become legislation this year.

The bill, which would have given the state power to guide development and growth throughout the state, had been amended and rewritten several times.

House Majority Leader, Del. John Arnick D-Balto. county, had worked out the bill with Senate president William S. James D-Harford, and an amended bill had already passed the House.

The subject will now be referred to the Legislature's Legislative council for study between sessions.

Principal opposition to land use legislation came from sources of present planning and zoning power—the governments of the state's 23 counties. Only Baltimore city supported the land use bill.

Center Stage To Perform At GCC

A different kind of dramatic performance will be seen by area residents at Garrett Community College Thursday evening, April 26th, when Center Stage, a professional theater group from Baltimore, presents a mime and pantomime show. The performance of artists Bert Houle and Sophie Wilbaux in "Mimes and Pantomimes" will be the first of three to be given in western Maryland by the theater group.

Also scheduled during Center Stage's three-day visit to this area will be a presentation of Dylan Thomas' "Under Milkwood" at GCC Friday evening, April 27th, and the performance of Robert E. Sherwood's "Petrified Forest" at Allegany Community College on Saturday evening, April 28th.

In explaining the dramatic art of mime and pantomime, Mr. Houle stated, "every mime has a different interpretation of the art. Pantomime is the more traditional, in which hands and facial expressions are used to tell a story—usually a funny one. Mime is more abstract, more serious. Mime is very symbolic. It does not have a story, but creates an atmosphere of emotion and feeling in movement without words. Actually, mime is really acting with the body. Some have said mime is the purest form of acting."

Clad in dark tights and white faces, Ms. Wilbaux and Mr. Houle perform with no scenery, no sets, and no props. Some of the acts are done to music, as is one of their most sensational numbers, "Escape," which portrays the plight of drug addiction to the background music of "In-a-gadda-da-vida" by the Iron Butterfly.

Their repertoire, which can be enjoyed by any age or type of audience, also includes "The Puppet's Revolt" in which a puppet learns the perils of freedom, and "Children's Circus" in which different animals are portrayed.

The origins of this form of art date back to the stone age when the cave man communicated by acting out what he was about to do. But it is from ancient Greek drama that modern mime has developed. Before the performances of tragedies in the Greek theater, actors would present a mime show as an introduction.

The presentation of "Mimes and Pantomimes" beginning at 8:15 in the Garrett Community College auditorium is open to the public free of charge. Center Stage performances in the area are being sponsored by Garrett Community College in cooperation with the Maryland Arts Council.

Very Poor Maple Season Noted Due To Warm Weather

"Very poor" is about the only way local maple producers describe the 1973 run, due to warm weather both night and day during early March.

Most producers had only one-third to two-fifths of their usual maple products to sell this year. Weather for a few weeks in January had been ideal for syrup making, but because it was so early, most producers were caught unaware and missed the run.

Usual starting time for this county is the first of March, but contrary weather conditions bungled the usual pattern of freezing nights and warming days which is needed for a good flow of maple water.

Weather got mild too early and stayed warm too long, at least too long for local men, who are closing up their maple sheds and washing up the buckets.

Until recently, when prices on lower quality syrup increased, maple production had been a declining business in the county. The 1972 season was generally agreed to have been a good year, very slightly less than average for some producers and called the best ever by others.

There are approximately 20 families engaged in producing maple syrup and related sweets in this county, most of them in the northern section. Number of trees in the groves vary widely, from approximately 300 to 1,000 trees.

Dr. Pope Discusses Problems With Hot Line

Dr. William Pope, health officer, led a group discussion on medical problems of minors, state laws governing the treatment of minors and how these relate to Hot Line personnel, at a meeting of the Hot Line volunteers at Southern High school on March 26.

A new director, Mrs. Lomma Sheltra, was appointed by the Board of Directors of Hot Line and several new committees formed: policy, telephone and recruiting. Reverse Hot Line now has a committee chairman and publicity will continue, it was revealed. A reverse hot line is for elderly and lonely people.

Regular monthly meetings for continuing education and updating are to be held the first Wednesday of every month. Smaller group sessions are being planned for those desiring them.

Information relating to Hot Line may be obtained from the County Health department.

Drug Cases Draw Heavy Fines In District Court

Possession of marijuana drew heavy fines against two persons in District Court after being found guilty by Judge Lewis R. Jones. One man was found guilty of larceny. One case was transferred to Circuit Court and another dropped.

Carol Jenne Southerland, North Haven, Conn. and Estes Park, Colo. and Dennis Charles Gilson, Farmington, Mass., each paid $200 fine and $10 costs on the charge of possession of marijuana, having pleaded guilty at a trial Monday. They had been stopped while driving on U. S. Route 40 at Big Savage February 11 by the State Police.

Roger Lee Warnick, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty of larceny of a power take-off of a hay baler belonging to Harold Wiley at Jennings last July 13, valued at $176. He was found guilty at a trial last Friday at which time a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The case of William J. Taylor, Pittsburgh, was transferred to Circuit Court on Monday. No trial date has been set. He has been charged with five counts: larceny, robbery, robbery with a deadly weapon, destruction of property, and assault and battery at the home of Harold J. Adams, Oak Park, March 26. Taylor is being held in the Garrett County Jail under $10,000 bond.

David Lee Cooper, Baltimore, has been charged with arson by setting fire to an out-building on the property of Vida K. Cooper, Mt. Zion at 4 a. m. March 26. He has been released on posting $2,500 bond pending trial, the date for which has not been set.

Danny VanMeter, Oak street, pleaded not guilty of negligent driving but was found guilty and fined $25 and $10 costs.

Samuel R. Glotfelty, Oakland, had been charged with passing three worthless checks, one last October, one in January and one in February, at various places. All charges were dropped Monday as restitution had previously been made.

In reference to the assault and battery case reported dropped last week, additional information is given. The alleged assault and battery charge of Chesston Browning, III, was directed at Robert Sweitzer who was at the Lake Shore Drive residence of Bill Robinson and did not involve Mr. Robinson, personally.

Abortion Measure Fails In House

The House of Delegates, ignoring arguments that it could be returning Maryland to the "dark ages," rejected a bill this week aimed at bringing state abortion laws in line with a recent Supreme Court decision.

Less than an hour after the vote however the delegates agreed to reconsider their decision. The bill fell only one vote short on the initial roll call.

The bill would make abortions in most cases strictly a matter between a woman and her doctor. During the first six months of pregnancy it would permit abortion on demand so long as it was performed by a physician in a hospital or other licensed facility.

The bill does not legalize abortion in Maryland but provides protection for the mother.

JUST A LITTLE CRAMPED for space is the sheriff's old office in the jail budding, Oakland. Sheriff Jack Browning shared this space with his seven deputies, constables, and visiting policemen, as well as others who have business with the sheriff's department. Pictured are Delbert Swartzentruber, chief deputy and David Livengood, criminal investigator for the sheriff's department.

THE NEW OFFICE combines space and privacy with convenience and better working conditions for sheriff Jack Browning, seated at his desk, and for his business visitors. Prisoners did all the paneling, installed a suspended ceiling, laid the carpet and refinished the desk, and did it all well. Desk and chairs were salvaged from the courthouse. Total estimated cest of the office was less than $400, borne partly hy the county commissioners and oartly by Sheriff Browning. Other renovations and upgradings are going on in the basement of the jail building, and it is hoped by those who work there that improvements will be continued clear to the roof. Wiring, heating and generating systems, general paint and repair work are all needed to bring the building into more efficient and attractive condition.

Attending the sessions last week were Ernest Spoerlein, director of federal programs; Mrs. Sue Pagenhardt and Mrs. Barbara Flinn, helping teachers of title 2: Mrs. Linda Fearnow, Center street school, grade one; and Mrs. Carole Ann Lovett, kindergarten teacher at the Oak street school.

Mrs. Catherine Brunner, coordinator, early childhood education, from the State Department, introduced the guidelines, stressing goals of early childhood education, family involvement, curriculum, group size and staffing, scheduling and evaluation. Three Towns Set Planning Meetings For This Month

Three Garrett County municipalities will be conducting planning informaton meetings during the next week, it was announced today. The communities of Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn, and Oakland have completed their initial comprehensive planning proposals and will be presenting their planning ideas to the general public.

On April 9, the town of Kitzmiller will have its presentation in the Community Building at 7:30 p. m. According to Marshall Rickert, County Planning Director, the concept of future development for the town will concentrate on attracting a small labor-intense industry to serve the town's population and to encourage new residential development.

In the town of Loch Lynn, the basic planning concept will be to anticipate the increased residential growth projected for future years by careful planning for some commercial development and for supporting community facilities. The Loch Lynn public meeting will be April 10, at 7:30 p. m. in the Loch Lynn Elementary School Auditorium.

On April 11th, at 7:30 p. m., the Oakland Town Council and Planning Commission will be presenting their draft plan in the Oakland Fire Hall. The Oakland proposal involves planning for future residential growth as well as preserving the critical downtown center as a strong commercial center in future years.

For the past six months, all three communities have been working with the Garrett County Planning Commission and their consultants, Urban Research and Development Corporation, to prepare these draft proposals. Citizens in the above areas attending these meeting could provide additional ideas at this stage in the planning process.

MEMBERS AND INITIATES OF QUILL AND SCROLL—Eighteen students of Southern High School were initiated into Quill and Scroll, international honor society for high school journalists, at a banquet held last Wednesday evening at Red Run Inn. They are shown here with regular members. Guest speaker was Mike Nichols, editor of the Monticola, yearbook of West Virginia University. An honorary membership also was granted Robert B. Sincell, production manager of the Republican.

To be eligible for Quill and Scroll a student must rank in the upper third of his class and be recommended by his journalism advisor. Society officers conducted the initiation. Quill and Scroll members from both The Acorn and High Lights staffs lit candles and gave individual explanations of the purpose and aims of the society. New members also lit candles and pledged support to the continuation of truthful journalism. Names of initiates appear in another story.

Golf Pro Finishes Business Course

James Kreyenbuhl, head professional of the Oakland Country club, recently completed Business School I, conducted by the Professional Golfers' association of America, in Atlantic City, N. J.

The week-long course, attended by some 175 golf professionals, was the first step that Kreyenbuhl was required to take toward membership in the PGA. Later he will attend a more advanced business school.

Designed primarily for the professional and his assistants, Business School I was intended to develop them to the point that they have become aware of their duties and responsibilities and to introduce them to concepts pertinent to their profession.

Among the topics covered were the golf shop operation and financial structure, sales techniques, course maintenance, display and product information, and public relations. New topics included this year centered on first aid, mouth to mouth resuscitation and cardiopulmonary resuscitation. These were included so that golf professionals can be equipped to handle medical emergencies.

Speakers included outstanding business men as well as leading golf professionals. Mr. Kreyenbuhl has been head professional and superintendent at the Oakland Country club for twelve years. He will attend Business School II this fall and then take an examination for entrance into the PGA.

Who reads the FINE print?

Hardly anybody. In fact, most policyholders read very little of their policy whatever the size of print. At this time of yeor, we even get a lot of colls asking for company name and auto policy number to complete the tog application form.

But, we're among those agencies who want you to know what your policy covers ond what it excludes. If you've got the time, we've got the people to fully explain the legal language in which your Homeowner and Auto insurance contracts are necessarily written.

For business and professional firms, where matters of coverage ond risk are even more complex, a comprehensive written survey of your own particular situation is recommended.

The whole idea is to prevent misunderstandings and protect against unforeseen losses. If this is the kind of insurance service that interests you, it's available at no extra cost simply for the asking.

Sermonette
By Area Ministers

"Our only hope for great living of any kind is in great belief" states Dr. G. Ray Jordan, a well-known minister in the South. A few decades ago Robert A. Milligan, the physicist, pointed out that the well-being of humanity rested upon two pillars: One is science, "belief in the spirit and method of Galileo, of Newton, of Farady, and of the great builders of this modern scientific age." Through science we understand and rule our physical world, and learn how its forces can serve us. But Mr. Milligan declared: "The most important thing in the world is a belief in the reality of moral and spiritual values."

To have great belief that will issue into great and worthwhile living, we must try to understand God and his availability for our lives. The greatest personalities of all time have believed in him. Moses, the child of believing parents, highly trained in Egyptian culture, leader of the oppressed Hebrews, the great law-giver, and deliverer of his people is cited for his heroic deeds in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews: "By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible."

Micah, the prophet of the poor and friend of the oppressed and downtrodden summarized the requirements of the Pentateuch in one of the greatest of Old Testaments saying, "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." Paul, the greatest single credential of the Christian religion or faith wrote: "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."

We come to understand God and believe in him because we live in an orderly world. Night succeeds day, the law of harvest depends upon the change of seasons, we note the ebb and flow of tides, the eclipses of sun and moon, and the uniformity of species in all forms of life. Back of the orderliness of this universe, its beauty and design, there is a supreme Spirit, conscious, rational, purposive, and good, whom we call God.

We come to understand God and believe in him because of the reality of moral and spiritual values. The ideals of truth, honor, love, and justice are not accidents or merely human invention. They belong to the essential nature of the universe. They cannot be separated from the dignity and worth of man. They are God-given. When these ideals are flaunted and disobeyed, anarchy and destruction characterize human society. When they are revered and obeyed, satisfaction and peace characterize man's relations with his followman.

Finally, we believe in God who is revealed to us by his Son who confronts us: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." He comes in only by simple confession and invitation.

"As the march-hen secretly builds her nest on the watery sod

Behold I will build me a nest on the greatness of God;

I will fly in the greatness of God as the marsh-hen flies

In the freedom that fills all the space 'twixt the marsh and the skies;

By so many roots as the marsh grass sends in the sod

From the Marshes of Glynn by Sidney Lanier

Eugene Thayer, a retired minister of the United Methodist Church.

Californians crossed the border to Mexico for meat at lower prices the end of March.

GOP Deplores "Steam Roller" Of Governor Mandel

Governor Mandel's two and one-half billion dollar budget passed the House of Delegates this week and will be sent to the Maryland Senate where it is expected to pass without change.

An amendment by House Republican Leader C. A. Porter Hopkins which would have reduced the budget by one-half of 1 percent was defeated. The only amendment passed from the floor restored $795 previously cut from the budget.

Much Republican opposition stemmed from what some described as "steam-roller tactics". The House Appropriations and Finance Committee spent some two months of study before recommending the one-half of 1 percent cut proposed in the Hopkins amendment. The Republicans felt the admendments necessary since several committee members just prior to the final passage switched their votes due to alleged arm-twisting. Thus the budget passed uncut.

Delegate Hopkins said, "The budget process has run away from the legislature, meaningful action isn't there. The governor's power is supreme."

Girl Dies In Fall At Seneca Rocks

A pleasure hike by six students of West Virginia university, ended in tragedy Saturday at Seneca Rocks when one of the hikers, Miss Amy Louise Seaton, 20, a junior, fell nearly 100 feet to her death.

West Virginia state police said Miss Seaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Seaton, Bethel Park, Pa., and another girl companion were climbing back down the rocks when they became separated. The other girl, according to authorities, began calling for Miss Seaton. In the meantime, a man had come up from the bottom of the rocks and said someone had fallen.

The body was taken to a funeral home in Petersburg and later transferred to Bethel Park.

Cheerleaders Pay Tribute To Chaperones For Bus Trips

Southern's cheerleading squads and advisors are setting aside this week to pay tribute to those who were involved in making the bus program for away games successful this winter.

Their special thanks go to the P.T.A. Chairmen, Homeroom Mothers, Mrs. John Eberly, and to the regular bus driver, William F. DeWitt, for patience, kindness, and understanding.

Served as chaperones were Mrs. William Meyers, Mrs. Betty Lashley, Miss Debbie Simmons, Mrs. Betty Friend, Mrs. James Trickett, Mrs. Robert Gibson, Charles Shafter Nordeck Shaffer, Mrs. Joe Kisselovich, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fike, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Rev. William Gunther, Mrs. Kime, Miss A. Bishoff, and Dr. Harold Ashby

Local Bills Are Moving Forward

Several local measures in the General Assembly have advanced, including pay raises for the County Commissioners.

Receiving Senate approval was SB 1147 to provide the next administration of the county salaries of $6,000 annually and $9,500 a year for the board president. The bill, still needing House approval, is sponsored by Sen. William A. Wilson. The commissioners are currently paid $4,200 yearly.

Other Garrett County measures getting through the Senate were SB 1148 to permit the sheriff to hire a matron-clerk for the jail, and SB 1150 to permit the county commissioners to hire a county attorney. It was recently discovered that there are no provisions in the law to permit employment of a county attorney. Both measures were introduced by Senator Wilson.

A bill enacted was HB 1097 requiring Garrett County to advertise for bids prior to purchasing road building equipment. The measure was introduced by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden.

Meet The Staff

JACK BENNETT

This week our Meet The Staff column is featuring Jack Bennett. Jack has been employed by Foodland as a packer since early 1971. Jack has achieved great skill at packing groceries and gained much knowledge about the grocery business in general.

Packing groceries involves more than meets the eye. To be a good packer, he must know all about the thousands of different items which pass before him each day. He must know which items are easily damaged and handle them with extreme care. He also must be aware of any item which has an odor that might damage other products. These are only a couple of the hundreds of things which Jack must remember as he packs your groceries.

Jack's job as a packer is one of the most important jobs in a grocery store. The front end employees are usually the only ones who talk directly to the customers, so the impression which Jack and the other packers present to you, the customer, is all important. Jack has the big responsibility of making sure the customer's groceries arrive home in the same condition they were in when the customer paid for them.

Speed is also a very important aspect of the packer's job. He must be able to keep the line moving so the customer waits no longer than necessary.

Every person who works at a job has certain aspects of that job at which he excels. For Jack these strong points are courtesy and friendliness. Jack always treats the customer in a very courteous manner and is always friendly. This is easily shown by the fact that a great majority of our customers know Jack by name and wouldn't think of passing the front end without saying "Hello". Jack is also very popular with the youngsters. He is always ready to help any customer who needs assistance.

The next time you shop Foodland and Jack packs your grocery order, see if you don't receive the Red Carpet Treatment.

Jack and his wife Teresa live in the Aurora area. They have one child, a daughter, with the pretty name of Joann Marie. Jack spends much of his spare time working around his home and enjoys just being with his family.

THE BUM RAP

Lesson for April 8, 1973

Background Scripture: Isaiah 52:13 through 53:12; Matthew 26:1-5, 26-29, 1 Peter 2:21-25.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 22:1-8.

A convict in the state prison was patiently listening to the Chaplain explain the story Christ's arrest, trial, and crucifixion. When the Chaplain had concluded, the convict exclaimed: "Gee, that was sure a bum rap!"

As a prisoner he was particularly sensitive to the injustice which Jesus suffered on that first Good Friday. The convict was struck by the fact that this innocent man was falsely accused, victimized, and made the scapegoat. He had seen some "bum raps," some grossly unfair verdicts in his time, but this man Jesus, it seemed, was the most tragic of victims.

Rev. Althouse

Our griefs, our sorrows

The convict was quite accurate in his observation: the trial and crucifixion are glaring examples of injustice. Jesus had done nothing to deserve punishment. The charges were trumped-up and he was the victim of manipulation. In order to convict him, people had been bribed to lie about him and his teachings. In the parlance of the American underworld: "he was framed."

Yet, not only was Jesus blameless himself, but he was willing to suffer for the sake of others. The prophet Isaiah, man centuries earlier, had caught this idea:

Surely he has borne our griefs and carried our sorrows; . . . . But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities . . . upon him was the chastisement that made us whole, and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all. (53:4-6)

The suffering and death of Jesus seem even more unjust when we realize that Jesus suffered for the sins of other people, not his own. And we are among those other people for whom he suffered. He had to pay what was really our debt. Most of us have a hard enough time accepting the suffering that is rightly ours, but the thought of suffering for the sake of someone else's sins and errors seems unthinkable.

Healed by His wounds

Yet, when we read Isaiah 53 and the gospels it becomes evident that Jesus was not a victim. Though he did not seek death, he did accept it for the sake of all men. When one willingly bears a cross, he cannot be a victim of it; instead he is a victor because he has been unconquered by it.

Unlike so many who had been handed a "bum rap," the convict saw that Jesus faced suffering and death without bitterness. "He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth" (53:7). There was intense admiration from the convict for this man Jesus.

Maybe, he concluded, that's what life is really all about: willingly, lovingly hearing someone else's "bum rap."

WHAT IS A PRESCRIPTION

That small scrap of paper with writing on it that you sometimes do not understand can sometimes be the difference between a fast recovery and a lingering illness.

Actually, a prescription is a valuable document. Doctors study over ten years to be able to write them, pharmacists, five or more years to learn about them and how to dispense them and drug companies sometimes spend millions of dollars to discover and perfect the drugs in them. The amount all this knowledge costs can save you sickness time and even your life.

Lunar Phase

Monday at 11:28 p. m. the moon passes through its First Quarter Phase. The moon will wax this week from crescent to gibbous. Moonset will range from 9:50 p. m. tonight to 2:27 a. m. Wednesday morning.

Lunar Perigee

Tonight at 11:00 p. m. the moon will be only 364,800 kilometers (226,700 miles) from earth. This perigee is the closest the moon will be to earth during April.

Visible Planets

Three planets are easily viewed this week. Saturn, high in the sky at sunset, can be seen among the stars of Taurus until 11:00 p. m. Mars and Jupiter, visible among the stars of Capricornus, are in conjunction tomorrow. Look for them to appear about three hours before the sun.

Conjunction

A conjunction is an arrangement between two or more planets as they are viewed from earth such that the planets appear in the same direction from the earth. Venus is in superior conjunction on Monday at 2:00 p. m. This means that Venus is exactly opposite the earth on the other side of the sun. Venus then is in the exact same direction from earth as the sun.

Daylight Increases

Sunrise was at 5:56 a. m. this morning. Sunset will be twelve hours fifty minutes later. Wednesday the sun will rise nine minutes earlier and set at 6:52 p. m., six minutes later than today. There will be fifteen minutes more daylight Wednesday.

Column For Homemakers

Economy Meals For Good Eating

It's the wise homemaker who will select beans when meat prices pinch, and when beans are plentiful as they are now, suggests the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Vegetable protein in your beans can be supplemented with small amounts of the animal proteins of meat, poultry, fish, cheese, milk or eggs to provide a strong protein team. For a bonus you'll get B vitamins, too, especially thiamine, and also calcium and iron. The iron content of beans is high, a cupful of cooked beans contains about half of the recommended day's needs.

Here's a helpful tip on cooking beans, announced Mrs. Denison: You can keep down foam when cooking with such high-foaming beans as Great Northerns, red kidneys, pintos, or pea beans by adding one tablespoon of fat to the cooking water for each cup of beans. It will come in handy, especially in pressure cooking. However, if you're cooking large limas, fat won't be of much help in keeping them from foaming.

To prevent bean skins breaking, boil the beans gently and stir very little.

Proverbs 14:3t "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." Help me Lord not to bow to the secular gods. Absence of character leaves a nation with all types of perversion. Character can be easily defined as a person who possess rare characteristics that distinguishes him from the norm, putting the emphasis on his qualities and his uniqueness. In a nation where the people lack character the people act like animals. Such filth, as homosexuality, abortion, murder, rape and rioting abound. It is time the Christian Church and its people should be resurrected to life again. We need more men who aren't afraid to stand for something. Men like Moses, Paul, and John Wesley, who counted the cost, saw the dangers and hardships but weren't afraid to stand against the tide of public opinion. These men didn't care what society thought about them; but only what God thought. Men in general, and the Christian Church have lost their moral courage, and thus have become jelly fish in this adulterated society. They see the moral depravity, the threat of Communism about them, but they stand like helpless children waiting for someone else to help. As Rome fell, so will America because we lack the decency to stand for what is right. When groups like 20th Century Reformation Hour, Christian Crusade and the John Birch Society, cry out against these evils, the "Christian World," calls them trouble makers and fanatics. We believe the Lord is coming, so we are going to put on our white robes and climb upon the house roof or mountain and wait for Him. They fail to realize that the Lord said occupy till I come. It is every man's duty to provide for his family and when a man ceases in this respect then he ceases to be a man. Read it in the book 1 Timothy 5:8, "If any man provide not for his own, and especially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith and is worse than an infidel."

The same applies in the church when man refuses to cry out against sin, then he refuses to acknowledge his Lord and therefore becomes a reprobate. It is a Christian man's duty to cry out against Communism because it is the very threat to Christianity. You can tell a man's character by what he stands for. If he stands for nothing and never gets involved then he is no man. All around me I hear Christians saying America is doomed, and yet if you would want them to sign a petition or protest some ungodliness, you would never find them, or they are too tired, and on and on are the excuses and nothing is done and America continues on down the road to judgment and Communism. I am sick of hearing how people complain about everything and they won't get their little white hands dirty because they may have to stand for something and thus he considered a fanatic and therefore they may lose some of their friends. What they fail to realize is if they don't get involved that they will lose their families to the ungodliness of communism, because of their lack of involvement and it may be considered political to get involved. In closing I would like to add, that reputation is what people think you are, but character is the real you, it is what you do and don't do, as well as what you stand against. Look around you and then at yourself, do you have any character, or are you a jelly fish caught in the tide of life, just being pushed and pulled by the dictates of men and not governed by the greatest person, Jesus Christ, and remember affluent America, a warning from the Bible, "The wicked shall be turned into hell and all nations that forget God." Psalms 9:17

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Remedy For Rising Rents

It isn't often that Congress can recognize a problem and act on it in a matter of weeks, or even months. Usually, there are hearings to be held, witnesses on all sides of the question to be heard from, and compromises to be made in order to get a majority of the House or Senate to agree on any major issue.

However, I am happy to report that a problem which did not exist until early this year has already received final action in the Senate. This problem is one which affects large areas of Maryland.

Soon after the President dropped controls over rent as part of the Phase III program, announced in mid-January, I began hearing complaints, and a lot of them. There were complaints from tenants who were suddenly faced with rent increases of ten, twenty or even thirty per cent.

There were complaints, too, from landlords who have seen the cost of maintenance, supplies, and taxes go up, and who were looking to the federal government for guidance, and not getting any.

Now, the Senate has taken decisive action. When we passed the bill which extends special economic powers for another year, we amended it to include an automatic trigger for rent controls in special areas.

The bill provides that rent controls take effect automatically in areas where rental units are scarce, specifically when less than five and one-half per cent of the available rental units in a metropolitan area are open. This would include both the Baltimore and the Washington areas, the suburbs as well as the cities. If the House goes along with the Senate, and if the bill becomes law, as I expect it will, rent controls would take effect automatically in these areas, and they would be retroactive to the beginning of Phase III in January.

The Senate also approved a suggestion of mine which I think is an important safeguard for the public. Once rent controls take effect, there must be public hearings on the effectiveness of those controls and the need to continue them. These hearings would permit federal officials to lift the controls if the situation warrants, but only after all concerned, tenants, landlords and local officials, have had a chance to state their case.

This means that future decisions on rent controls will not be made without benefit of everyone's opinion, and that a few favored people will not have the inside track to the desk of a bureaucrat in Washington.

As much as Congress needs to reform its procedures, I am glad to see that we can still react in the space of a few weeks to meet special and urgent problems. This is largely the result of the clear voice of people letting us know in no uncertain terms that action was needed. I hope that everyone concerned about rents, or about anything needing the attention of Congress, lets this be an example to them of how their voice can be heard.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to express our sincere thanks to every individual, church, school, business and organization that has contributed to the kidney fund for our son, Brian. We also want to thank everyone who has sent money directly to us.

Our special thanks to Richard Stanton, Rev. Paul Crumley, and Tom Butscher for organizing this fund. We want to thank Richard Stanton for accepting and putting all donations in the fund. We appreciate the special interest and time donated by the Rotary Club and Cub Scouts to raise money for Brian.

memo to advertisers

NOW YOU SEE IT...NOW YOU DON'T

But pay as though you did?

We don't believe advertisers should have to play guessing games with circulation figures. The facts are too important to the effectiveness of their sales messages and the cost of advertising space.

To eliminate the element of chance, our facts and figures are audited and verified by the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Through an audit report, ABC tells us and our advertisers exactly how much circulation we have, where it is distributed, what readers pay, and the answers to many other questions about our circulation audience.

Don't guess—ask to see a copy of our latest audit report. Be ABC-sure!

OPEN LINE

Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me.

Our family is planning to go on a camping trip this summer. Where can we get information on Federal and State Park facilities?

Information on National and State parks and forests, campsites, recreation facilities, scenic and historical tours, accommodations and related matters is available from my office. Just drop me a line care of U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515, and I will see to it that your specific request is answered.

I operate a small clothing factory and want to bid on government contracts. Can you help me?

My office does not offer advice concerning bids on government contracts however appointments can be arranged for you with appropriate people in the government agency involved. This would provide you the opportunity of learning the basic mechanics of bidding on contracts. Knowledgeable officials can also assist you with other business problems and provide information on such matters as small business loans.

How do you feel about health insurance legislation?

Federal financing of limited health insurance programs on a voluntary basis is a good idea. In fact, I am co-sponsoring a bill that would provide for medical and hospital care through just such a program. Under this proposed legislation the insurance would be financed in whole for low-income families and in part for all other persons through allowance of tax credit. The purpose of this Medicredit Act is to make it possible for every individual to obtain comprehensive medical and hospitalization insurance of his choice. It would be insurance designed to protect against ordinary and catastrophic expenses of illness regardless of prior medical history and on a guaranteed renewable basis.

Are you taking applications for appointments to the military academies?

My office is currently accepting applications for appointments to the United States service academies for the class entering in July 1974. Applicants should be single, residents of the Sixth Congressional District, in good health, possess a good academic background, and not be younger that 17 or older than 21 on July 1, 1974. Interested candidates should write to my office for an application form which should be completed and returned by October 1, 1973

I recently returned from Vietnam and started attending school figuring that my G.I. benefits would cover some of the costs. Can you help me as I have received no such aid.

When a veteran has difficulty obtaining VA benefits justly due him, my office can examine the circumstances with appropriate officials in the Veterans Administration. In this specific case, the VA was still processing a backlog of similiar requests, however, a check for financial assistance has now been sent on to the young man in question.

Chatter

From Green Street Special Education School

Mrs. Regina Stork, principal of the Green Street school provides the chatter for this issue:

"Spring has come and we have grown taller and wiser. We have a new classmate that just moved here from Pennsylvania. He makes us forty students.

"We are busy getting ready for Easter and a short vacation. We are always glad to get back to school to see our friends, too.

"Our Association for the Mentally Retarded acts as our P.T.A. It is planning a big day April 7th at Browning Foodland. They will sell Kathryn Beich candy as was done last year, and notepaper designed by the Mentally Retarded, a Stone House product. The notepaper is called 'Flame of Hope' because it gives hope to so many people.

"Stone House is a project of the Kennedy Foundation and a government grant. They first sold perfume. Later cards were made on recycled paper and packed by the retarded. The designs are varied and unbelievably outstanding. The original CAT design of one card hangs in a Washington, D. C. museum.

"An industrialist visited an art show by the Retarded and found himself spellbound. He searched his mind for a marketable use for these three designs. The March-April issue of Dupont magazine shows beautiful women's clothing, of jersey print, fulfilling his ideas."

Friendsville PTA Plans Projects, Election, Dinner

Various committees were formed by the Friendsville PTA when it met at the school Tuesday evening, March 27.

Following room visitation, the business meeting was called to order by president Mrs. Alice Spear. The PTA voted to sponsor a fund raising project with a percentage of the profits going toward the support of Camp Hickory.

Mrs. Carol Wakefield and Mrs. Mary Ruth Guard are serving on the committee.

The PTA voted to purchase a piece of playground equipment for the school and Mrs. Jolene Glotfelty and Mrs. Marolyn Price are serving on this committee.

Mrs. Dorothy Lowdermilk, Mrs. Margaret Frost and Mrs. Leah Tackett volunteered to serve on a committee to make plans for the annual covered dish dinner.

As there will be election of officers at the April 17 meeting, Mrs. Joan Bashore, Mrs. Naomi Griffith and Mrs. Patty Friend will serve on the nominating committee.

The PTA pup was awarded to Miss Dillon's and Mr. Carskadon's classrooms as both had the same number of parents present.

On behalf of the PTA, Mrs. Dorothy Lowdermilk presented Miss Evelyn Wass with a gift as an expression of its appreciation for the time and service she has given to the school.

Following the business meeting, Charles Strauss spoke about Camp Hickory and Phil Barton spoke about the community libraries.

Refreshments were served.

High meat prices created problems for animal zoos also.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Earl (Beanie) Evans, our father, who passed away one year ago today, April 2nd

Lonesome here without you
And sad in every way;
Life is not the same with us
Since you have gone away.
Our hearts ache with loneliness,
Our eyes shed many tears.
Only God knows how much we miss you.
After one lonely year.
Love,
Your Children

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL, JR.

Food Labeling And Nutrition

Many Americans are expected to change their eating habits for one day, or as much as a week, in early April to show their concern over rising food prices.

A meat boycott is the most publicized aspect of these activities. There are alternatives to meat in our diets, of course, such as eggs, cheese and fish, and learning the nutritional value of different foods can indeed be helpful in cutting the grocery bill and at the same time providing balanced meals.

Unfortunately, it has not always been easy to find out the nutritional value of many foods, or even the ingredients of some of the products that line the supermarket shelves.

But something is happening to change all of this, and many shoppers may have already noticed the nutrition labels appearing on some of the foods they are buying.

The new labeling policy is being implemented by the Food and Drug Administration, and it will go a long way in helping the American consumer to be informed about the food we are eating.

The first phase of the policy, which was begun in January, will require processors to put nutrition labels on all foods for which nutritional claims are made, or to which nutrients are added.

The policy will become mandatory for all processed food products by the end of 1975, but the FDA is encouraging voluntary use of the standards before then, and some food processors have already done this.

There will be several things to look for on the nutrition labels. Information will fall into four basic categories, the size of an average serving, the number of calories per serving, the amounts of various nutrients per serving, and its content of saturated and unsaturated fats.

The nutrients — which include protein, vitamins and minerals — will be listed as percentages of the government's recommended daily allowance of the different items.

Many breakfast cereals already have labels of the type that will be required, so taking a look at some of the cereal box labels might give shoppers an idea of what kind of information will soon be appearing on many other food products.

The next phase of the FDA policy on food labeling will focus on the product label itself, and how good a job it does in describing the contents of a particular package.

For instance, there have been complaints about a prepackaged chicken dinner with no chicken and a prepackaged steak dinner with no steak. The manufacturers of these dinners said that the meats were supposed to be added at home, but the FDA ordered them taken off the market because of their misleading labels.

The new policy is intended to require an accurate description of the contents of a food package and clear information on what items should be added to prepared dinners to make them into a complete meal.

Thus, a prepared seafood cocktail, for example, will have to include the percentage, by weight, of each seafood ingredient, and ingredients in all packages will have to be listed in order of their predominance by weight. This will enable a shopper to find out if different prices for the same kind of food product means that there are different proportions of ingredients.

Consumer interest in nutrition has undoubtedly been accentuated by the present-day concern over rising food prices, but the new policy on food labeling may serve an even greater purpose.

A Senate committee recently concluded hearings on nutrition in the United States, and the American public was found to have little awareness of food values. A nutrition label will be a simple and effective way of providing this important information.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias

Our Debts To Vets

Historically, the United States has expected its soldiers to be like Cincinnatus, the Roman General who left his plow in the middle of a field to go to war, and when the war was over went right back to his farming.

Unfortunately, this attitude that our fighting men can become fully productive citizens the moment they take off their uniforms just doesn't hold water As a result, our nation has casually and thoughtlessly inflicted cruelties upon those to whom it owes its greatest debts.

What about the wounded veteran, handicapped by injuries both physical and spiritual? How does he forget a period of his life and easily take up the responsibilities of wage earner or father?

How about the aging veteran whose pension no longer reflects the realities of rising costs in 1973? How about the veteran whose classmates learned professional skills and got job experience while he learned how to march and got only combat experience? How does he compete in civilian life?

The nation has responsibilities toward these veterans, and recently two Marylanders helped remind the Congress of its debt to those who have served their country.

As a member of the Senate Veterans Appropriations Subcommittee, I arranged to have Commander Raymond E. Callegary of the American Legion, Department of Maryland, and Daniel H. Burkhardt, Adjutant of the Maryland Department, testify before the Subcommittee on the proposed Veterans Administration budget. They did an outstanding job. They gave the senators the human side, and showed what the effects of thoughtless budget cutting could be in the State of Maryland. They may have made a significant contribution to our efforts to work out a well-planned budget which is both cost-conscious and cost-effective, and which fulfills our debts to veterans.

I have recently been engaged in other matters concerning veterans. When V.A. Administrator Donald Johnson appeared before the Appropriations Subcommittee, I got his assurances that the proposed V.A. hospital in Baltimore is a priority project, and that he will keep me up to date on its progress.

Also, I am happy to report that the President took swift action when the bureaucracy came up with an alarmingly short-sighted plan for cutting disability ratings for veterans. These would have directly affected some 200,000 veterans of Viet Nam, and if state governments followed the same pattern, the cuts would have affected two million disabled veterans. I am glad to say that the President, upon learning of the proposals, ordered them withdrawn for further study. And a bill now in the Senate would provide for an automatic review by Congress of future changes affecting disabled veterans before those changes take effect.

Finally, I am concerned with two bills affecting veterans of the First World War their widows and dependents One would prevent recent Social Security increases from costing them reductions in their V.A. pensions. The other would increase pensions ten per cent to reflect rapid increases in costs. I look forward to favorable action by the Congress on both of these measures.

Six Non-Injury Accidents Occur Last Week In Co.

Six non-injury accidents occurred in the county last week, although one car turned over.

Mary M. Mattingly, Oakland, was traveling west on State Route 135 last Thursday about 3:30 p. m. She took her attention from the road and lost control of the vehicle. The vehicle went to the left side of the road, then back across it and turned over. Tfc. Garland D. Broadwater charged her with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Edward E. O'Brien, Swanton was making a left turn off Route 135 onto a service station parking lot at Mt. Lake Park the afternoon of March 24. Mary Jane Rohrbaugh, Star Route 2, Oakland having been parked on the parking lot, started to back and collided with the O'Brien car. Tfc. Daniel E. Tharp made no charges.

John H. DeBerry, near Oakland, was traveling north on Herrington Manor road about 2 p. m. March 26, and started to make a left turn onto Hutton road. A car driven by Linda Sue Windell, Fairfax, Va., following DeBerry, attempted to pass him and the two collided. DeBerry was charged with improper turning and Linda Windell with improper passing by Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis.

Thomas W. Menges, RD 1, Grantsville, was traveling west on U. S. Route 40 near Grantsville the evening of March 23 in a heavy duty truck. Menges was blinded by the sunlight and did not see another vehicle in the west lane waiting to make a left turn. Menges swerved to the right to avoid hitting the vehicle and struck some guard rails.

The car of Adrian S. Hawkins, Mt. Lake Park, was parked on B street In Mt. Lake Park. March 27, about 2 p. m. when it was struck on the side by an unidentified car. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater investigated

Don Allen Lemley, Monongahela, Pa., was crossing U. S. Route 219 at Bumble Bee road last Sunday before noon. As he did, he failed to notice a car driven hy Robert E. Beachy, RD 1, Oakland, traveling north on Route 219, pulled into its path and was hit by it. Tfc. R. E. Friend charged Lemley with failing to stop as required.

A Four-Day Work Week?

News reports from Washington tell of a government conference within the Civil Service Commission to have a "selected" number of government workers put on a four-day work week—with a full week's pay.

If government workers can get all of their week's work done in four days, they aren't being given enough work to do.

There is, of course, a rather obvious alternative plan that could well serve as the basis for a government conference, but there is no evidence to show that the Civil Service Commission has entertained the idea. Why not drop two out of every six government workers now supported by taxpayers, and then have the remaining four work a full six-day week? They will still he working one day less than most independent farmers and small businessmen. Who knows? With the tax money thus saved, maybe some of us now on the seven-day week might be able to cut back to six!

THE GARRETT COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR ASSOCIATION, INCORPORATED
Oakland, Maryland,
a former corporation of the State of Maryland, its successors, assigns and shareholders;
THE UNKNOWN HEIRS AND DEVISEES OF GEORGE GEISSMAN, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased;
All Persons having an interest in the matter of George Geissman, which is Docket 1, Bankruptcy No. 309 in the United States District Court for the District of Maryland; and
All Persons having or claiming to have any interest in the property described as Lot No. 7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision located in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, which was conveyed to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association, Incorporated, by George Geissman, widower, by deed dated May 3, 1923, and recorded in Liber E.Z.T., No. 84, Folio 400, of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland
NO. 6315 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 3rd day of April, 1973, a Bill to Quiet Title was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by William E. Naylor against the Garrett County Fair Association and others. That the Bill to Quiet Title alleges that on April 27, 1923, George Geissman, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased, conveyed to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association, Incorporated, a then Maryland corporation, a 28 acre parcel of ground, collectively referred to as "The Fair Grounds" which included, inter alia, a 2.3 acre parcel of land known as Lot #7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision as shown in Plat Book E.Z.T. No. 1, Folio 64, of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. That part of the purchase price of the lands conveyed was represented by two $2,000.00 promissory notes from the said Association to the said George Geissman and that the said George Geissman reserved a Vendor's Lien to insure payment of the said notes. That there was no conveyance by the said Association of the said Lot No. 7

That by mesne conveyance and devises, title to all of the 28 acre parcel, known as "The Fair Grounds", except for the said Lot No. 7, vested in William E. Naylor. That the said William E. Naylor and his ancestors in title, have, as part of "The Fair Grounds," had under fence and notoriously, hostilely and openly occupied, for a period of over twenty years, the said Lot No. 7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision.

That the record of Vendor's Liens in the Office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, does not show any payment of the two $2,000.00 notes by the said Association to the said George Geissman.

That on September 24, 1927, the said George Geissman was discharged in bankruptcy in Docket 1, No. 309 Bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court for the District of Maryland. That the records of the said bankruptcy proceedings do not show the said two $2,000.00 promissory notes as an asset of the said George Geissman.

That there is no administration of the Estate of the said George Geissman, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased, in the Orphans' Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

The Bill prays that the Court declare that fee simple title to the said Lot No. 7 is vested in William E. Naylor, that the said Vendor's Lien be foreclosed by these proceedings and for such other relief as the nature of the case may require.

WHEREAS, it is Ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 3rd day of April, 1973, that the complainants cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of April, 1973, giving notice to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association, et al, of the substance of the Bill to Quiet Title and warning all or any of them to show cause, if any there be, on or before the 28th day of May, 1973, why the relief prayed should not be granted.

Cancer Fund Drive Planned For April

The entire month of April has been designated cancer crusade month in Garrett County, according to Mrs. John O. Durst, president of the Garrett County unit of the Maryland Division, American Cancer Society.

At a kick-off luncheon meeting March 28 at Southern High School, some 40 captains of the upcoming crusade received materials to distribute to the over 200 volunteers who will be collecting this month.

Local Jaycees have already distributed canisters for the society throughout the various business places in the county.

Various other fund raising activities are planned through the month, in addition to the door-to-door drive. Clinton Englander is chairman of the special events committee, assisted by Dale Ellis as co-chairman. Information about upcoming events will appear in other editions of The Republican, as details are finalized.

This year's crusade goal for the county has been raised to $5,200, $1,200 more than last year. In 1972, Garrett County was the first unit in the state to reach and exceed its goal. Amount collected last year was over $6,000.

Although April is the month of most concentrated effort for the cancer society here, the local organization remains active year round.

Already this year they have sponsored several films on cancer detection, including mother-daughter films at both high schools.

Cartoon films on smoking have been in use in the elementary schools, and biology classes at both high schools are making use of films and laboratory workbooks provided by the cancer society.

The local group also can assist eligible cancer patients in home care, providing such items as a hospital bed, sickroom supplies and dressings, suction machine, portable toilet, and colostomy equipment. They also can furnish medicines and transportation for cancer victims.

Anyone needing more information or assistance may contact Mrs. Pauline Faucett, of the Garrett County Health Department, who is patient service chairman.

Anyone desiring to show the film programs or to use educational material may contact Mrs. John Durst, Garrett county unit president.

Action Needed . . .

Some definite action is needed to get every citizen ecology minded, and the best way to do it is to take a motor ride from Oakland to Aurora by way of the Ben DeWitt road, known also as the "cut-off."

The amount of tin cans and other garbage along the roadway is enough to make a person ill. At first we were inclined to blame West Virginians who just crossed the Maryland line to deposit their truck loads of garbage, but on the West Virginia side, along route 50, it was almost as bad. In a district Lutheran church meeting Sunday in Clarksburg, a dramatic film was shown on what the people of this country were doing in complete disregard for the beauties of this land.

The Oakland chapter of Jaycees announced its second annual campaign to clean up the roadsides and is offering prizes to groups who gather the most litter, and this is good. But it would not have to be confined to highways. If we are really serious about the business of keeping America beautiful, we need more problem solvers and fewer fingerpointers. We must get back to basics. If we are to keep America beautiful we'll have to start in our own backyards, and carry over to the backyards of many others.

The only way to get rid of community eyesores is through concerted action and follow-through, with solutions for handling of garbage, refuse, etc., on a sound and permanent basis. One method, according to one citizen, would be a return to returnable bottles instead of cans and non returnables.

Waste apparently will always be a part of living, and we'll have to find a way to make every citizen aware of the problem. Littering is simply a lousy way of living. We surely can do better.

County Gets $138,071 Check Revenue Sharing

Garrett county received within the past few days another Federal Revenue Sharing check in the amount of $138,071, which was for the first quarter of 1973 and represents an anticipated total of around $520,000 for the four quarters, it was pointed out by Wayne Hamilton, president of the commissioners.

If this is the case it will be an increase over the revenue sharing total received during the last entitlement period. The previous amount was $470,564.

The Commissioners attributed this increase to the increased tax effort of the county.

There was no indication as to where the money would be allocated.

Additional revenue sharing checks were also sent to incorporated towns of the county amounting to $17,826, for a complete county total of $155,897.

The shares to the towns were as follows: Accident, $484; Deer Park, $617; Friendsville, $990; Grantsville, $1,132; Kitzmiller, $957; Loch Lynn Heights, $1,932; Mt. Lake Park, $1,262; Oakland, $10,452.

These latter figures were released by Senatnrs Charles McC. Mathias Jr., and J. Glenn Beall. They said the state as a whole was receiving nearly ten percent more than it did in previous payments, because of more accurate tax data and more recent population figures now available.

Merit System

The Merit System board submitted a letter to the Commissioners this week recommending the acceptance of their proposal as it applies to the inclusion of county employes in the merit system.

Mr. Hamilton said he felt this was a forward step in employe relations and one that would give a greater measure of job and financial security to the employe.

In ensuing weeks the Commissioners expect to be involved in the task of reviewing budgets and laying the levy. Hamilton said this was not an easy task but that they hoped to come up with a budget that all could live with. He said he expected that some $350,000 in federal funds would be withdrawn from the educational program in this county, due to federal cutbacks in various programs.

2 Men Escape; Both Sentenced To Eight Years

One Recaptured Same Day, Other Still At Large

One of two young men sentenced last Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court was recaptured early Friday after they had escaped from the County jail shortly before midnight.

He is Harry Edward Wrightsman, 18, of Pleasant Valley, who along with Harold Dean Hebb 20, of Deer Park, had broken a lock in the lower floor to gain access to an upper floor where a hacksaw blade was used to cut a bar from a window from which they escaped and fled.

Hebb is still free. A house search was instituted by authorities Tuesday evening after they had received word of Hebb being in the Deer Park hotel area, but to no avail.

Garrett county sheriff's department personnel, along with the Maryland State police and a state police helicopter and dog unit assisted in the recapture of Wrightsman near his home.

Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill had sentenced the two youths to each serve eight years with the Department of Correction on charges involving breaking and entering and larceny which stemmed from incidents which occurred last year.

There were four cases against Hebb, four cases against Wrightsman and also a case against John Miller, all for breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods. Wrightsman and Hebb were involved in entering the home of Harry Friend, Deer Park. Wrightsman also was charged in entering Madigan's garage in Deer Park and the storeroom of Richard DeBerry in Oakland.

At trials on February 28 Judge Hamill ordered pre-sentence investigations and these reports were returned to the court last Thursday. In one case Hebb received 18 months, in the second case, 18 months, in the third case, eight years, and in the fourth case, eight years, all to run concurrently.

In the first case against Wrightsman he received eight years; in the second, eight years in the third case, 18 months; and in the fourth case, eight years, all to run concurrently. Pleas of guilty had been entered in certain counts of the indictments, with other counts being dismissed by officials.

John Miller charged with breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods, entered pleas of not guilty on all counts but was found guilty on the first and second counts. He was given two years under the work release program.

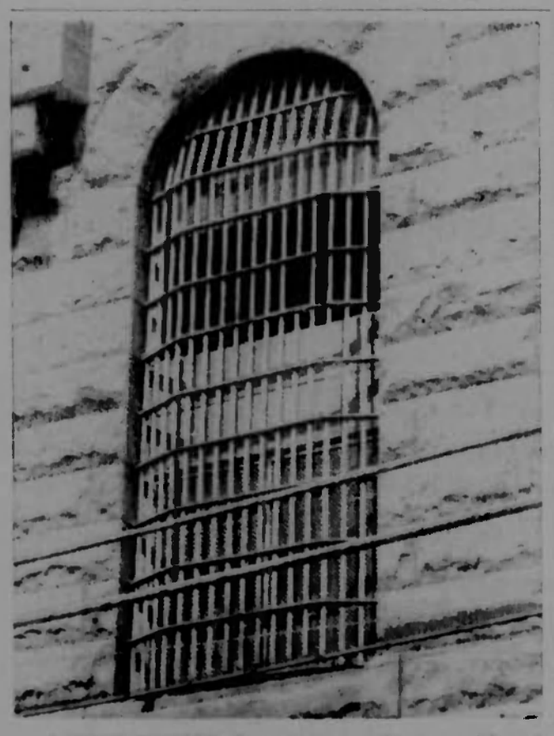
Juvenile Is Found Delinquent By Drug Possession

One juvenile, a female was found to be a delinquent minor on two charges in Juvenile court last Thursday. The two specific charges were illegal possession of, one, hash oil and the other marijuana.

The 17-year-old female of the Oakland area was sentenced to the Montrose School for Girls by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., sitting as juvenile judge.

The sentence was suspended and she was placed on probation under the jurisdiction and supervision of the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services for an undetermined period. She is to be of good behavior, refrain from any infraction of the law, and to attend school regularly.

Hash oil is said to be a new drug of recent importation.



A TIGHT SQUEEZE—Two prisoners at the county jail worked their way to freedom through this small hole in the iron bars last Thursday night a short time after they had been sentenced to an eight-year term by Judge Stuart F. Hamill. One of the escapees, Harold Dean Hebb, still remains at large, but the other one, Harry Edward Wrightsman, was recaptured near his home in Pleasant Valley not too long after his break. This particular window is on the alley or south side of the jail. The escape was made from the second floor of the jail. — Shaffer photo.

Jaycees to Conduct Clean Up Drive

The second annual Jaycee clean-up drive (Pitch In), sponsored by the Oakland chapter of the United States Jaycees, has been scheduled for Saturday, May 5, it was announced.

The drive is aimed at cleaning up the roadsides of the county. Last year the eleven groups participating in the drive collected 51,130 pounds of litter.

The winner of last year's drive was a combined group from Southern High school, the National Honor society and the Quill and Scroll. The Mt. Top Youth for Christ was second and the senior class at Southern High came in third.

Cash awards for the top groups will be offered again, the amounts to be announced. In addition to top group awards, all groups will win a cash prize, it was stated.

Any group wishing to participate may contact John Krueger, Allen Murlin or John Sheltra, so it can register and be advised of the rules and regulations. Groups will be registered until April 28. Winning groups will be determined by the weight of litter collected on May 5, between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Penna. Man Is Slightly Injured In One-Car Wreck

A Pennsylvania man was slightly injured in a one-car wreck at Gorman early this morning.

Barney Graham, 23, of Clymer Pa., was headed east on U. S. Route 50 and failed to negotiate the right turn at the Gorman bridge, lost control of his car, crossed the center of the road, ran into some guard rails and the bridge.

Trooper D. E. Tharp charged Graham with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Religious Survey To Be Conducted During Holy Week

After four months of intensive planning, the religious survey for parts of Garrett County will be conducted during Holy Week, to find those people in the county who do not attend any particular church, and extend the hand of Christian fellowship to them. It is a part of the Key 73 outreach of Christian men and women of Garrett County during the year 1973.

The survey will be conducted by telephone.

There will be four thousand calls made by over a hundred volunteers from twenty different churches in the northern and southern parts of the county.

When the first meeting for the survey was held in Deep Creek Baptist Church, in December, it was thought that the survey could be conducted on a person to person basis. This would have involved over five hundred volunteers. However, it was found that churchmen in the Grantsville area had a different plan for Christian outreach during 1973 and a more practical way to cover the remainder of the County seemed to be by telephone.

The Rev. Paul Crumley, Oak Park Church of the Brethren, and the Rev. Fred. Illick, Zion Lutheran Church, Accident are co-chairmen of the group which has planned the survey.

Jail Inmates Cause Disorder Sunday

Nine dissatisfied male inmates created a disturbance at the Garrett County Jail Sunday morning, reportedly after they decided they didn't like what was served for breakfast.

John Rolls, John Miller and one other prisoner reportedly began throwing their breakfast oatmeal, toast and coffee around the cells and creating a general commotion because they didn't like what was on the menu. Other prisoners followed suit, and some dinnerware was broken before the men were separated into different cells.

The men allegedly had wanted pancakes, sausage and coffee.

This is regarded as the largest tournament of its kind in the United States and included 35 teams from six states, five of which were from the local league.

She was also top Bible Quizzer in the local league and also named top quizzer at the 2nd annual quiz camp that her team won at Markleysburg in March.

Sterling Processors Will Return To Work On Monday

Production will resume at Sterling Poultry Processing plant Monday morning, after teamsters and meatcutter union members voted to accept wage hikes offered by the company.

According to Gilman Sylvester, manager of the local plant, workers agreed to accept a 25 cent an hour increase, retroactive to March 1. This increase would remain in effect until June 1974, when 15 cents an hour will be added to wages.

An additional 15 cents an hour will begin in June 1974 and continue until March 1975, when contracts again come up for renewal.

Both teamster union and Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers union members voted Wednesday for acceptance.

Federal mediator Robert Householder, Pittsburgh, had been conducting meetings with members from both sides of the dispute since March 12 in attempts to find a settlement acceptable to both sides.

This has been Sterling's first major strike since 1961, according to Mr. Sylvester.

A Battle Shapes Up

The first major showdown of the year, between Congress and the President, took place in the past week when the Senate voted to sustain President Nixon's veto of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

It should be made clear, however, that the vote was not really on the merits of vocational rehabilitation. Both Congress and the Administration want to do everything possible so that persons who are afflicted with handicaps can be helped to lead productive lives.

The vocational rehabilitation bill had become the center of a much larger controversy involving the philosophy of how we shall provide government services while maintaining fiscal responsibility.

The legislation would have established seven new categorical aid programs and authorized $1 billion more than the President requested. After the veto, many people came to Washington to urge an override, and quite a few came to my office saying that the veto would mean the end of federal funding for vocational rehabilitation.

Actually, nothing could be farther from the truth, because the fact is that in next year's budget, the President is requesting more money than we are spending this year for vocational rehabilitation.

What will happen, now that the veto has been sustained, is that Congress will have to pass legislation to continue funding through the current fiscal year and then act on a new authorization and budget for next year.

In a larger sense, however, the veto was the first of several confrontations that can be expected between the Republican Administration and the Democrats who control Congress.

The President, on the one hand, is trying to keep the budget within respectable proportions and at the same time improve the delivery of government services to the people by consolidating similar programs. To do this, he has found it necessary to veto a number of bills.

The leaders of Congress, on the other hand, have selected programs which have broad public appeal and are using them as a test of the President's ability to make his vetoes stick.

Thus, vocational rehabilitation, which is a widely supported federal program, became a pawn in this larger fight, and there will be other confrontations over vetoes in the coming weeks.

If the President's position continues to be sustained, then we will probably see a change of attitude among the leaders of Congress. Hopefully, it would end the adversary position that now exists and lead to a period of legislative negotiation between Congress and the President, in which differences may be ironed out in a responsible and reasonable manner.

To start with, the disagreements contained in the vetoed legislation certainly needs to be worked out, and programs should be designed so that federal assistance goes to the people who need it, and not to inflate the bureaucracy.

The leaders of Congress have been content to maintain the status quo, while the President believes that we must change the way we do business in order to make our programs more effective.

Thus, the fight over the vetoes is not whether or not certain people should be helped. It is really a question of how they can be helped most effectively.

The issue of how we shall deliver government services is a crucial question, and the future course may well be decided in the battles that are shaping up in the coming weeks.

SHS Senior Band Has Busy Schedule

An unusual agenda will keep the Southern High Senior Band busy this spring. To begin, the Highlanders participated in the Meyersdale Maple Festival Parade on April 7.

Second on the parade list is the Dogwood Festival Parade in Statesville, North Carolina. Tomorrow morning at 7 a. m. the band members will begin the long bus ride south. An added pleasure of the outing will be a stopover in Charlottesville, Virginia to see Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson. The band will return to Oakland on Sunday evening, April 15.

Concert To Be Presented

Residents of Oakland can hear both the Junior and Senior Bands in concert on Friday, April 27 at 7:15 p. m. in the Southern High School cafetorium. Here the bands will present their seventh annual spring concert, conducted by Richard Clever. The program of musical selections will be performed, highlighted by Dr. Charles Krusenstjerna, Assistant Professor of Music at West Virginia University. Dr. Krusenstjerna will conduct one Senior and one Junior band selection and also present a clarinet solo. The John Philip Sousa and Ninth Grade Awards will be presented during the evening.

To March at Preakness

The Southern Highlander Marching Band has been invited to march in the Preakness Festival Parade on May 13 in Baltimore.

The Preakness Festival has been heralded by the New York Times as one of the finest Springtime Extravaganzas on the East Coast.

What started out to be a seven-day festival to complement the internationally-known Preakness "Middle Gem of the Triple Crown" of thoroughbred racing, has now become ten days of activities.

The Southern Highlander Band has been chosen to participate in the first Preakness "Showcase of Music." This showcase is a field competition featuring ten championship high school bands from around the country.

SHS Golf Team Reveals Schedule

For the second year, Southern will put its golf team into action this week when it meets Grafton High School. The team, coached by Don Stemple, will play a ten match schedule with two tournaments included.

Returning from the team last year are four lettermen, Dave Hinebaugh, Dave Sharps, Brian Frederick, and Jim Ashby. Last year the team had a record of 2-0 in regular season, and finished 30th ont of 60 golfers.

Coach Stemple had this to say about his team, "It was good that we could increase our schedule from two to ten matches and two tournaments. I think the team will do well because of the four golfers returning. With a lot of hard work, we should have a good season and finish somewhere in the top three spots in the District tournament. The future for golf looks real good for the next three or four years."

The Ram's golf schedule is as follows:

April 10, Grafton (Tygarts Valley) Away
April 26 Beall (Maplehurst) Away
April 27 University (Pines) Home
April 30 Boonsboro (Bever Creek) Away
May 3 Keyser (Mill Creek) Home
May 4 University Away
May 8 PVC Tournament Home
May 14 Keyser Away
May 15 Boonsboro Home
May 17 Beall Home
May 29 District Tournament Home

Giving Youth A Break

Federal Reserve Board governor Andrew F. Brimmer makes sense in advocating the relaxation of government-imposed minimum wage requirements for youth. As things now stand, unemployment among young workers—from 16 to 19 years of age—is three times greater than the overall unemployment rate. Whereas the national rate of unemployment is around five percent, the rate of unemployment among young people is over fifteen percent. And, declares Brimmer, the severe youth unemployment "is being aggravated by federally imposed minimum wage laws." The evidence suggests that the minimum wage—now $1.60 an hour—has impelled employers not to hire some younger workers because the minimum wage is higher than their worth to the firm.

There are many successful men today who recall, not without nostalgia, that they first got their "foot in the door" when an understanding employer put them to work at some odd job. The pay usually wasn't very much; but the rewards were great. Not many stayed in that "first job" for very long, but it marked that all-important start.

Today, unfortunately, the picture has changed radically. Hemmed in and harassed by all kinds of work requirements and job restrictions, many would-be employers simply will not hire young (under 20) workers.

Let's hope that someone in Washington will give serious consideration to Mr. Brimmer's wise observations. —U. S. Press Association.

Second Storm

Administration

A spokesman for the County Roads Dept. said there was some drifting but no unusual difficulties.

School was called off during the ferocity of the storm early in the morning when the decision had to be made. By noon much of the snow had disappeared from the roads as temperatures rose and the sun shown for brief intervals.

A 5-car accident on U. S. Route 50 about a half mile from Red House was due to blizzard conditions. A Gormania, W. Va. area couple involved in the accident was taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital about 5:20 p. m. Tuesday. Mrs. Dorothy V. Huzzy, 52, of RD 1, Gormania (Garrett Co.) was admitted to the hospital for observation and was listed in satisfactory condition yesterday. Her husband Lynn M. Huzzy, driver of the car was treated and released. None in the other four cars was injured, according to Trooper Friend who investigated.

Earl Selders of Aurora, W. Va. driver of the first car, attempted to stop due to the wind-blown snow, lost control of his car and hit an embankment. This started a chain reaction involving the other four cars, driven by Lynn Huzzy; Herman W. Shaffer, Horse Shoe Run, W. Va., Gary Beckman, Oakland, and Dewey Potts, Rivesville, W. Va.

An attache at the hospital said the County Roads Department personnel was called to cinder the road leading to the hospital.

The driver for the VanMeter Ambulance Service which was summoned to the accident, said the driving was hazardous due to high winds which whipped snow about the highway. It took him 20 minutes to travel the eight miles to the accident scene.

The snow emergency plan was put into effect 5:15 p. m. Tuesday as the storm became worse and lifted about midday yesterday. Highways in the county area were said to be icy and slippery.

The storm started with snow showers Tuesday morning with the temperature near 40 degrees but intensified as the temperature dropped below freezing later in the afternoon to near 25 where it remained during the storm.

There was some light snow last Thursday. Skies remained mostly cloudy through yesterday with some periods of clearing. Saturday night and early Sunday rain amounted to .85 inch. All told, last week's rain and snow amounted to over half the month's total precipitation.

Daytime high temperatures averaged 48 degrees or 12 degrees below the normal. Nighttime temperatures averaged 30 degrees or 4 below the normal.

Many cars became stuck along the secondary roads, since a lot of car owners had already taken off their snow treads.

Deer Park firemen answered an alarm to the two-story home of Richard Durst, about 10:30 p. m. It was the former Albert Baker farm home and was in the process of being remodeled by Mr. Durst. The interior of the home was gutted. Deer Park responded with three pieces of equipment and asked for standby assistance from the Oakland department.

In the meantime, also about 10:30 the Oakland firemen received a call to the home of James White on route 560, occupied by Clarence Stemple. There was only slight loss to the residence. Firemen said the blaze was due to a faulty ring in the flue. Firemen from each department were able to return to their fire halls before midnight.

It's Academic To Be Theme Of Southern PTA

The fifth meeting of the Southern High School PTA will be held Monday, April 16 at 7:30 p. m. in the catetorium. The program will be a staged "It's Academic" quiz show. Ms. Sylvia Rowe, assistant producer of the show telecast on station WBAL in Baltimore, will serve as moderator.

From 18 semifinalists, six students will be chosen to represent Southern next fall in Baltimore. Three finalists and three alternates will be selected.

Since Garrett County does not receive WBAL telecasts, parents and interested persons are urged to attend the program.

The eighteen semifinalists competing will be Tom Swiger, Don Burton, Susan Plank, Robin Ravenscroft, Martha Sherwood, Lou Ann Holland, Robin Rodeheaver, Barry Swentzer, Mike Pendergast, Ann Carroll, Mike Renshaw, Paula Bittinger, John Tasker, Dave Naylor, Larry Groves, Nina Bishoff, Ed Henn, and Dave Sharps.

Nine semifinalists will compete Monday afternoon during an assembly for tenth and 11th graders, and the remaining nine will compete during the PTA program.

Last fall, Southern's team, Barbara Leighton, Jeanne Nichols, and Mon Cvetnik, placed second in their televized competition against two other schools.

On each "It's Academic" show, Baltimore area high schools compete for Giant Food scholarship grants. Grants of $100 to $1,000 are awarded throughout the season to participating schools.

This quiz show is similar to the high school and junior high quiz shows telecast in this area. It tests the students' quick recognition and recall of information.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Then the angel spoke to the women, "Don't be frightened!" he said. "I know you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified, but he isn't here! For he has come back to life again, just as he said he would. Come in and see where his body was lying . . . And now, go quickly and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead, and that he is going to Galilee to meet them there. That is my message to them." The women ran from the tomb, badly frightened, but also filled with joy, and rushed to find the disciples to give them the angel's message.

Wilson-Bolden Steer Community College Measure

After turning back amendments Senator William A Wilson (R-Garrett and Allegany counties) and Delegate DeCorsey Bolden (R-Garrett Co) successfully steered SB 818 through both houses. This bill, introduced by two Eastern Shore senators, refers to only those Community Colleges with less than 500 full time equivalent students.

The bill increases the maximum dollar amount from $875 to $1100 payable by the State to the college for each full time equivalent student, which means an increase to Garrett Community College of about $35,000, Bolden stated.

Also included in the bill is a decrease of 5 percent on tuition for the student from 22 percent to 17 percent for his or her share, with the State picking up the tab from 50 percent to 55 percent for its share. This means to the student a saving of about $100 in tuition.

Proclaims Foster Care Week April 8 - 14

The week of April 8 to 14 has been proclaimed National Action for Foster Children week and in recognition of the event the Garrett County Department of Social Services sponsored a dinner for licensed foster parents last Saturday at the Accident fire hall.

Forty-three persons attended, including 28 foster parents, county commissioners, members of the Social Services board staff and their spouses. The above photo shows Wayne Hamilton, president of the county commissioners, presenting a proclamation for Foster Care week to Mr. and Mrs. John Ledden, of Pleasant Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Ledden, newly licensed foster parents, were representing 18 foster families presently licensed in the county. Assisting in the presentation was Commissioner Bernard Guy.

Dr. Shaw To Speak At Frostburg State

Dr Luther G Shaw, President of Garrett Community College, Mellenry will speak on "County College Responds to Challenge" Thursday night, April 12, at 8:15 p. m. in Pullen Auditorium, Frostburg State College. His presentation will be the second in the spring Distinguished Lecturer Series sponsored by the Council of the Allegheneys.

"I am often asked," Dr. Shaw says, "What can a college do in an area such as Garrett County to serve a community of only 21,000 people? And he cites a variety of community service programs presently available.

Two new courses were added to the curriculum this year. "Human Services Technology" is designed to prepare persons to serve as aides—as to teachers, in Head Start and Day Care centers and for work in health and social services. "Environmental Resources Technology" is designed for persons wanting work related to the natural environment as agriculture, agri-business, surveying, forest service and soil conservation.

Dr. Shaw notes, the college Sunday evening concert series, the choir workshop, seminars on estate planning, etc. as cultural and practical programs available.

A resident of Grantsville, Dr. Shaw came to Garrett Community College as president in September 1970. He is a graduate of Glassboro State College and the University of Pennsylvania from which he received his EdD degree in 1968. Since 1962 he has served as Dean of Administration at Glassboro State College and President of Atlantic Community College.

His wife, Dr. Jean Duncan Shaw, is an associate professor on leave from Glassboro State College. They have three children: L. Gardner Shaw, Jr., principal of Salisbury-Elk Lick (Pa.) High School; John, and Patricia.

The public is invited to attend free of charge.

"Sew Men's Wear" Program Feature Easy Techniques

Sewing for the man in your life is just as much fun as sewing for yourself. And just as easy, too!

That's the message from Miss Carolyn Joyner, The ARMO Company's Fashion Sewing Consultant, in her "Sew Men's-wear" program to be presented by Extension Agent, Mrs. Freda S. Denison, Tuesday, May 1, 7:30 p. m. at the Mellenry Fire Hall.

ARMO's new techniques make tailoring a man's jacket a breeze, she pointed out. "You'll learn how to achieve the smooth, crisp look of ready-to-wear with ARMO's new Fusible interfacings, how to turn out a professional-looking lapel roll without pad-stitching, and how to get the fit of a custom-made jacket with ARMO's Jacket Packet of chest pieces, shoulder pads, and sleeve heads.

Miss Joyner uses actual jacket pieces to show, from start to finish, how easy it is to tailor a professional-looking jacket. And if you want to make a pair of pants or a tie to go with his jacket, she'll show you how to do that too! Everyone attending ARMO's program will receive a free 'Sew Men'swear' booklet.

Miss Joyner received her Master of Science degree in Textiles and Clothing from the University of Tennessee, and spent several years with the University of Georgia Extension Service before joining ARMO. Her position with the ARMO Company takes her around the country, where she works with retailers, educators, and consumers. Interested persons are welcome to attend.

Turkeys Described In Publication

Maryland's wild turkeys, big and bearded, are described in a publication available from the Department of Natural Resources.

The folder, published by DNR's Extension Services, tells the story of how the species, once on the verge of extinction in Maryland, made a comeback with the aid of management efforts by DNR's Wildlife Administration.

So successful has been the turkey repopulating program in Maryland that there now are two hunting seasons open to sportsmen in the state, fall and spring. The spring season is set for April 20 through May 5 in seven counties including Garrett.

Hunters need a valid Maryland license and a turkey stamp. If he was fortunate enough to bag a turkey during the fall season, he does not need a new turkey tag. He can design one himself and place it on the bird he bags in the spring. Hunters can hunt the bearded birds only between one-half hour before sunrise to 10 a. m. local times. Male birds only during the spring season.

The Extension Service folder contains a map showing turkey range and hunting areas that are open during the spring season.

The brochure is available free by writing Extension Services, Department of Natural Resources, Taws State Office Building, B-d, Annapolis, Maryland 21401. Copies also are available at the DNR Regional Service Center of LaVale, west of Cumberland.

Amtrak Service To End May 5th

Oakland and the surrounding area will be without rail passenger service as of Saturday, May 5, the National Railroad Passenger Corp (Amtrak) announced last Thursday.

Amtrak said the experimental passenger service, started 19 months ago between Washington and Parkersburg, W. Va., would be stopped because of poor patronage.

In announcing the termination the railroad corporation said that in November, 1971, Cumberland generated a daily average of only 18 passengers eastbound and 15 westbound. Parkersburg produced two passengers a day westbound and four eastbound. A year later the daily average was 10 passengers westbound and 12 eastbound at Cumberland, and three in each direction at Parkersburg. Last February the daily average at Cumberland was 14 westbound and 12 eastbound.

The high-speed Turbo train with a capacity of 144 passengers has a monthly operating cost of some $70,000.

Dr. Leighton Nominated To State Faculty Council

Herbert H. Leighton, M.D. has been nominated to become a member of Council in the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the state of Maryland Dr. Leighton has been serving as a member of the House of Delegates of the Society for many years. Alternate member of the House of Delegates is B. L. Grant, M.D. also an Oakland resident.

The annual general meeting of the Faculty is scheduled for April 25-27.

Assembly Enacts Rent Control Bill

The House of Delegates gave final legislative approval Saturday to a comprehensive rent control bill, apparently making Maryland the first state to enact such a measure since federal controls were lifted earlier this year.

The bill was enacted by a 102-7 vote with no debate and sent to Gov. Marvin Mandel for his signature. Mandel had earlier given the proposal his public support.

Under the measure which would take effect July 1, landlords would be limited to a five percent basic rent increase above the level of January 11, plus an additional amount to cover capital improvements to the property and higher taxes or utility rates.

The one-year bill would roll back any rent increases already imposed in excess of the ceiling. All prices would be pegged to rates charged before controls were lifted January 11 by President Nixon.

Any rent control legislation enacted by either the federal government or any of the state's 24 political subdivisions would supersede the statewide controls.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Questions Milk Prices

Swanton, Md. 21561

Dear Editor:

Everyone who goes to the stores these days knows how fast prices are rising. This week something happened at a grocery store in Oakland, I thought would be of some interest to the men and women who do the grocery shopping and have to pay these high prices.

The cost of a gallon of milk in most grocery stores is $1.13. In this one particular store they too were selling milk for $1.13, until last week when they lowered the price to $.99 a gallon. They had this price on milk for a couple of days, then it was raised back up to $1.13. I asked the manager of this store why he had raised the price back up. He said he was told by the company he bought his milk from, that if he didn't raise his milk back up, that they, the company, would refuse to service his store with milk anymore.

So to this milk company, and all milk companies, I ask these questions. Why can't a store, if it desires to, charge less for milk? Why does this store have to charge a higher price for their milk than they want to? To these questions I think the public deserves an answer, but if the milk company doesn't want to answer these questions through this paper so everyone will know these answers, please call me at this number, 452-3128, and give me an answer because I would really like to know the answers. Thank you.

Senator Beall Protests Plan To Discontinue Trains

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. stated last week that the Department of Transportation, by proposing to eliminate more train service was making it impossible for commuters to use the railroads.

The Maryland senator is protesting plans to discontinue the AMTRAK train between Washington and Parkersburg, W. Va. Points served by the train include Silver Spring, Brunswick, Harpers Ferry, Martinsburg, Cumberland, Keyser and Oakland.

In a letter to Secretary of Transportation Claude S. Brinegar, Senator Beall pointed ont that persons who commute to Washington from outlying areas in Maryland and West Virginia rely heavily on the train.

"I am greatly concerned that while we in the government speak of our interest in keeping automobiles out of the urban areas, we actually make it impossible for the comouter to do otherwise," Senator Beall said.

Senator Beall urged the Department of Transportation to "reconsider this action and, in fact encourage the addition of more commuter trains."

House Committee Buckles Seat Belt Bill 9-7 Friday

The House Committee on Constitutional and Administrative Law voted Friday, April 6, to kill the bill which would have required most Maryland drivers and their front seat passengers to wear seat belts.

On a 9-7 rollcall, the panel agreed not to send the measure to the House floor. The action came with a total lack of debate among the committee members.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Margaret C. Schweinhaut, D-Montgomery county, needed two tries before passing the Senate last month.

It would have required all drivers and front seat passengers to buckle up after July 1 or face paying fines of up to $25.

Most of the opposition to the bill both in the Senate and in the House committee involved two areas, enforceability and possible infringement on personal rights.

Mrs. Schweinhaut called the committee action unfortunate, saying that since the bill's introduction January 10, state police reported that nearly a quarter of the state's highway fatalities might have been prevented with the use of seat belts.

College Professor Gives Book Review

Garrett Community College professor Eugene D. Straub is the author of a book review published in the March issue of "Perspective," a monthly journal devoted to prompt and reliable reviews of new books on government, politics, and international affairs. The book reviewed is titled "The Polaris System Development," written by Professor Harvey Sapolsky of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. Straub's current review is the fifth that has been published in "Perspective." The previous four reviews have dealt with energy policy, national security and governmental management.

An adjunct member of the faculty since the college opened in 1971, Professor Straub had adopted Garrett County as a second home long before that time. He first began camping here in 1956 with his wife and five children. Later, he built a cottage on the lake which the family used during summer vacations. Now he is a permanent Garrett Countian, residing on a farm southeast of Oakland.

During his active career with the government, he was a civilian engineer for the Department of Defense, a Navy lieutenant during World War II, and a specialist in analysis of public policy for the Bureau of the Budget. After retiring from the Executive Office of the President in 1970, Professor Straub decided to move to Garrett County. When asked how he likes living here, he stated, "I love it."

Horsemen Will Show Appalooso Film April 14

There will be no admission charge to see the film, which deals with the Nez Perce Indians, founders of the Appaloosa breed.

A short business meeting will precede the movie.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"As we explore the reaches of space, let us go to the new worlds together—not as new worlds to be conquered, but as a new adventure to be shared.

"America cannot be at its best as it approaches its 200th birthday unless all Americans have the opportunity to be at their best. A free and open American society, one that is true to the ideals of its founders, must give each of its citizens an equal chance at the starting line and an equal opportunity to go as far and as high as his talents and energies will take him.

"I see a new America as we celebrate our 200th anniversary in 1976. I see an America in which we have abolished hunger, provided the means for every family in the Nation to obtain a minimum income, made enormous progress in prividing better housing, faster transportation, improved health, and superior education. I see an America in which we have checked inflation, and waged a winning war against crime.

"I see an America in which we have made great strides in stopping the pollution of our air, cleaning up our water, opening up our parks, continuing to explore in space.

"Most important, I see an America at peace with all the nations of the world. This is not an impossible dream. These goals are all within our reach.

"In times past, our forefathers often had the vision but not the means to achieve such goals. Let it not be recorded that we were the first American generation that had the means but not the vision to make this dream come true."

Easter Cantata Planned At Bear Creek Church

"Behold Your King" is the title of the Easter Cantata that will be presented at the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, Accident, on Palm Sunday evening, April 15, at 7:30.

This portrayal of Holy Week events will be presented through songs and scripture by the senior choir of the Church of the Brethren, Westernport.

Featured throughout the cantata in addition to narration of various portions of scripture, will be solos, duets, men's and women's choruses. The choir is under direction of Ralph Fike and will be accompanied on the piano by Gene Marsh.

The cantata will conclude with a selection based on the title, "Behold Your King."

The public is invited.

Cost Per Pupil In State Increases

Cost per pupil in Maryland public schools tops $1,000 for the first time this school year, a new report of the State Department of Education reveals.

Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh, state superintendent of schools, said the figure was not unexpected. The increase, he said, reflects across-the-board inflationary trends in all categories of expenses, including instructional costs, school maintenance and operation, non-instructional service to students, community services, pupil transportation, and other costs.

The 1973 total is $1,067 per pupil. Comparable figures for 1972 were $928, and for 1971 $913.

Public school enrollments, according to the new publication, "Facts About Maryland Public Education," total 920,896, a one-year drop of just 1,155 pupils across the state, but eleven of the state's 24 public school systems show increases.

The overall decline reflects the state's declining birth rate and shows up in drops of 3 percent in kindergarten enrollments and 2.1 percent in elementary school enrollments. High schools show an actual increase of 2.5 percent.

PREPARING FOR FISHING RODEO—Members of the State Fisheries department were busy Monday of this week planting some 50 large mouth bass in Deep Creek Lake in preparation for the fishing rodeo, soon to be held. Dave Wharton, in charge of warm water fisheries for the department, is shown depositing one of the 12 to 13 inch bass in the McHenry inlet of the lake near Deep Creek Lodge. And catching him in the act is John Marple, who was snapping pictures for the Baltimore Sun. Fish were distributed in various parts of the lake. All are tagged for identification when caught. Mr. Marole said that state officials were netting the early part of the week and brought in a number of walleyes and one identified as a land locked salmon, 17 inches long. — Promotion Council photo.

Reward Offered For Conviction In Man's Murder

A $1,090 reward was deposited in a bank in Canal Fulton near Akron, Ohio, for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of two men who burglarized the home of Harvey C. Hodgson, in that town and shot Mr. Hodgson, who died of the wound two days later.

Hodgson was a son-in-law of C. L. Riley, Oakland, and Mrs. Harriet Riley, Beltsville. Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson were former residents of the area.

The burglary and shooting took place March 28. Mr. Hodgson died in Massillon City hospital of a bullet wound in the head on Friday March 30. He was shot in his bedroom by one of the intruders while his wife, Donna, 29, was being held at gunpoint in the hallway of their home.

The Hodgsons have five children. Mrs. Hodgson told police she heard a noise, and thinking it was one of the children, she went into the hallway to investigate when a gun was stuck in her back. When the gunman asked where the money was, Mrs. Hodgson told him in the bedroom closet. The second man then went into the bedroom and shot Hodgson who was in bed, and took $900 all in $20 bills.

Mr. Hodgson was owner-operator of a mobile blacksmithing and horseshoeing business and since going to Canal Fulton he had been active in community youth and baseball organizations, the Pee Wee football league and was a member of the Presbyterian church.

He is survived by his widow, the former Donna Jean Riley; three daughters, Carla, Judi and Harriet, all of the home; two sons, Riley and John, also at home; his mother, Mrs. Catherine Hodgson, Akron; two brothers and his grandmother.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, April 3. Burial was in Union cemetery at Canal Fulton.

Nixon claims that school mergers have been too drastic.

Hunter Safety Ecology Course To Be Given

A hunter safety-ecology course will be given at Garrett Community College on Thursday evenings beginning April 19th. According to Mr. Paul Frank, assistant professor of science and mathematics who will be teaching the course, the sessions will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will last approximately two hours.

Designed to teach all phases of hunting safety and ecology to hunters and to those who have guns in their homes, the course will consist of three instructional sessions and of four sessions in which guest speakers from the State Department of Natural Resources will talk on forestry and the hunter, fishing with rod and reel, fishing with the bow and bow safety, wildlife and soil conservation, and law enforcement as it affects the hunter. Mr. Frank also hopes to arrange for students in the class to have shooting practice at a local range.

The hunter safety course, originally devised by the National Rifle Association, has been adopted by the state of Maryland and is now being taught throughout the state. For the past several years, the course has been taught in 8th grade science classes in Garrett County schools. The instructor must have state certification to teach the course.

Students who satisfactorily complete the course by passing the final test will receive a certificate of completion and a distinctive patch.

Cheerleaders Win Trophy

The Southern High varsity cheerleaders took first place at a contest held at Cumberland, April 4, that was sponsored by the Salvation Army.

Southern took first, Ridgeley second, and Bishop Walsh received honorable mention. Other schools competing were Northern, Oldtown, and Valley.

Named to the All-Star squad of six were Mary Lynn Gibson, Angie Mattingly, and Robin Ravenscroft. Other members of Southern's squad are Cathy Frakes, Kathy Schmidt, and Paula Skiles. Mary Lynn Gibson, a senior, is captain of the '72-'73 squad. Miss Ducy Snyder is the adviser of the squad.

A large trophy with the squad's names engraved on it, was presented to the group and will be retained by them. Each All-Star member received an individual trophy.

Correction

Susan Eberly, who plays flute in Southern's band, should have been included in a recent article listing those who received a high rating in the regional tryouts. She will compete with others who qualified for state auditions for All-State Band.

Steve Wiley, senior ag student and past president of the Northern FFA, serves as advisor of the new chapter.

Garrett College Drops Doubleheader

Garrett Community College dropped a doubleheader to Howard Community college last Saturday afternoon on the winner's diamond.

Howard copped the opener 1 to 0 despite a one-hit pitching performance by Rich Hoag. Hoag allowed just a single by Davis in the sixth inning, but the base hit was all Howard needed. His hit just eluded a diving try by the Garrett centerfielder and set up the game's only run on a passed ball.

In the nightcap Howard took advantage of 5 Laker errors to top the nine 5 to 1. Barney Teats rapped a pair of hits for Garrett in the second contest.

Face of Christ

In art or sculpture it is called a Christus, an artist's interpretation of Our Lord.

In a passion play the leading role is the Christus . . . again an artist's interpretation.

Through the centuries there have been many faces, many interpretations. Yet all so easily recognizable . . .

. . . Because we know Christ not by sight, but by the qualities of His life for us. We are drawn not to a face but to a heart, a Heart that loved and gave and promised and fulfilled.

However simple or crude someone's sketch of the Master . . . in seeing his Lord we see ours. We are not critics, but believers.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FOR THE WRONG REASONS

Lesson for April 15, 1973

Background Scripture: Zechariah 9:9-10; John 18:33-37; Philippians 2:5-11; Revelation 19:11-16
Devotional Reading: Psalms 93.

The Oberammergau Passion Play begins somewhat deceptively.

First, there is a brief Prologue by the chorus and then two silent tableaux scenes. Following these, however, there hursts forth the dramatic scene, the Palm Sunday processional.

Rev. Althouse

I must confess it caught me off-guard. Suddenly, there is on the vast stage a great crowd of several hundred people shouting and waving palm branches in a great celebration of the entrance of Jesus to the Holy City. Though I have seen many paintings and depictions of this Palm Sunday scene, still the enactment on the stage caught me somewhat unprepared, as if, in a sense, I was experiencing its drama and impact for the first time. I could actually feel the excitement generated by the great throng of people and I could hardly resist being caught up in their joyous mood of celebration.

The beginning, not the ending

Yet, as this great scene unfolded before my eyes, I also had a feeling of irony, for I could not help but remember that this great celebration was the beginning of the Passion of Jesus, not the ending, that after this celebration there would come the heartbreak of Christ's final week. In the midst of this joyous occasion there was the nagging knowledge that Palm Sunday was being celebrated for the wrong reasons.

Palm Sunday, thus, always comes to us with this same paradox. It is one of the most popular days in the church year, always among the top three Sundays in attendence. It is, in many churches, the most exciting of all special days. Yet, at the same time, the excitement of this day is mixed with the sobering realization that the first Palm Sunday was not what it appeared to be. It was a victory march that really wasn't a "victory march." People were happy about something or someone that latter discouraged them.

"Are you the King of the Jews?"

One of the "wrong reasons" for which the people celebrated that day was their false impression of who and what Jesus really was. They welcomed him that day as a king, but the king they thought they were welcoming was not the kind Jesus intended to be. They were so intent on what they wanted from God's Messiah, that they did not stop to find out what kind of Messiah Jesus proposed to be.

"Are you king of the Jews?" Pilate wanted to know. How could Jesus answer that question? Certainly he was King of Israel, but his kingdom was not of this world. He would not mobilize the world's armies, but the hearts of men. His power would not be that of the sword and chariot, but the force of love. He would convert his enemies, not kill them. He would conquer with a cross.

If we, like those first Palm Sunday crowds, will understand that, we can stop celebrating for the wrong reasons and make this day the celebration it should have been and can become.

NO CURE FOR "TAX BITE FEVER"

A very common ailment that almost everybody suffers from at this time of year is "TAX BITE FEVER". It seems to reach its peak in mid-April and then gradually subside. Some people are able to avoid acute symptoms of this chronic disease by making estimated payments, taking out extra withholding and by asking their physicians for something to keep them calm.

At present there is no cure for "TAX BITE FEVER" and there is none foreseen in the near future. Fortunately it is relatively short in duration and has no real lasting effect. Also there are many everyday medicines that can help with relieving symptoms, such as aspirin for headaches, antacids for upset stomachs and eyedroos for redness and eyestrain.

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request informa- tylpical of the kind asked of me tion or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me.

Does the government publish any literature on home landscaping?

The Interior Department recently published an illustrated book explaining the principles of effective landscaping and outlining examples for use in actual design planning. "Plants, People and Environmental Quality" is available for $4 from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20102.

What percent of the U. S. energy consumption is derived from imported fuels?

Last year, energy produced from imported fuels accounted for 12 percent of total U. S. energy consumption—an increase of 25 percent over 1971.

What is the purpose of the House Select Committee on the Cost and Availablity of Food?

The proposed committee would investigate all matters influencing the high cost of food to the American consumer and make specific recommendations for long-term relief from such prices. The bill to create this committee is currently pending before the House.

Where can I obtain "topo" maps for hiking?

Information on topographic maps is available from the U. S. Geological Survey, 1200 South East Street, Arlington, Virginia 22202.

What are the functions of the House Rules Committee?

This committee considers bills that some other committee has reported. Most of its work is to decide whether or not to grant special consideration for bills which otherwise might be long delayed on the various calendars of the House. When the Rules Committee reports a special rule to the House, it is usually adopted. When it is adopted, the bill to which it refers is considered under the provisions of that rule.

My husband worked in the coal mines for 28 years until he got so sick he had to stop. Can you help us because we can't seem to get black lung benefits?

As a result of your letter, my office contacted the Social Security Administration in Baltimore. As you are now aware, your husband's black lung claim has been approved and you will be receiving monthly checks beginning in April. Citizens experiencing similiar difficulty in receiving government benefits justly due them should contact my office in Washington for assistance.

SANG RUN

There will be Sunday School at the Sang Run Chapel beginning at 10 a.m. Rev. Eugene Thayer will be the speaker at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Fred Hoye visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoye Sunday.

Food Buying Tips For Ham

Choosing a ham can be complicated because of the variety of names used to describe it. Cooking temperatures apply to hams that must be cooked before eating. If the ham is labeled "fully cooked," disregard the temperatures.

Butt half—The upper, meatier half of the whole ham. No slices removed. Cook to 160 degrees F. internal temperature.

Butt end—The upper, meatier half of the whole ham from which several slices have been removed for separate sale. Sometimes called butt portion. Cook to 160 degrees F. internal temperature.

Butt portion—Often used to describe a butt end.

Calla (or callie)—A shoulder cut of pork which has been cured and smoked in the same manner as ham. Cook to 170 degrees F. internal temperature.

Center cut ham slices—Oval shaped ham slices cut from the center of the ham and containing small, round bone. Sometimes called ham steaks. Broil in oven or pan for 13-14 minutes if slices are ¾ inch thick; for 18-20 minutes if slices are 1 inch thick.

Cooked ham—A term usually seen on packages of thinly sliced, boneless, fully-cooked ham that has been cured but not smoked. Good for sandwiches.

Country ham—A ham that has been produced by using a dry cure, slow smoking and a long drying process. These hams are heavily salted and may require soaking before cooking. May be called Virginia, Georgia, Kentucky or Tennessee ham depending on the state in which it was produced. Cook to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F.

Nixon has asked for sweeping changes in the U. S. criminal code as some laws date back to 1790s.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Food Price War Has Many Fronts

How I wish that Will Rogers were alive today so that he could revise his famous saying that all he knew was what he read in the papers. Because a lot of us have known for a long time what the papers and magazines are now concentrating on—that food prices are going up and up and up.

I could have told them this from my own trips to the grocery store and also from the great volume of mail I have been receiving

A postcard from a woman in Kingsville, Maryland really summed it all up. It began "HELP," and it continued "we housewives want some control over the spiraling cost of meat. There are six in my family. Have you been to the market lately?"

Yes, I have been to the market lately and I know exactly what she is talking about.

The solutions aren't easy, however, because our food bills are subject to pressures from around the world.

I know that American farmers have been doing one of the world's greatest jobs of producing more food by less input of manpower and expense. It is a miracle of productivity. But against this higher productivity, we have to measure some of the adverse factors.

For example, the basic instrument of farming is land and in almost every part of the United States the price of land is very much higher than it was even ten years ago. The cost of machinery is up; taxes on land and machinery are up.

Also, the cost of feed for livestock is up, and in this case there is a special factor. Feed is usually in the form of grain and there is a world-wide grain shortage. Russia, India and China all face grain shortages.

This means that world-wide grain prices are up, independent of what kind of controls we may impose within the United States.

Consider this, the same pound of steak costing $1.69 in America costs $1.89 in London and $2.79 in Rome. This means that the meat producer in the United States, not the Argentine or in Canada has a choice of markets in which he is going to sell, and a chance to make a greater profit by sending his meat to Europe than he does selling it in the United States. The devaluation of the dollar and the fluctuating monetary exchange in the world are further impetus to this particular movement in our economy

The government is already moving. The President has put a ceiling on meat prices. He has also recommended to the Congress that we phase out farm subsidies, and I have been for this for years. One of the results of this will be to release millions of acres of land for increased production and I think this is right.

Those corrective measures are going to take time. Meanwhile we will need the concentrated attention of the American people, both housewives and businessmen, to try to make our system work better. We must try to see that every American is given the opportunity to achieve and maintain a decent standard of living while we get spiraling costs under control.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

A weekend employee of a large San Francisco orphanage was delighted to hear that one of her summer weekends would be free. The occasion was delightful too. All of the children were being "adopted for a weekend" by relatives and interested families. The children would have three days in a new, hopefully enjoyable, environment.

As the weekend drew nearer, the excitement climbed to great heights. All but the littlest children in the orphanage were washing, ironing, and packing their clothes. But, to this one employee's alarm, two young teenage girls were planning to stay at the home that weekend. "How come?"

No invitations had been received from their relatives and no family wanted to entertain older girls. Also, both girls were quite capable of mischief and carried reputations for being "hard to handle." Yet, to the worker, it still didn't seem fair.

About two weeks before the special weekend, permission was received for the two teenage girls to accompany this particular employee on a trip to Yosemite, one of the most spectacular parks in the state. The young woman and the two girls would camp in the park and spend the weekend hiking, climbing, and sightseeing. The agenda seemed perfect.

Yet, how far from perfect the weekend turned out! Neither girl was ready to share the camping responsibilities. Even cooking on an open fire took place only after loud arguments were debated over who had to do what. Cooperation was seldom seen and the two girls fought with each other. The grandeur of the beautiful Yosemite canyon was almost ignored and the city-reared girls bitterly complained about the poor quality of music on their transistor radio. The mountains were too high and they were too far in the wilderness to get a good station! The grass was itchy. The sleeping bags were uncomfortable. The hiking too hard. The walking made them too tired. The single joy of the entire weekend was the nightly parade of brown bears.

Exhausted by the tension of the weekend, the young leader was relieved when the girls were safely back at the orphanage. What had gone wrong? "How come?"

It did not take a professional to analyze the situation. Very clearly, the young orphaned girls had never been taught how to appreciate the beauty of nature. Even the poorest campers, the most indoorsy people, flock to the national parks and are overwhelmed at the sights, but somewhere in their background even they had been taught to appreciate the world around them.

Christian men and women have learned the lesson of appreciation in their religious tradition. There too, love of God and love of mankind are beautiful religious values which need to be taught to be appreciated. The unloved, or those who feel unloved, need to be led like orphaned children into a new world of caring and sharing and redemption. Shouldn't that make those of us who call ourselves Christian more aware of the unloved, and more willing to teach them what we have learned from God in Jesus Christ? It should also make us thankful that we have been told, that we have been taught. And it should make us patient teachers.

Rev. Mrs. Brenda Keel Springer, Allegheny Parish Presbyterian Churches.

No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence.
For the dear one we loved so well.

May Fellowship Day is one of three special days celebrated in over 2,000 local units of Church Women United, a group of women of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox faiths who emphasize the creative and healing relationship among people in every community.

Two Are Slightly Injured In Wrecks

Accidents in the northern and central parts of the county last week caused slight injuries to two persons. There were no apparent injuries in three other mishaps.

Barry James Linn, 27, of Morgantown, W. Va., sustained slight injuries in a one-car mishap about 1 a. m. March 31 on old 219 in the Melfenny area. He was traveling south on Old 219 and met an unknown vehicle coming north which had crossed the southbound lane. Linn in attempting to avoid hitting the vehicle, struck a road sign and came to rest against a tree. Tfc. Skidmore made no charges.

Emma I. Spoerlein, 78, of Accident was apparently only slightly injured in a two-car mishap on Rt. 40 near U. S. Route 219 north the afternoon of April 3. Dorothy V. Malone, Friendsville, was backing out of a driveway onto Route 40 to go east. Emma Spoerlein traveling west on Rt. 40 came over the crest of a hill and noticed the Malone car in the road. Emma Spoerlein applied her brakes, skidded into the left lane and hit the Malone car. Trooper Ronald C. Gregg charged Dorothy Malone with failing to yield the right-of-way.

Thomas J. Kline, Roslyn, Pa., was traveling east on U. S. Route 50 about a mile and a half west of Red House the morning of April 1. He stated a small wild animal started to cross the road from the left. Kline lost control of his car, as he went to the left. The car went back to the right, struck three fence posts and a speed limit sign, then went down over an embankment. Trooper Dale K. Williams charged Kline with negligent driving.

William O. Friend, Friendsville, was making a turn into a store parking lot in Friendsville about 1 p. m. April 2. The front wheel of the car went over a culvert grating. As it did the grating flew up at one end damaging the motor and transmission of the car.

James H. Wolfe, Kingwood, W. Va. was driving north on the Mattingly Hill road and had passed the Hoyes-Sang Run road the afternoon of April 2. He then stopped and was backing up to make a right turn into the road he had passed. Shirley Ann Frazee, Friendsville, driving south was not noticed by Wolfe who backed into her car. Tpr. Georg charged Wolfe with improper backing.

vs.
THE GARRETT COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR ASSOCIATION, INCORPORATED
Oakland, Maryland,
a former corporation of the State of Maryland, its successors, assigns and shareholders;
THE UNKNOWN HEIRS AND DEVISEES OF GEORGE GEISSMAN, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased;
All Persons having an interest In the matter of George Geissman, which is Docket 1, Bankruptcy No. 309 in the United States District Court for the District of Maryland; and
All Persons having or claiming to have any interest in the property described as Lot No. 7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision located in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, which was conveyed to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association, Incorporated, by George Geissman, widower, by deed dated May 3, 1923, and recorded in Liber E.Z.T., No. 84, Folio 400, of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland
NO. 6315 EQUITY

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 3rd day of April, 1973, a Bill to Quiet Title was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by William E. Naylor against the Garrett County Fair Association and others. That the Bill to Quiet Title alleges that on April 27, 1922, George Geissman, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased, conveyed to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association Incorporated, a then Maryland corporation, a 28 acre parcel of ground, collectively referred to as "The Fair Grounds" which included, inter alia, a 2.3 acre parcel of land known as Lot #7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision as shown in Plat Book E.Z.T. No. 1, Folio 64, of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. That part of the purchase price of the lands conveyed was represented by two $2,000.00 promissory notes from the said Association to the said George Geissman and that the said George Geissman reserved a Vendor's Lien to insure payment of the said notes. That there was no conveyance by the said Association of the said Lot No. 7

That by mesne conveyance and devises, title to all of the 28 acre parcel, known as "The Fair Grounds", except for the said Lot No. 7, vested in William E. Naylor. That the said William E. Naylor and his ancestors in title, have, as part of "The Fair Grounds," had under fence and notoriously, hostilely and openly occupied, for a period of over twenty years, the said Lot No. 7 of the Bradley Farm Subdivision.

That the record of Vendor's Liens in the Office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, does not show any payment of the two $2,000.00 notes by the said Association to the said George Geissman.

That on September 24, 1927, the said George Geissman was discharged in bankruptcy in Docket 1, No. 309 Bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court for the District of Maryland. That the records of the said bankruptcy proceedings do not show the said two $2,000.00 promissory notes as an asset of the said George Geissman.

That there is no administration of the Estate of the said George Geissman, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased, in the Orphans' Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

The Bill prays that the Court declare that fee simple title to the said Lot No. 7 is vested in William E. Naylor, that the said Vendor's Lien be foreclosed by these proceedings and for such other relief as the nature of the case may require.

WHEREAS, it is Ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 3rd day of April, 1973, that the complainants cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of April, 1973, giving notice to the Garrett County Agricultural Fair Association, et al, of the substance of the Bill to Quiet Title and warning all or any of them to show cause, if any there be, on or before the 28th day of May, 1973, why the relief prayed should not be granted

Of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland

Love One Another . . .

The love of Christ is truly awesome. It encompasses everyone and everything. His is perfect patience, perfect understanding, perfect trust. This message appearing on a Holy Thursday church bulletin, preceding the Easter message of "He Is Risen!"

The bulletin continues: "Is it possible for any of us to reach a level of love comparable with that of Christ? It would seem that we make very little attempt. And yet, Christ not only desires that we follow His example of love, He commands it, and He makes his command the most important, 'Love one another, even as I have loved you.'

"We're lucky that He didn't command, 'Die for one another, even as I have died for you.' He didn't even say, 'Suffer for one another, even as I have suffered for you.' Just 'Love one another.'

"Somehow it still seems like a difficult task. But we must keep on trying. The opportunity is always present. Not too many of us are actually given opportunities to suffer and die for others. And perhaps few of us would accept such opportunities if they were presented. But every single day, every moment, we can be imitating Christ, if we really want to.

"It may mean changing some of our habits and attitudes, and perhaps the change will have to come slowly. We may never achieve the total love which Christ possesses, and yet He would not ask the impossible of us. We can start with the example of Christ's humility, and service and work from there."

Adm. McCain Is Lincoln Day Dinner Speaker

Says Russia's Expansion Program Threat To U.S.

Soviet Russia's expansion program and the threat it presented to the United States was pointed out last Saturday evening at the first Lincoln Day dinner held in the Southern High cafetorium for over 250 persons.

The speaker was Admiral John S. McCain, Jr., retired naval executive. Prior to his retirement Admiral McCain was head of the Atlantic and then head of the Pacific fleet, and spoke with authority on what he considered the danger spots in the world today.

He listed them as Eastern Europe, Middle East, Pakistan and India area, Southeast Asia, and the North Korean area.

The one bright spot in the world-wide picture was the fact that Soviet Russia, North Korea, Red China and North Vietnam had a hard time getting along together. "If they could get along with each other," the admiral said, "The United States would be in grave trouble."

He pointed out how the Soviets had expanded their power in the Mediterranean area, from 30 to some 50 ships, in the Indian ocean, from 3 to some 28 vessels, in the western Pacific in Cuba and around the Suez canal. He also cited their great increase in the merchant fleet of Russia, and the spread of military advisors in many areas. He called them "experts in propaganda."

He also pointed out that the communist aggression was never at a standstill and he stressed the fact that grave dangers faced the United States. He urged that the United States remain strong militarily.

Tom Butscher, Oakland, master of ceremonies, gave the welcome message and Jane Hanks, president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, led the group in the pledge to the flag. The Rev. John A. Grant provided the invocation and benediction.

The dinner was sponsored by the Republican State Central committee and the two Republican Women's clubs of the county. U. S. Senators J. Glenn Beall and Charles McC. Mathias, sent regrets. State Senators William Wilson and Edward J. Mason attended along with Delegate DeCorsey Bolden.

The steak dinner cost $6 per plate and in a way was a fund raising dinner to provide election money for the Republican committee for future campaigns.

Health Planning Receives $150,606 In Federal Funds

The Health Services Advisory Committee of the Health Planning Council of Appalachia Maryland, Inc. has approved recommendations to accept two Garrett County projects.

Project 1, the Ambulatory Transportation System, would set up two buses to bring people from outer areas of the county in for medical assistance. These buses would operate on a regular schedule and patrons would be charged a nominal sum to ride the buses.

Another part of the project would provide a vehicle to take needy persons to distant hospitals, such as West Virginia University Medical Center, the two Cumberland hospitals, even Johns Hopkins center.

The other project is concerned with the Garrett County ambulance and rescue vehicles, and would provide new vehicles for both the Northern and Southern Garrett County rescue squads. If finally approved the proposal would obtain the new vehicles this summer.

Col. J. Harg Jackson, new president of the Health Planning council, noted that committee approval does not necessarily mean funds will be forthcoming from the Appalachian Regional Commission office in Washington, D. C.

After the committee reviews and approves a project, it is then recommended to the Executive council. If it is approved there, it is forwarded to the state office of Appalachian funding and to the Health, Educational and Welfare regional office, Philadelphia. If the project obtains their approval, it will go to the Appalachian Regional Commission in Washington for final approval and funding.

Byron said that $18 billion of the $46 billion was past due from World War I.

October elections have been proposed in the U. S. Congress instead of November.

Goldstein Is Speaker For Fire Company

Termed Firemen A Priceless Asset To Any Community

Being a volunteer fireman is a priceless asset for any community, Oakland volunteer firemen were told last night by Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller of Maryland, at the organization's annual anniversary dinner and Ladies' Night held at the American Legion home.

"The Volunteer is a very special sort of person. Often he puts his own personal safety on the line in behalf of his neighbors."

The word 'Volunteer' holds more significance that the dictionary interpretation implies. How can you simplify the long hours of hard, dangerous work in surpressing the hot flames of disaster? How can you simplify the discouragement and dismay that all volunteer firemen have faced at one time or another, only to keep going and get the job done?"

"Your watchword is service to your fellow man," firemen were told.

He noted it was a real tribute to the 400 firemen of Garrett county that there was no need for paid fire fighters, declaring

Harold Hebb who escaped with Harry Wrightsman had been at large, as efforts to find him were fruitless. Wrightsman had been found the day following the escape.

It had been reported but not confirmed that Hebb had been within 50 miles of Canada when he called an uncle living in Ohio. The uncle, reportedly, picked him up and returned him to this area.

School Board Adopts 1974 Budget Request

Budget Request Over Half Million More Than Last Year

At the regular Thursday meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education the Board adopted a total budget request of $5,409,772. This total budget request is $511,806 more than the current operating budget. The major reasons for the budget request being higher were tested by Dr. William Buser county superintendent, are: (1) additional professional and supporting services personnel, (2) inflationary costs of supplies and materials, (3) a more uniform and improved salary schedule for clerical, custodial, maintenance, cafeteria employees, as well as aides and substitute teachers, (4) increased operation and maintenance expenses, and (5) the negotiated agreement with the Garrett County Teachers' Association.

Dr. Buser indicated that with the uncertainty of federal funds for current programs and the State's indication that they will not fund transportation for students living within walking distance of schools, it will be necessary to request considerably more funds from the county government this year.

The school board also approved design development documents for the Broadford Elementary and Southern Middle schools. The tentative schedule for ground breaking for these schools is early spring of 1974.

A school calendar for 1973-74 was adopted establishing Thursday, September 6, as the open-

Any male or female student who plans to obtain further education, whether from a vocational or technical school, or from a college, is eligible for $500 financial aid so that he may attend the school of his choice.

If the Junior Woman's committee feels that a student is deserving, he could receive help until graduation. Even if he fails to complete his education, the funds need not be repaid.

The scholarship will be determined partly on the basis of financial need. Scholarship guidelines state that to be eligible, a student must have been a Garrett County resident for one year or more, and be a graduate or prospective graduate of a county high school.

Applications must have three signatures. Relatives' signatures are not permitted, and only one name should be that of a teacher.

Further details and application forms are available from guidance counselors at either Northern or Southern High School, or from Mrs. Edward Green, 2507 Shady Lane, Mt. Lake Park.

Applications should be turned in to the counselors by May 14 so that the Junior Woman's group may select and announce the winner the week of May 19.

RUSTY EVANS

This week our column is featuring Rusty Evans. Rusty has been working in the meat department at Foodland for over 5 years.

Some of you probably haven't seen much of Rusty because he spends most of his working day in the meat cooler. Rusty has the responsibility of making all the ground meats for Foodland, and this is a very important responsibility. The grinder which is used in making the ground beef and sausage is kept in the cooler at 36 degrees to insure that you will receive the freshest product possible.

Ground beef is the main item in any meat department. That is why we are so fortunate to have Rusty to take charge of all ground beef. He feels that it is his duty to you, the customer, to give you the best possible product. Rusty sees to it, that only good quality beef is used in the thousands of pounds of ground beef he makes each week. To be able to perform well at any job, you must take pride in your work. Rusty takes extreme pride in the finished product he offers to the customers. Rusty also makes the ham, cheese and chicken salads which are sold in the meat case.

Visitors to our store from other supermarkets, as well as many customers, have often commented on the excellent appearance, quality, and consistency of all the ground meats we sell at Oakland Foodland. Rusty Evans is responsible for this and we're very proud of him. Rusty is well liked and respected by all his fellow employees.

Rusty and his wife Gladys, live on Route 39 just outside Oakland. In his spare time he loves to hunt and fish. Rusty also takes great pride in raising a fine garden each summer.

A Sequence of Two Accidents Injures Two Saturday

A sequence of accidents which occurred on Fingerboard road and the Herrington Manor road resulted in minor injury to two persons and total loss of both cars last Saturday just before 8 p. m.

Harold D. DeWitt, RD 1, Oakland, was slightly injured but declined treatment at the scene of the accident. The car was totaled. DeWitt was traveling east on Fingerboard road near the intersection with Tomar drive when his car went off the road and hit a tree stump. As a result of the accident the Oakland Volunteer Fire Co. was called to the scene, apparently because of leaking gas. Tfc. Robert E. Friend charged DeWitt with operating without a valid driver's license.

John Savage, Oakland, a member of the Fire Co. was following the fire truck west to the wreck on Fingerboard road. As he was crossing the River Bridge on Herrington Manor road, tire or wheel trouble developed causing the wheel to come off and wreck the car. Savage was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He sustained cuts and bruises with a few stitches in his mouth.

The second wreck was not investigated as Trooper Friend, being the only trooper on duty, remained at the scene of the first wreck.

William Carlson, Accident; Mrs. Phyllis Trickett, Oakland; Thomas Butscher, Oakland; Mrs. Phyllis Bender, Grantsville; Mrs. Barbara Swayne, Bloomington; Mrs. Mary Ellen Harman, Accident; Mr. Henry Yoder, Grantsville; Mrs. Katherine Eggers, Oakland; Paul Frank, Accident; Homer Mellott, Swallow Falls; Mrs. Carma White, Kitzmiller.

William Goldsborough, President, Mrs. Diane Thayer, Vice-President, Robert Diehl, Dr. Robert Gibson, Herbert Harman, Albert Ringer, and Dr. William Buser will attend an educational meeting on April 24, in Hagerstown, of all school board members in Region 1. The meeting has been designed to give local school boards an opportunity to strengthen their working relationship with the State Board of Education. Among items for discussion are: visitorial powers of the State Board; non-tenure, tenure teacher hearings; transportation of students with hazardous walking conditions, and the need for a Regional Office of the State Department of Education in Western Maryland.

THIS SEQUENCE OF ACCIDENTS OCCURRED SATURDAY. The top one occurred about 7:35 p.m. as Harold D. DeWitt was traveling east on Fingerboard road. The car ran off the road and hit a tree stump. DeWitt was slightly injured but refused treatment. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Comoany was called to the scene because of apparent gasoline spillage. In the second (bottom) wreck, John Savage, a member of the fire company, was following the fire truck when tire or wheel trouble developed, causing the car to hit the bridge. Savage was treated and released from the hospital. His personal loss amounted to nearly $1,500 for the demolished car. Commenting later, Savage said, "This is part of being a volunteer fireman, and I'd do it again, just like any other fireman."

Health Advisory Committee Okays Two Local Projects

Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. and Charles McC. Mathias announced that the Health Planning Council of Appalachian Maryland, Inc. has received $150,606 in federal funds to continue comprehensive health planning for Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

The two Maryland senators said the grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission will be matched by $49,930 from local sources.

The funds will be used to maintain appropriate staff and facilities to carry out the Council's comprehensive health planning duties and to establish projects in ambulatory health care, environmental health, mental health and health manpower.

Funding for the council is unique in that it is the only health council in the state to receive Appalachia funds.

Friendsville Dentistry Service Begins Friday, April 6

For the first time in many years the Friendsville area communities have the services of a dentist. Dr. Ronald Tilgner began his practice in Friendsville on April 6 after talking and planning with the Friendsville area health committee and the county health department. For his first day he had eight patients.

Now he has scheduled appointments on Fridays and Saturdays of each week In May he plans to be in his office three days per week and by June or July possibly be in full time practice.

Charley Miller, chairman of the area health committee, emphasized it seeks to serve people of districts 2, 5 and 6 and nearby areas of Pennsylvania and West Virginia

Dr. Tilgner, in deciding to practice here, said he was not new to the area, having spent parts of several summers at Mill Run, near Selbysport. To make space available the County Health department made arrangements to move to other quarters within the center to accommodate Dr. Tilgner. Charles Ross agreed to rent a portion of the center directly to the doctor

Dr. Tilgner praised the community spirit and efforts of the community to provide quality health care. He was graduated from Howard County Senior high in 1961, received his BA degree from Bridgewater college in 1968. In June, 1972, he was graduated from the University of Maryland Dental school with a doctor of dental surgery degree. He presently is practicing general dentistry in Manchester.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor

The Federal Government every year gives away billions of dollars in federal aid. Most of these taxpayers' dollars have gone to Communist and Socialist regimes. And despite any clamor to the contrary, these give-aways are growing steadily greater.

Now proposals are being made to give $3.5 billion to help "re-build" Communist North Vietnam. Such aid to an enemy that killed, maimed, and tortured thousands of Americans is outrageous. I believe that every American citizen should write or contact his or her Congressman or Senator and let them know of their opposition of giving such aid

Sincerely yours

ACC Coed Found Dead Near Ridgeley

The body of a 21-year-old Allegany Community College girl was found near Ridgeley early Tuesday, and a 21-year-old Pennsylvania drifter is being held in connection with her murder.

Marilyn Kay Thomas had been reported missing Monday night by her three roommates, who attend dental hygiene classes with her at the Cumberland school.

Sherman P. Arthur is being held in the Mineral county Jail at Keyser and is expected to be charged with murder in the apparent strangulation of the coed. He allegedly had driven her car to Hollidaysburg, Pa. before surrendering to police there.

Arthur reportedly told Pennsylvania State Police that he had left his girl friend hurt in the woods in the Ridgeley area and had covered her with leaves so she wouldn't get cold or wet.

Preliminary reports indicate Miss Thomas was strangled.

IS YOUR HOME A "HALFWAY HOUSE"?

If your house was built in 1964, it would probably cost 50% more to build the same house today. So it's important for you to watch property values carefully to make sure your insurance stays current with these increasing costs.

We can help you find out if you own a "Halfway House". We'll give you a copy of the Dwelling Approximator, a simple folder that will help you determine the approximate replacement value of your home. Then, we'll review your present home insurance with you to help you determine whether it gives you adequate protection.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Last January the great missionary, pastor, and evangelist, Dr. E. Stanley Jones died. He wrote many best-selling books. He was a missionary to the outcastes and lowest castes of India, and once refused election to the Methodist episcopacy. Mrs. Indira Gandhi, India's current prime minister, once said, "When I think of Christianity I think of E. Stanley Jones . . . ."

E. Stanley Jones was a master of practical Christianity or everyday, down-to-earth, Christian living. He wrote much about the necessity of having the "Quiet Time" each day, as a time set aside for prayer, Bible reading, and meditation or listening to God.

In one of his books, The Way to Power and Poise, he tells of this experience in his beloved India.

After an hour of prayer I went to the meeting place by the lakeside at Sat Tal in the Himalayas to give an address. I was seated on a raised platform of stones, over which pine needles had been placed to make a cushion. As is the custom in India, I left my sandals below, and sat barefoot, and talked on this theme—the way to power and poise. I felt something cold going over my foot, and there amidst the pine needles a snake was crawling across my foot. And Indian snakes usually are deadly! I was surprised at my own calm and poise as I let it crawl across my foot and continued my talk to the end without acquainting the audience with what had happened. I am not naturally poised— I'm high-strung, but an unutterable Quiet took possession of me as a result, I believe, of the Prayer Hour.

Let me share with you the suggestions of this great Christian of our time concerning the Quiet Time:

1. Decide on the time you ought and can give to the Quiet Time. Hold to it. Don't make it a matter of debate each day. Pray by the clock whether you feel like it or not. Organize the day around the Quiet Time.

2. Come to it with expectancy —this is faith directed toward your Resources.

3. Before you pray, get your thought and affections directed by the Word of God.

4. Through the reading of the Word take the attitude of lowly listening.

5. Have a pen or pencil ready to write down what comes.

6. Let your mind circle around some verse that strikes you.

7. After you have read, relax and say, "Father, what have you to say to me?"

8. Then you say to God what you have to say. (Your prayers have now been cleansed and directed by the steps taken so far.)

9. After you have said what you have to say, surrender it into the hands of God.

10. Thank Him for the answer, whatever the answer may be.

11. If the mind wanders, make the thing to which the mind wanders an object of prayer or a means of prayer.

12. Make the Quiet Time occupy the center of the day—the Isle of Quiet Within.

13. That center of Quiet becomes the center of activity for the day.

These are helpful suggestions for our spiritual growth at this glorious season of Easter.

Eliminations In "It's Academic" Held At P.T.A.

Final eliminations for the "It's Academic" quiz team were held Monday evening, April 16, at the monthly P.T.A. meeting and Monday afternoon at a special assembly, held for tenth and eleventh grade students.

Seven students, six juniors and one sophomore, qualifed for the team. Don Burton, Robin Rodcheaver, Barry Sweitzer, Larry Groves, Tom Swiger, and John Tasker compiled the most points individually in the finals and won the right to represent Southern on the TV program on station WBAL next fall in Baltimore.

Four eliminations have been held over a period of two months. It began with approximately seventy students. The field was narrowed each time until eighteen contestants were remaining. Ms Sylvia Rowe, a representative of WBAL TV, came to quiz the remaining students in the final rounds of the contest.

In the past two years when Southern competed, the eliminations were held in Baltimore. Fifty or so students were chosen by their advisors and sent to Baltimore for narrowing the group to six. Without any practice in quiz show procedures, the students were under a great deal of pressure.

Next fall they will compete with two other schools. The winning school will continue competing until there is one winner. There will be money given to the winning school at each level of competition to be used by the school as it sees fit for scholarships.

Brighten The Holidays With Oranges

Make your holiday bright with oranges, now when they're plentiful, suggests the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to food shoppers preparing fur Passover and Easter.

The festive meal for both these great and meaningful religious holidays of early Spring calls for special delicacies and colorful decor. Make it a setting for a bowlful of fresh oranges, and for orange-enriched dishes of many kinds.

Since Passover and Easter will be partially overlapping, you can expect much hustle and bustle at the food stores, so be sure to shop for your oranges with care, selecting those of good quality. Buy oranges for eating out-of-hand and oranges for juice, and mix the varieties to get a broader range of taste sensation.

Serve sliced and segmented oranges for a breakfast fruit or for dessert and snack times. Include them also in fruit salads, or serve as a garnish with poultry, eggs, or ham, or in an orange custard tart or orange shortcake.

Use orange juice for an orange-glazed duckling or turkey for a splendid Passover main dish, or for an orange-glazed ham for a sumptuous Easter entree.

Orange enriched cakes, pastries and cookies have a wonderful aroma and flavor. In fact, oranges can be regarded as an all-purpose fruit, good to eat and good for you, because it's high in the important nutrient, vitamin C, according to Mrs. Freda S. Denison, Extension Agent.

Here's an excellent FRUIT PUNCH to serve with your holiday meal ur for a huliday "at home" reception:

3 quarts unsweetened pineapple juice juice of 8 oranges
2 cups sugar
4 quarts dry ginger ale
1 pint fresh strawberries, quartered juice of 8 lemons juice of 3 limes
1 cup mint leaves
2 quarts plain soda water

TO PREPARE: Combine fruit juices, sugar and mint leaves. Chill thoroughly. Just befure serving, add ginger ale, soda water and strawherries. Pour over cake of ice in punch bowl. Float thin slices uf lemon and lime. Serves 35.

SUNNYSIDE UNDERWOOD

Mrs. Josephine Ladd and sun, Allen, Shepherdstown, W. Va., were weekend guests of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Effie Stahl. They all spent the afternoon on Sunday visiting Mrs. Stahl's sister, Mrs. Merle Stemple, Stemple Ridge.

Several families of the Underwood section saw the Easter play, "The Three Nails," at the Garrett Community College on Saturday evening. The play was presented by a group of young people of the Needmore, Pa., area, and was sponsored by the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren, Swallow Falls.

Mrs. Myrtle Fulk will return to her home the latter part of this week from a Clarksburg hospital where she was a surgical patient last week.

Michael Holler spent the weekend in Accident, where he visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Knox.

Mrs. Bessie Canan visited her sister, Mrs. Nelle Lee, in Green Acres additiun, Kingwood, Sunday morning. They were guests the remainder of the day of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hehh, Reedsville, W. Va., at a carry-in dinner given for Mr. and Mrs. James Thorne. The Thornes are moving in the near future to Birdshoro, near Reading, Pa., where Mr. Thorne has new employment. The group was joined by several other families from St. George and Parsons, W. Va., for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ridder and family were in Elkins, W. Va., Sunday as guests of Mrs. Ridder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Lantz. The Ridders then visited Mr. and Mrs. Larry Canan later in the evening.

There are 244 businesses in the Garrett County area, according to statistics released by Willard E. Risdon, District Manager for Dun and Bradstreet in Baltimore. The tally, Mr. Risdon explained, is based on a count of businesses listed in the January, 1973 edition of the D and B Reference Book.

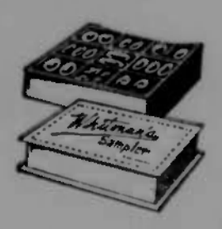
A Woman Never Forgets The Man Who Remembers



Will Sing In Pittsbnrgh Opera

The second act of the Barber nf Seville, and the third act of La Boheme, as well as excerpts from other operas, at a presentation at Duquesne University School of Music in the recital hall, Pittsburgh, on Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28

The programs are a result of a semester of work and training in the Opera Workshop under direction of Claudia Pinza, daughter of the late Metropolitan opera star, Ezio Pinza

Mrs. Muriel Robinson Franc, resident of Rennerdale and organist and choir director at St. Luke's church in Carnegie, will perform the role of "Mimi" in LaBoheme on Saturday, the 28th. She will also do excerpts from Carmen on both nights.

Mrs. Franc studied music at Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, majoring in 'cello at that time as well as continuing and performing in voice and piano which began at an early age with her mother, and choir directing under her father, the late Felix G. Robinson, of Oakland.

Mrs. Franc also studied voice further in New York under a singer of German Lieder. Since going to Pittsburgh she has appeared twice as soloist with the Mendelssohn choir and the Pittsburgh symphony, and had a role in a children's opera in conjunction with the Tiny Tots Concerts and the Pittsburgh Symphonette. she has been with Claudia Pinza for vocal coaching since last fall with special emphasis on opera.

She and her husband, Albert Franc, occupy the former Robinson home of "Mendell" south of Oakland, in the summer months.

Two French Plays Presented by Students

Two French plays, La Petit Poule Rouge (The Little Red Hen) and Voici la Maison (The House That Jack Built), were given by Miss Ducy Snyder's 8-A French class at Southern High School last Friday night, April 6. In the audience were the friends and families of the class.

A banquet, which followed the play, featured such delicacies as quiche Lorraine, French bread, cheese cake, Boucf bourgogne, Caesar salad, cream puffs, and more.

The first play given was the well-known "La Petit Poule Rouge." The characters were Kathy Edwards, Cindy Graham, Barbara Butler, Rhonda Johnson, Judy Custer, Susan Eberly, Lori Carleton. The narrator was Diana Custer.

The second play was taken from the nursury rhyme "The House that Jack Built." The actors were Doug Green, Connie Bernard, Judy Kahl, Pam Frickett, Sharon Naylor, Debbie Bernard, Iva Morris, Aleta DelSignore, Steve Ritchie, and Gary Beckman.

This play told about the familiar "This is the house that Jack built." This is the malt that lay in the house that Jack built . . ." etc

Since those who saw the two plays were interested more French activities are being planned for the future. A cookbook is being made from the recipes gathered at the banquet.

Accident Area Churches Plan Sunrise Service

In the spirit of Key 73, "bringing Christ to every person in North America," a number of churches in the Accident area have planned a community-wide Easter Sunrise service. The service will be held outdoors, weather permitting on the lawn of Zion Lutheran Church, overlooking the Accident pond. In case of inclement weather the worshippers will gather in the Zion sanctuary. The bells will ring at 6:00 a. m. to begin the worship. A fifty-voice community choir, under the direction of Dr. Reuben Rodeheaver of Northern High School, will sing two anthems, as will the Mennonite Chorus directed by Bishop Elmer Maust, Pastor of the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church. Other pastors and churches participating are The Rev. William E. Carlson, with St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Accident and St. John's Lutheran Church, Cove; The Rev. William Shimer with Bear Creek Brethren Church, Accident; The Rev. Frank Johnson, with McHenry United Methodist Church; and The Rev. Fred Illick, with Zion Lutheran Church, Accident.

The service has been planned in conjunction with the Key 73 observance, in order to provide an opportunity for a united Christian effort to proclaim the saving message of the Risen Christ to all people in the area. Also participating will be members of St. John's Missouri Synod, Lutheran Church, Cove.

The offering given at this service will be designated to the Community Key 73 Fund and used in conjunction with efforts to reach every person in the community with some portion of Scripture and some personal witness concerning life in Christ.

The Ladies' Aid of Zion Church will provide donuts, rolls and coffee following the service.

Hot Line Begins 3rd Year April 18

Hot Line began its 3rd year yesterday, April 18 as an important facet of Garrett County. Hot Lines had already been established in other communities but only through a great deal of effort and persistence on the part of a few concerned persons did it come to Garrett County. Now many people are needed and do contribute to the continuation of this service to the whole community.

Since its beginning hot line has received hundreds of calls. The percentage of calls coming in is comparable to what other hot lines or answering services of this type receive throughout the country. Approximately 1 out of every 75 persons in Garrett County has used this service.

People call for all kinds of reasons. Some include such problems as alcoholism, drugs, boy-girl relationships and marital problems. Others call because they are lonely, need information, seeking referrals or just want to talk. For those people who, for many reasons, are confined to their homes and desire more outside contact, there is a reverse hot line wherein they are called by phone volunteers.

In all instances conversations are kept in strict confidence and the identity of the persons involved is not revealed.

New volunteers are always needed. Each perspective volunteer receives training in the techniques of effective listening and responding, ways of dealing with certain problems and information on resources available. Volunteers not desiring to answer phones may serve in other capacities such as publicity, recruiting or secretarial tasks. For those who answer the phones, there is the opportunity for further training.

In the past hot line has had a square dance and book sales to raise money. This summer a flea market is planned and details will be announced later.

The phones are manned every night from 8 to 11 p. m. and those persons not living in the Oakland area, may call toll free using the enterprise number.

Anyone wishing to join hot line or desiring information may call the Garrett County Health Department.

TALENT CONTEST WINNERS—Winner of the annual Viking-sponsored talent show at Northern High School last month was Jim Michael, who played "Harlem Nocturne" on the saxophone for the $25 first prize. The Viking is the student newspaper at Northern.

Second place was a tie between Nancy Frazee and Gertrude Miller. Nancy played a piano solo, "Bridge Over Troubled Waters," and Gertrude did an original reading. Each received $5.

Students' choice for the most popular act was the comedy skit featuring Barry Glotfelty and David Wellborn. Their imitation of Flip Wilson's "Geraldine" received $10. Judges were Mrs. Fred Illick, Accident; Mrs. Mary Lou Bender, Grantsville, and Charles L. Briner, Oakland.

Volleyball Tourney Set For College April 21

This is the first time such a tournament has been offered in this immediate area. Advisors for the Southern GAA are Mrs. Helen Rostosky and Mrs. Jean Hayhurst.

A bird corals its heart out. Pale pink blossoms proclaim the newness of life returning to dormant branches. Spring sunshine gleams on the white pillars of the church. Everywhere is joy and gladness as earth prepares to celebrate the Easter season.

Yet somewhere hearts are heavy. Pain blots out springtide ecstasies. Bird songs torment minds grayed with grief. What message can the Holy Day bring them?

In the darkest hour of the first Good Friday, Jesus, deserted by His followers, rejected by those He came to save, tortured and suffering, said, "Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit."

Follow His example this Eastertime. Whatever the situation, however bleak the outlook—commend your spirit, your very self to God. Your load will be lightened, your being restored.

Your church is an open door which calls you to the joyous realization of God's love as an unassailable source of strength in your life.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE EASTER FAITH

Lesson for April 22, 1973

Background Scripture: John 11:17-44; 1 Corinthians 15:20-28, 51-57.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 118:15-24.

Did you ever stop to think that without Easter there would be no Christmas? What point would there be in joyously celebrating the birth of a man like Jesus unless he did, in fact, conquer death? Without Easter faith, Christmas would, at most, be celebrated like the birthdays of other great men, Washington, Lincoln, Columbus, with banks and post offices closed and the rest of society in the midst of "business-as-usual."

Rev. Althouse

More than a memory

Without Easter there would likely be no Christian Church either. His disciples might have revered the memory of Jesus, but that memory alone would not have been sufficient cause to brave humiliation, hardship, and torture to carry his message throughout the world. The sermon on the mount, the golden rule, the parables of Jesus, none of these would have been worth dying for if it were not for Christ's victory on the first Easter Sunday.

If Jesus were no more than another good man who died a martyr's death, there would be no reason for the world to keep alive his teachings for almost 2,000 years. Some of those teachings are hard to follow and I wouldn't try to practice them at all if I thought that Jesus had really been defeated at Calvary. There are enough sincere failures in this world and I am certainly not going to link my life to another one.

Yes, Paul, writing in 1 Corinthians 15, is right: if there is no resurrection, if Easter is just a fictitous "happy ending," then Christianity is a "pipedream" and we are all wasting our time with the church and the so-called Christian way of life. Cut the resurrection out of the Christian message and the "good news" of Jesus Christ becomes just another sad, old story.

A resurrection faith

This is what Paul is saying in 1 Corinthians 15: "Now I would remind you brethren in what terms I preached to you the gospel . . . For I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received . . ." The whole heart of the gospel as it was presented to Paul and proclaimed by him was the centrality of Christ's resurrection. It was, Paul said, "of first importance."

Paul goes on to make the case in even stronger language:

> . . . if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain and your faith is in vain . . . and you are still in your sins. Then those also who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished. If for this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are of all men most to be pitied. (1 Corinthians 15:14-19).

A noted Biblical scholar, Bernhard Anderson, reminds us that the disciples did not go into the world "preaching an ethical code, or a system of philosophy, or a utopian gospel of social improvement." The Church was then as it must be now: established on the Easter faith.

For Our Want Ads—They Pay

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear sister, wife, and mother, Shirley Ann Tasker, who left us one year ago, April 21, 1972.

One year has slowly slipped by
Since that sad and tragic day.
That our dear sister, wife, and mother was quickly taken away.
The heartbreak we all felt,
No one can fully express.
It just didn't seem real, as we saw you laid to rest.
Now all we have are memories
Of the happy days we shared.
If only we could tell you, how much we all still cared.
Once again we bring flowers,
And say a silent prayer.
For the one we loved so dearly
Is now peacefully resting there.

Country Sale

A lady named Dova Ecker had died intestate, some of her neighbors said, after losing her brother and enduring a fire in which her sister died. That is why the sale was being held today, and why her used and prized possessions were now neatly placed in rows on the lawn, ready for the many eyes of strangers who would pass on each article their opinions as one of great worth or little value.

Children ran about the old, tin-roofed house, its sides devoid of any but the vestiges of white paint, revealing dark wood and crooked window sashes. They discovered the tiny winding stairway, so unlike any of their acquaintance, and wondered how people made their feet small enough to stand upon each spiral as they went up and down. We all gazed at the white-chinked logs of the east room and thought if its own beauty, unknown to the bidders below.

The black iron stove stood as its owner had seen it for many days; on its top were enamel and tin pans, none so new as to be made of Teflon or stainless steel. Bread pans at the side made us almost smell again what once issued in Heaven's own pureness from that oven. The stove would also be sold later, but just now was showing it invulnerability by being heated for coffee for the auctioneer's crew.

A little table held Dova's collection of teapots, some hand-painted, others plain, many in a special arrangement for grounds to brew, but all were still useful, showing the mistress' taste in food and beauty. A cruet, white and gold encrusted, with a tiny chip, and two painted bowls, with pitchers missing, (the auctioneer did not see the cracked one preserved upstairs), evidenced her ideas. There were her hand-made dolls, one of them in red satin and the other made of milk filters, which fortunately were sold to ladies who had known her.

The brother had added his own creations to Dova's living by repairing her furniture and fixing his own wooden images—an animal resembling a badger standing upright on the same block of wood from which he was carved, a tiny trunk and movable lid, a chair of plywood with a shelf beneath the seat, built into this piece. A hand-carved maple mantelpiece was lying in the row, bought to grace the room of one vastly removed from the time of its first owner.

And so we bid, for braided rugs; a cupboard made partly of oak, partly of poplar; an ironstone pitcher; and an antique rounded high butter dish. We were translating Dova's life patterns into modern dollars.

But this was not entirely possible. As we examined a dish cupboard, the little girl standing by remarked at her mother's blanched look. "Oh, I remember this. There were always dishes in the top and she had candy in the drawer. She always gave me some when she baby-sitted with me."

Three schoolage children possessed the only things not sold at Dova Ecker's place that day. The little girl had her remembrances of an old lady's kindness. When all that remained of her household was a box of money, two other children stood, quietly admiring their mixed bouquets of grape hyacinths and daffodils, picked in the old yard. They had never known Dova; she sold them nothing. She gave them loveliness.

Speakers Listed In Ecology Course

A list of speakers who will conduct some sessions of the Hunter Safety-Ecology course being given on Thursday evenings at Garrett Community College has been announced by Paul S. Frank, instructor.

The course will begin with an introductory session April 19th, during which an ammunition display will be provided by the Laurel Sports Shop of Meyersdale. On April 26th, Bernie Zlomek of the Maryland Forestry Department will speak on Forests and the Hunter.

The following week, Les Bratten will show a film on bow safety and bow construction, and Bob Abraham will speak on fishing with rod and reel, fishing with a bow, and how and fishing safety.

On May 10th, John Reckner, District Soil Conservationist, will speak on Soil and its Relation to the Hunter. Another guest speaker, Regional Wildlife Manager William Harman, will tell the students about wildlife management.

The fifth meeting of the course will be an instructional session on gun safety. Then on May 24th, another guest speaker will speak on law enforcement, including hunting and fishing laws. During the seventh and final session of the course, a hunter safety test will be given.

Course meetings begin at 7:30 Thursday evenings and will each last approximately two hours, according to Mr. Frank. The course is open to the public.

Seek Ways For Continuing Growth At Camp Hickory

The Garrett County Board of Education is in an effort to continue and improve the programs of Camp Hickory developed a second major policy at its regular meeting on April 12, Dr. William Buser, county superintendent announced. The first policy created an Advisory Committee to the Board relative to Camp Hickory. With the withdrawal of federal funds to support the project the Board has sought ways to insure the orderly growth and development of the program and facility. The Camp Hickory usage policy states:

"Camp Hickory exists for the education of all youth and interested individuals in Garrett County, the State of Maryland, and the surrounding geographical areas. It is, however, first an integral part of the Garrett County School System and its developed curriculum for youth, grades K-12. Its use and programming for grades K-12 are the responsibility of the Superintendent of Schools of Garrett County and his designated personnel.

"When Camp Hickory is not in use by the Garrett County School System it can be used by the Garrett Community College and by other interested educational agencies who receive permission for its use from the Board of Education of Garrett County. When this permission is granted, the requesting agency will be responsible for programming, finance, and operation of Camp Hickory and will coordinate all activities and programs with the Director of Camp Hickory to insure proper usage of the facility.

"In the event of damage to property and or losses sustained at Camp Hickory during its usage by the requesting agency, the agency will be financially responsible for the repair of damages and or replacement of all losses incurred."

This policy provides an avenue for the orderly expansion of programs and also places some of the financial burden for some programs on the users of Camp Hickory. While funds are requested in fiscal 1974 budget request for the kindergarten through high school program, other sources of funding will be needed to develop year-round programming at Camp Hickory.

The Garrett County Board of Education and the State Interagency have established other priorities for building funds that will be available in the next few years, therefore local funds and "friends of Camp Hickory" will be depended upon to assist with the further development of the physical facilities at Camp Hickory, Dr. Buser concluded.

The nation's crime rate showed a drop in 1972, the first decrease in 17 years, but violent crimes continued to increase.

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U. S House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for personal replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked me.

Everyone talks about tax breaks for businesses that utilize pollution control devices, but what about a break for ecology-minded consumers?

A bill has been introduced in the House to provide a tax credit for homeowners and car owners who purchase and install certified pollution control devices. Copies of H.R. 817, "Consumer Pollution Control Tax Credit Act," may be obtained by writing my office here in Washington.

I have just moved to Maryland and would appreciate knowing the trout fishing laws for this area?

Trout may be taken from fresh water impoundments of two acres or more at any time without a special trout stamp. Lesser ponds and trout streams require a trout stamp and fishing in these waters is limited between the hours of 5:30 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Do you favor a mandatory spending ceiling for Congress?

Yes, I believe that Congress should be required to work within a set budget figure each year through the establishment of a mandatory federal spending ceiling. It is a workable short term answer to uncontrollable federal spending and inflationary legislation.

What is the time and location of your upcoming black lung conference?

The "claims clinic," to aid Western Maryland miners and their families in filing for black lung benefits, will be held April 25th, 9 a. m. to 12:00 Noon at the VFW Hall in Lonaconing. Specialists in miners benefits from the Social Security Administration will provide individual claims and filing guidance for area miners.

Where can I obtain a copy of the government report on performance data for 1973 cars?

The report can be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, for $2.85.

What is your position in regards to countries that allow the production and illegal export of drugs to the United States?

We should suspend economic assistance and aid to countries that fail to take appropriate steps to prevent drugs produced in their country from entering the U. S. illegally.

Bearded Turkeys May Be Hunted April 30 - May 5

Seven counties, including one on the Eastern Shore, will be open for hunting bearded turkeys again this spring, according to the Department of Natural Resources. The season runs from April 30 through May 5. When the spring turkey season first was introduced several years ago it was confined to the three westernmost counties.

The open counties are Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Montgomery, Harford and Dorchester.

Even though a hunter has taken a turkey of either sex during the regular fall season, he still may bag one bearded turkey during the spring season. In addition to a valid Maryland hunting license, a person who takes to the woods in the spring season must have the special deer-turkey stamp.

Should the hunter bag one of the big birds he must tag it with the tag given him when he bought the special stamp. The turkey must be checked in at a checking station in the county in which it was killed.

If the hunter killed a turkey and used the tag in the fall season, he may make up his own tag for the spring kill. Information required on the improvised tag is the date and time of day the turkey was killed; the county in which it was killed; the hunter's name, address and hunting license number.

Shooting hours are from half an hour before sunrise to 10 a. m., local time. Rifles may not be used in hunting turkeys. Use of bait, recorded or amplified calls, dogs, organized drives or blinds are prohibited.

A 23 year old Midland man who was found along the highway on U. S. route 219, between Meyersdale and Berlin on March 29, died Tuesday, April 10, at West Virginia University medical center in Morgantown.

Richard B. Steiding, assistant director of the audio visual department at Frostburg State college, was taken to the Meyersdale Community hospital and transferred on March 30 to the hospital in Morgantown in fair condition.

The Monongalia County coroner said he had no information regarding the death as Mr. Steiding had been a patient there for approximately ten days and he investigates only cases in which persons are dead on arrival at the hospital.

Pennsylvania State police had reported no accidents investigated on the night that the man was found along the highway.

A native of Cumberland, he was a son of Mrs. Virginia Mason Steiding of Midland, and the late John Steiding. Mrs. Steiding was a former resident of this county and a daughter of Mrs. Minnie Mason, Deep Creek Lake, and the late Wade Mason.

Reward for Work . . .

A normal person working twelve months in the year, will work for four months just to pay the taxes which support government. We are being told that ever since January 1 and up to May 2 we just think we have been earning money for our families. Actually all the typical American taxpayer has been doing, every cent he has made, goes for his Federal, state and local taxes.

Hadn't we all better make sure our money is honestly and efficiently spent, is asked in a Warner and Swasey company advertisement in U. S. News and World Report.

It lists a few of the things taxes go for; $40,000 a year salary to the House of Representatives doorkeeper who intones once a year, "Ladies and Gentlemen, the President; $72,000 to a university in Yugoslavia to finance a study of why white wine turns brown; $47,862 taxi bill to transport welfare recipients; $76,000 each for a group of 'low-cost' house for low income families; and $23,000 for a study by HEW on why children fall off tricycles."

These, the advertisement says, are just a few of the things your money has been going for. The advertisement asks "Just how hard have you been working to pay for them and their like? How long are you going to putt up with it?"

And that certainly, is a good question.

Richter Wins National Merit Scholarship

Donald R. Richter, Accident, was among over 1,000 United States students named National Merit Scholarship winners this week.

Richter will be the recipient of a National Merit $1,000 scholarship, providing a grant payable to him next fall after he enrolls as a full-time student in an accredited U. S. college or university.

Donald and the other winners were chosen from a group of about 14,000 students who became finalists in the 1973 merit program.

The winners were chosen by a committee of professionals from the college admissions field on a state-by-state basis. Number of winners in each state is proportional to that state's percentage of the nation's total graduating high school seniors.

Maryland had 18 of the winners, including Richter.

All of the merit scholars were chosen from students who attained finalist standing in the 1973 program. Competition began in October 1971 when over one million students in nearly 17,000 schools took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Semifinalists number less than one-half of one percent of the nation's graduating high school seniors. Each semi-finalist was previously awarded a certificate of merit.

Richter is a senior at Northern High School and plans to enter premedicine at Johns Hopkins University next fall. He is valedictorian of his class, participated in a biochemistry program in Windsor, Conn., was varsity football co-captain, participated in wrestling, was senior class president and senior band president, and won second place in the State American Legion Oratorical contest.

A member of his church youth group, he was recently named second highest in Maryland in the 1973 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow, winning the county title for his school earlier.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Richter, Cove.

His $1,000 award from NMSC is sponsored by RCA, a company prominent in communications, education, publishing, electronics, manufacturing, processing, distribution, and services in this country and abroad.

Daylight Saving Time Begins This Sunday Morning

Garrett County residents should remember to turn their clocks ahead one hour this Saturday evening, or risk being late for church and other activities Sunday.

Most of the nation will gain an hour of daylight Sunday, when the Daylight Saving Time becomes official at 12:01 a. m.

DST will continue for the next seven months until the last Sunday in October, except in states which have laws exempting them from the federal ruling made five years ago.

Rescue Squad Aims For $14,000 For New Ambulance

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Inc. announced this week it had reached its original goal of $10,000 through the generosity of businessmen, service organizations, and residents of the area.

However, because of the possibility of obtaining a new fully-equipped ambulance, the Squad needs an additional $4,000 which had not been anticipated in the original budget.

A proposal was recently submitted through Health Planning Council of Appalachia to obtain two ambulances for the county squads. This would require matching funds for the $16,000-plus vehicles, at a 20-80 percent participation.

Bernard Ziomek, president of the Southern Squad, felt confident that the new goal would be reached and extended solicitation through May 15. He invited those persons not yet contacted to send their donations to Box 222, Mt. Lake Park. Checks may be made payable to Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Inc.

Ziomek reported that the Southern Squad was in the process of finding a suitable location to house the ambulances, and invited suggestions from persons having office and garage bays available. These persons may call 334-9052.

The squad was given a tour by hospital personnel of the emergency room at Garrett Memorial Hospital Tuesday night as part of the squads training program. Each member will soon be given the opportunity to work as an aide in the emergency room on weekends and evenings to help develop their individual proficiency, according to Robert Sinecll, squad instructor.

DID SOMEONE KNOCK? WHERE DID HE GO These might have been questions in the thoughts of Mrs. William Ashby, as she was inspecting the damage caused by a bolt of lightning Monday morning about 11:45, at her home on U.S. Route 219 south of Oakland, adjacent to the former Ralph Weber home. The bolt of lightning apparently struck two trees in the yard and the shock was carried by tree roots to the stoop and inside the home. The lower photo shows the damage inside the home. Mrs. Ashby was talking on the telephone at the time but was not injured. Oakland firemen were called but there was no fire. The lightning also left a huge hole near the steps.

C and P Seeks Rate Increase

New Schedule Proposed To Maryland Public Service Commission

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company of Maryland has proposed a new schedule of rates that would raise the monthly residential rate in Garrett county by five to eight percent for residence customers and 19 to 46 percent for business customers, depending on the type of service and rate classification.

The rate schedule was presented to the Maryland Public Service Commission and if approved could go into effect as soon as May 23. The last request for higher rates, which was filed in June, 1972, was dismissed by the PSC in September.

James J. Jacobs, vice president and general manager, said, "Our last increase in rates was based on conditions existing in 1971 and of course everyone knows what has happened to prices since then. Our financial situation continues to deteriorate as was predicted when the company's last request for higher rates filed last June was dismissed by the PSC. We must ask for this increase because of the continuing growth to telephone service needs, increased levels of state and local tax and the higher wages we must pay."

Mr. Jacobs noted that the company planned to spend over $200 million for additions and improvements this year. The proposed rate increases would raise an additional $39.2 million in annual revenue.

The objective of the increases is to shift more of the cost burden from certain expenses so the user pays more of the cost, Mr. Jacobs said.

Examples of these services which are more "user pays" oriented include $20 instead of $11 for residence service; $30 instead of $22 for non-key business service; (repair visits continue at no extra charge); non-published telephone numbers, $1 per month; non-listed telephone numbers, 75 cents per month; public telephone calls, 20 cents instead of 10 cents, (when sets are converted, approximately early 1974).

Intrastate long distance revenue would increase about 5 percent; however, customers will still get a lower rate on calls they dial themselves.

Mr. Jacobs also noted that the utility spent $180 million in the state for telephone facilities for its customers. This amount was spent to serve the customers and to handle an ever-increasing volume of calls; to modernize existing equipment, including replacing aerial cable with underground cable and converting the new electronic switching systems; to replace obsolete and worn equipment and to handle customer relocations and changes.

Throughout the state last year its crews connected and disconnected over a million telephones to net an increase of 155,000.

Other changes in the revised tariffs include: offering measured service statewide as soon as facilities are available; changing rural service to four-party service as facilities permit; eliminating the one-time charge for Trimline and Princess phones.

The proposed tariff revisions are available to the company's public business offices and at the Maryland Public Service Commission.

Bolden Reviews Action Taken By Legislature

Delegate Says Resolutions Had Important Impact

Actions taken by the state legislature during its recently concluded session that affected this county, were recounted this week by Delegate DeCorsey Bolden.

Mr. Bolden felt one of the most important was a resolution calling for instruction in public schools concerning the workings of local, county and state government. This was officially termed "Implementing curriculum materials," and concerned particularly special courses in high schools, about the workings of government.

Another important resolution requested the Department of Natural Resources to make a cost estimate study for restoration and preservation of the Casselman River bridge. Mr. Bolden said that in conjunction with that resolution $10,000 was placed in the capital budget for that purpose.

An important piece of legislation for the county was a statewide measure and concerned the making of 2,000 acres of Big Savage mountain land part of the state's wildlands system. The bill hit a couple of snags, went through two hearings and finally faced a major amendment when the county asked that Monroe Run area, also 2,000 acres, be deleted from the measure. As "wildlands" the acreage now has state protection and will be preserved for nature lovers or for those who simply like pretty scenery.

Legislation was enacted authorizing the sheriff's office to have a matron.

All equipment and material now purchased by the county must be bought on a bid basis. A measure passed removing the $125,000 limit clause.

A measure created a merit system board of three members, two to be named by the County Commissioners and one to be elected by county employes. Another measure made sheriff deputies eligible to come under the merit system.

Salary increases were provided for County Commissioners, from $4,200 to $6,000 with $6,500 for the chairman. Commissioners were also required to remain on duty at least two days a week instead one.

The county's bailiff system will now be run by the county instead of through legislation of the Assembly. And it will be legal for the county to hire an attorney. An oversight in the law made no provisions for a county attorney until passage of a bill this year.

Deer Park Firemen Plan Community, Fire Building

Excavation is completed and masonry construction was to begin last week for the new Deer Park fire department building along Route 135 just across from St. John's Episcopal Church.

The new building, planned by members of the 33-man department and drawn up by Glen O'Brien and George Comp, will measure 50 by 80 feet and consist of two stories.

The lower floor will house fire fighting trucks and equipment, while the second story will contain a 50 by 60 assembly room for firemen and community social events; a smaller meeting room for the auxiliary meetings, and a kitchen.

The lower half of the building will be of concrete block, with the upper half of the building to be of brick-covered frame construction.

A large part of the funds for the construction is currently in the firemen's treasury, since the firemen and their auxiliary members have been planning for the past five or more years to erect a new building. The groups plan several fund-raising activities later this summer to help pay back a loan needed to complete construction.

According to Mr. Comp, the group hopes to have the lower floor ready for occupancy and to have the upper story under

Monday's Storm Contributes Much To April's Wetness

A heavy rain and thunder storm Monday at mid-day contributed much to put April's precipitation far above the normal for the month. Almost an inch fell in about two hours, .96 inch to be exact. Temperatures during the week were summerlike, averaging about 12 degrees above the normal.

Two clear days, Saturday and Sunday, followed last Thursday's light rain. Easter Sunday was mostly cloudy with rather strong breezes blowing at times. Following Monday's heavy rain skies remained cloudy with showers. There was much sunshine Tuesday but it was raining again yesterday. Total precipitation for the month thus far is 6.96 inches with this week's being 2.27 inches.

Afternoon mercury readings were mostly in the 70s with the highest being 77 Saturday with 76 Friday and Sunday. The average was 71 degrees or 11 degrees above the normal. Morning lows averaged 49 degrees or 15 above the normal. The temperature did dip below the 40-mark yesterday with a 39 reading.

Space Center Trip Planned

A second tour to the Kennedy Space Center will be taken May 11 to 15, if enough people are interested.

The group will tour the Space Center, view the launch of Sky Lab I and attend a conference on Skylab with experts from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Planning the trip is Paul S. Frank, Jr., Assistant Professor of Science and Mathematics at Garrett Community College, Mellenry.

Interested persons are invited. The estimated maximum cost, including tours, rooms and meals, is $150 per person. The group will leave at noon May 11th, by bus. While in Florida, they will stay at the Daytona Plaza Hotel and will return the afternoon of May 15th.

To insure reservations, the conference and transportation fee of $95 must be received no later than May 4th. In the event the trip does not materialize, these fees will be refunded. Checks should be made payable to "Garrett Community College-Skylab" and sent to Paul S. Frank, Jr., Garrett Community College, Mellenry.

Home Damaged By Lightning Monday

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Ashby, U. S. route 219, south of Oakland, was considerably damaged by lightning Monday morning about 11:45 when it struck two trees directly in front of their porch, shattered the stoop and the interior of the home around the front door.

The charge was thought to have been carried into the home through the roots of the trees. The extent of the damage may be estimated from the two photos on page one of today's issue.

No one was injured, even though Mrs. Ashby was talking on the telephone at the time. The Oakland fire department was called to the scene but there was no fire.

Mr. Ashby is a salesman for fire equipment, fire extinguishers, fire engines, etc.

The mishap occurred during a sharp electrical storm which lasted for about an hour or more. Close to an inch of rain fell during the storm.

Animal Bites Source of Concern Of Local Health Authorities

"Dog Bites Man" rarely makes headlines these days because the frequency of bites is so common. A possibility of rabies infection, however, has prompted medical and animal health authorities to spell out the need for vigilance in every animal bite instance.

Cases in Garrett County in recent weeks indicate that the general public is not too well apprized of what to do in case of animal bite, according to one authority. Not only is knowledge lacking in basic first aid for the bite, but also confusion exists in how to handle the biter.

An irate father last week blasted a family pet with a shotgun and buried the carcass after the dog had bitten his daughter. Animal health authorities had to dis-inter the dog to examine what little was left of its brain in an effort to establish whether or not the dog had rabies.

Rabies, a virus, is transmitted through saliva of an infected animal to any other warm blooded creature it may bite. The virus attacks the brain, and is almost invariably fatal.

Unless a physician knows for sure the biting animal is not infected with rabies, he has no alternative but to begin a series of 14 to 21 injections of vaccine which are both painful and

Vandalism Occurring At Oakland Golf Course

The Oakland Country Club golf course is being posted this week because of widespread vandalism.

They are posting "no trespassing" signs for persons other than those playing golf or guests at the club. James Kreyenbuhl, golf pro, said that vandals had been stealing flags and even taking pins out of the ground. He said they had stolen 18 of the flags. Kreyenbuhl said these flags were expensive to replace.

In an advertisement in this week's issue the board of directors said they would prosecute any violators of the order.

To Address Rotary

Harris LeFew, public relations director of Westvaco, at Luke, will speak of the influence the plant at Luke has on this and the surrounding area, at the weekly meeting of the Oakland Rotary club this evening at 6:15 at the American Legion home.

He also plans to speak on some of the recent remodeling work being done in the interest of less air and water pollution. Haig Jackson, vice-president, will be in charge.

Protests Termination Of Amtrak Service

A meeting protesting the proposed termination of passenger service by the railroads on May 5, was held Tuesday evening at Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

Amtrak service for the Washington-Parkersburg line was to officially end Saturday, May 5.

Some 150 persons attended Tuesday night's meeting with most of them being from West Virginia. William Renninger, who is at present residing in Oakland with his mother, Mrs. J. C. Renninger, apparently was the only one from this area attending.

Some alternatives were suggested but none came closer to this area than Cumberland. There was some possibility that the commuter train from Martinsburg to Washington could be salvaged. Other plans were not considered feasible by Amtrak officials. There was some discussion of a possible joint funding by Maryland and West Virginia to bear a major portion of the expected deficit, should Amtrak be continued.

First Week's Fish Rodeo Winners Are Announced

Man "Forgets" To Return Car To Pritts' Garage

An apparently distinguished looking older man casually drove off with a used car from Ralph Pritts and Sons garage in downtown Oakland Saturday morning, and "forgot" to bring the car back.

The man, who seemed to be in his early sixties, appeared at the garage about 9 a. m., said he was from Terra Alta and asked to test drive a dark blue 1969 Dodge Dart. As the salesmen were especially busy just then, the man was handed the keys and he drove off.

About two hours later, a garage employe rode his motorcycle over to Terra Alta and covered all the side streets, but no sign of the vehicle was found.

Sheriff's office personnel and the state police were notified immediately after lunch, but have not traced the vehicle as yet.

Needless to say, security regulations concerning test driving of cars are being tightened. This was the first such theft to occur in this manner in the county.

To Present Concert

Anthony G. Mecoli, considered a leading pianist of the eastern United States, will present a concert at Garrett Community college on Saturday, May 5, at 8:15 p. m., it was announced.

The program which will consist primarily of works by Chopin, is open to the public with no admission charge.

Three Hospitalized Following Wreck Late Saturday

Three young girls were admitted to Garrett County Memorial following a one-car wreck late last Saturday night at State Route 135 and Sand Flat road.

Mary Ann Beckman, 18, driver of the car; Susan Marie Beckman, 16, and Debra Diane Beckman, 15, all of Mt. Lake Park, were admitted to the hospital. Debra and Mary Ann were discharged Monday. Susan remained in satisfactory condition Monday.

Mary Ann was pulling onto State Route 135 from the Sand Flat road, lost control of her car, which ran off the right side of the road into some guard rails, skidded across the road and came to rest on the eastbound lane of traffic. The cause was reported to be brake failure.

Tfc. Ronald S. Lewis investigated.

Dental Association Meeting Set Here

The Maryland State Dental Association's semi-annual meeting will be held at the Village Inn at Deep Creek Lake May 4-7, according to Dr. Lyman Milliken, MSDA President.

The meeting is being hosted by the Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society . . . a component group of MSDA.

Couple Escapes As Car Burns Sunday

A man and his sister of Alexandria, Va., narrowly escaped serious injury when their car burned along U. S. Route 50 about a mile east of the Table Rock road Sunday afternoon. The car was a total loss.

James R. Morris, 20, driver and his sister, both of Alexandria, Va., were driving east on Route 50 when Morris noticed smoke coming from the inside of the right rear of the car. He pulled onto the right shoulder and proceeded about 50 feet before coming to rest.

The two occupants emerged from the car just before their Chevelle became engulfed in flames.

The Gorman Fire Department responded to the call and extinguished the blaze.

The cause of the fire could not be determined.

Trooper Dale K. Williams investigated.

Hunting Seasons Proposed For Year

Maryland's proposed regulations for the 1973-74 hunting season seemed to be finding general favor with people attending a recent hearing in Annapolis

A regulation that would change the boundary of western hunting zone to include only Garrett and Allegany counties drew favorable comment.

Some persons declared that all of Maryland's hunting seasons were too long and the bag and possession limits too liberal. There was discussion of the state crow hunting problem in the light of the death of a bill that was introduced in the recent session of the legislature to make the crow a game bird and thus allow the Wildlife Administration to set a season upon it.

Proposed regulations vary little from the 1972-73 season. They will become effective July of this year when signed by the Secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, James B Coulter.

Squirrel, October 5 to January 31, inclusive, 6 per day, possession limit 12; red or piney squirrel, October 5 to January 31 with no limit.

Volunteers Needed To Assist With May Bird Count

The first bird count of this year is scheduled for Saturday, May 5, according to Mrs. William Pope, coordinator for this area.

Anyone interested in helping with the count should contact Mrs. Pope, Mt. Lake Park, as soon as possible, to indicate where they would like to count, either at feeders or in special areas of the county.

This year Mrs. Pope is also interested in reports of local active bird nests throughout the spring and summer.

Mrs. Pope is a member of the Maryland Ornithological Society, and will forward a record of the local count to Patuxent Wildlife Research Center at Laurel.

The Maryland Society has sponsored bird counts since 1948, to provide an indication of population changes over the years.

The May 5 count will take in a 24-hour period.

The last count here, taken December 17, noted 56 species of birds, one more than the previous count. Eighteen people cooperated in the count in December

Observe Tuesday May 1, "Law Day"

Tuesday, May 1, is observed as Law Day in the United States. Since 1958 May 1 has been observed as Law Day, and officially proclaimed for nationwide participation. The theme this year is "Help Your Courts—Assure Justice," as adopted by the American Bar association.

Ralph Burnett and Thomas Dabney, attorneys, Oakland are members of the committee planning activities at both Northern and Southern High schools on that day.

District Court Judge, Lewis R. Jones, declared, "At a time when there are more 'days' and 'weeks' celebrated for more causes and purposes than there are days and weeks in the year, it seems appropriate to lift up the more important, and consider their meaning. Law Day, as originally conceived, was intended to commemorate our system of justice and to contrast it to other systems. Of course, since the judicial system is manned by mortals, it is not perfect, but it has been said that our system has afforded more protection against tyranny to more people than in any other country in history.

"One of the purposes of our forefathers, when our Constitution was adopted, was 'to establish justice.' Throughout the history of our country, the courts have been charged with the solemn responsibility of safeguarding the rights of our citizens. The task has never been easy, and sometimes it seems the end result falls short of the goal. Needs of the community change, philosophies and approaches to problems and desired ends develop and evolve all complicated by the never ending diversity of activities and ideas.

"If our way of life is to continue, it is necessary that the purposes of the judicial system be understood, and that it be realized that justice requires participation from other branches of government and from the people whom they all should serve. The burden can not be assumed by one branch alone—thus the theme 'Help Your Courts—.'"

Leaky.
hot water faucets
waste water
and gas
and money.

The steady bleep-bloop of a leaky water faucet is more than a nuisance, it's a waste of one of our vital natural resources—water.
And if the leak is hot water, it wastes another vital natural resource —the natural gas used to heat the water.
Not to mention the money used to pay for the gas to heat the water.
A leak that fills an ordinary cup in ten minutes wastes 3,280 gallons of water a year.
Fix your leaky faucet. With a two-cent washer.
Natural gas and water . . . and money . . . are too valuable to waste.
There are other ways you can conserve gas. Keep the thermostat on your water heater set at the normal temperature. Avoid partial loads in your washing machine and dishwasher.
Don't use an excessive amount of hot water in your bath or in the shower.
Keep your water heater working efficiently by draining about a bucketful of water a month from the faucet at the base of the heater.
This prevents mineral deposit build-up that makes the heater work harder.
Use the gas you need in your home. But not a penny's worth more.
Write for our free booklet, "30 Ways to Save", for more ideas.

Takes Part In Army Exercise In Germany

Army Sergeant First Class Robert Layman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Layman, Bayard, W. Va., recently participated with some 15,000 American and allied troops in exercise reforger IV in Germany.

Sgt. Layman is regularly assigned as a platoon Sergeant in the 503rd Engineer Company, 563rd Engineer Battalion of the 7th Engineer Brigade in Kornwestheim, Germany.

The U. S. Air Force Military Airlift Command flew approximately 10,000 U. S.-based soldiers and more than 1,000 tons of equipment to three different airfields in Germany in preparation for the event.

Immediately after arriving overseas, the redeployed units drew combat gear and vehicles from pre-positioned storage sites in Germany and moved to the exercise area to begin the five-day field maneuver.

Pitted against the airlifted forces were Europe-based elements of NATO Forces of the U. S., Germany and Canada.

Emphasis of the maneuver was to test procedures and techniques for receiving and deploying units after they arrive, rather than on rapid air transport of troops from the U. S.

Sgt. Layman's wife, Susan, is with him in Germany.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Republican:

I fully agree with the letter concerning give aways to Communist countries in last week's issue of The Republican.

We fight the Communist with one hand, then feed and clothe them with the other. Every time the Communist get into a tough place the Uncle Sugar comes to their aid, costing tax payers millions of dollars. When Russia gets short on grain the United States sells them millions of bushels to keep their country and people in slavery. This creates high meat prices here. The vast majority of people behind the iron curtain don't want help from us. They want freedom but by our helping their leaders keep tight control over the people by giving them economic aid, the people have little hope of ever gaining their freedom.

Marylanders and Americans it is time we let our Senators and Congressmen know that we oppose such help in any form. By not helping our enemies we insure a stronger and free America.

Sincerely yours,
Jesse P. Skipper

Huskies Defeat Salisbury 6 to 5

Buddy Slagle sent home Greg Humberson with the winning run in the ninth inning as Northern High came from behind to defeat Salisbury high 6 to 5 for the Huskies' third straight win last Wednesday at Accident.

Vernon Snyder who drove in the Huskies' first run with a triple, sent the game into extra innings for Northern with a two-run homer in the seventh to deadlock the score at 5-5.

Snyder had four hits for the winners while Slagle banged out three and Dave Bender, Sines and Humberson two each.

Animal Bites

occasionally have severe side effects. The only way to determine whether or not an animal is rahid is to confine it for a period of not less than ten days. If it has the disease it will die in that time.

If the animal dies the entire body should be taken to a vetermarian or a state lab.

vent almost certain death.

Dr. Franklin D. Custer, veterinarian in charge of the Animal Health Laboratory, pointed out the difficulty in catching and confining animals other than one's pets. State law says it's illegal to destroy an animal which has bitten a person, but this law deals mainly with domesticated dogs and cats. Wild creatures such as foxes and skunks, which are notorious rabies carriers. Chipmunks, squirrels, groundhogs, bats and the like are hard to catch. A rifle is about the only answer. One way or the other, the animal must forfeit its life for the victim because only thorough examination of brain tissue can a positive or negative judgment be made. Consequently, one must aim for the body, not the head, of the animal. The brain should remain intact for examination.

First aid for the person bitten should be immediate. American Red Cross stresses a thorough washing of the wound with soap and water, then apply a sterile dressing, bandage, and seek medical attention. The critter which did the biting should be quarantined away from other animals for a period of at least ten days and observed for abnormal behavior or illness.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"The time has come for a new quest—a quest not for a greater quantity of what we have but for a new quality of life in America.

"Between now and the year 2000, over one hundred million children will be born in the United States. Where they grow up—and how—will, more than any one thing, measure the quality of American life in these years ahead.

"The attention and support we give the arts and the humanities—especially as they affect our young people—represent a vital part of our commitment to enhancing the quality of life for all Americans. The full richness of this nation's cultural life need not be the province of relatively few citizens centered in a few cities. On the contrary, the trend toward a wider appreciation of the arts and a greater interest in the humanities should be strongly encouraged, and the diverse culture of every region and community should be explored.

"Our scholars in the humanities help us explore our society, revealing insights in our history and in other disciplines that will be of positive long-range benefit.

"Our creative and performing artists give free and full expression to the American spirit as they illuminate, criticize and celebrate our civilization. Like our teachers, they are an invaluable national resource.

"Too many Americans have been too long denied the inspiration and the uplift of our cultural heritage. Now is the time to enrich the life of the mind and to evoke the splendid qualities of the American spirit.

"I see the face of a child. He lives in a great city. He is black. He is white. He is Mexican, Italian, Polish. None of this matters. What does matter is that he is an American child."

Fire Damages Car Wednesday In Oakland

Mrs. Phillips, a widow, is no stranger to fires, having lost her trailer home and possessions last October 16 when fire swept through her dwelling.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Reshaping Our Trade Policies

American factories and businesses produce more goods than any other nation in the world, and while a great deal of these products go directly to the American consumer, much of our economy and our high standard of living depends on trade with foreign nations.

Because of the tremendous efficiency of our industrial and agricultural industries, and with all other things being equal, we have been able to come out well ahead where trade is concerned.

At least until recently. But now we are finding ourselves blocked from foreign markets by tariffs, border taxes and other non-tariff barriers such as import quotas. And at the same time, we have found more and more foreign imports on our markets — in many cases from nations that have prevented us from competing within their domestic market.

These problems have come into being since the last major international trade agreements of a decade ago, and President Nixon is now asking Congress to act on legislation that would enable the United States to adjust its policies and bring a new balance to international trade.

The first point of the President's program is a request for negotiating authority to eliminate, reduce or increase import taxes on foreign goods for a period of five years.

With this authority at his fingertips, the President would be able to bargain more effectively with other nations that have either been flooding our markets with their products, or have been preventing our goods from being imported and sold at competitive prices in their countries.

He is also asking for the authority to negotiate agreements on non-tariff barriers, such as import quotas, and has proposed a method by which Congress can act swiftly to ratify the agreements.

Another aspect of the trade legislation is the President's request for the discretion to temporarily impose or reduce import restrictions for balance of payments reasons or to restrain inflation.

This stand-by power can be of great value in a world that moves as fast as ours does today, and without this flexibility we might find our hands tied when trying to cope with unexpected events.

And finally, the President has asked for the authority to grant most favored nation status for trade with the Soviet bloc and certain other nations. His proposal would allow Congress to review the policy each year in order to decide on whether it should be extended.

This is an alternative to the so-called Jackson Amendment to prohibit "favored nation" status for the Soviet Union as long as it imposes heavy emigration fees on Jews who are seeking to leave Russia and live in Israel.

I have cosponsored the Jackson Amendment, and I have made it clear that I oppose the taxes being imposed on the Soviet Jews. This will be one of the principal issues to be settled as the trade bill is being considered, and I believe that the Soviet government has become aware of our position and is responding by taking steps to remove most of the emigration taxes.

This legislation also will set the tone for American interests, once the International trade negotiations get underway this year, so I am confident that it will receive prompt and thorough consideration in the weeks ahead.

The bill is an initiative for international free trade, but it is based on the mutual reduction of trade barriers. It says that the United States will open its markets only as long as other nations are willing to open theirs.

No. 2 Unit At Mt. Storm Will Have Precipitator Added

The No. 2 generating unit of the Mt. Storm Power Station of Virginia Electric Power Company will be shut down Friday, May 4, for 30 days to tie-in the electrostatic precipitator which will remove fly ash from the stacks.

The No. 1 generating unit will be shut down July 1 for similar work.

Construction of a No. 3 unit, which has been under way for several years, has been delayed by a problem with a draft fan in the duct work.

Originally the unit was set to begin operation in June but a number of delays forced moving the opening date to August.

Cost of No. 3 unit is over $60,000,000. When in operation, it will burn in excess of 5,000 tons a day, bringing total plant consumption to 15,000 tons daily.

Construction is being done by Stone and Webster, a Boston firm which hires local employees.

A hearing is set this evening at Blackwater Lodge near Davis, W. Va., where West Virginia officials will meet with Vepco officials on the air pollution situation at the Mt. Storm operation.

An order from West Virginia authorities is currently holding up coal which had been taken from a deep mine on the company's property, alleging that the coal's ash content was too high.

Sixteen Are Killed On State Highways

Sixteen persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to Sergeant James E. Harvey of the State Police. Seven of those killed were drivers, five were passengers and four were pedestrians. At least five of the deaths might have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in six deaths, speed in nine, and "driver error" in 13.

Persons killed through April 22 totaled 248 compared to 226 a year ago.

Five Accidents In County Result In No Injuries

Five no injury accidents occurred during the past week in opposite ends of the county, with three of them on U. S. Route 40.

Lawrence I. Bittinger, of Salisbury, Pa., was traveling east on U. S. Route 40 just west of New Germany road about 10 p. m. April 11. The traffic in front of him was traveling slow. To avoid striking the vehicle ahead, the operator turned to the left, lost control and struck some guard rails. Trooper David A Miller investigated and charged him with negligent driving.

Another accident occurred the following day near the same place. Margaret Seibert, Pittsburgh, and Marcus L. Smith, Morgantown, W. Va. were traveling east on U. S. Route 40. Marcus Smith was apparently talking to another passenger in the car and failed to see a car in front driven by Margaret Seibert and collided with it. Smith was charged with reckless or negligent driving by Tfc. Carl D. Skidmore.

A tractor-trailer driven by Robert J. McGhee, Toledo, Ohio, was descending Negro Mountain and approaching Grantsville last Thursday morning when his brakes failed. The rig stopped on the hill going up into Grantsville. It then started to drift backward, crossed the road and went over an embankment. McGhee jumped from the rig and avoided injury. Trooper R. C. George investigated.

Marvin L. McCloud, Kitzmiller, was traveling west on Swanton Hill road near Bray road the evening of April 13 and Danny W. Terrant, Gainesville, Va., was traveling east. Both were traveling near the center of the road. As they approached each other, both swerved to the right. The wheel of the Terrant station wagon went off the shoulder while the rear end was thrown back onto the road and struck the McCloud car. Terrant was charged with failing to keep to the right side of the road by Tfc. Robert E. Friend.

The car of Floyd C. Foley, Gorman, was parked on the east-bound shoulder of U. S. Route 50 just west of Althouse Hill road the evening of April 17, while visiting in the locality. Foley drove the car home but did not discover the car damage until then. The vehicle which hit the car was unknown. Trooper Dale K. Williams investigated.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting will be conducted by the Loch Lynn Heights Town Council on May 4, 1973, at the Loch Lynn Elementary School to present the preliminary draft of the Comprehensive Development Plan for the Loch Lynn Heights area. All interested citizens are cordially invited to attend.

Mayor & Town Council
Loch Lynn Heights, Md.

Preliminary County Plan Will Be Aired Next Week

The Garrett County Planning Commission is in the process of finalizing their first draft of the county-wide comprehensive development plan. W. Marshall Rickert, County Planning Director estimates that the drafts will be completed by July 1, 1973, and that the final plan could be adopted by October 31.

The county is divided into 12 planning districts based on the 12 drainage basins within the county. Plans for each drainage basin are being prepared based on the research conducted during the last year by the Garrett County Planning Commission and their Consultants, Urban Research and Development Corp. During the next month the County Planning Commission will be conducting a series of six information meetings around the County to present tentative drainage basin plans and to solicit ideas from the general public.

The first two drainage basin meetings have been scheduled for next week on April 30, at Northern High School, and May 2, at Bittinger. On April 30, the presentation will be the Accident and Friendsville area and will be held at 7:30 p. m. On May 2, the presentation at the Bittinger fire hall will begin at 7:30 and will cover the Bittinger area and the Casselman River Drainage Basin.

Mr. Rickert stated that it is very important at this point to have full citizen participation in the planning process. The Planning Commission urges interested citizens in these two areas to attend meetings in order that their ideas might be included in the plan prior to its final draft preparation and printing. The remaining four meetings will be announced at a later date.

Meet The Staff

JANET GLOTFELTY

Meet the Staff proudly presents one of our most well-known cashiers, Janet Glotfelty. Janet began working for us as a student in high school in February of 1969. She was first employed as a part time cashier working mostly at nights and on Saturdays. Upon graduating from high school in June 1971, Janet expressed a desire to become a full-time cashier. We always welcome our high school students who prefer a career in the grocery business, and it was not long until we had a full-time opening for Janet who has been doing a splendid job for us ever since.

Some of Janet's strong points include efficiency, accuracy and friendliness. This combination along with her well-groomed appearance helped her to become our representative in Foodland's "Cashier of the Year" contest in 1972. In order to qualify for this honor, a cashier is tested in all phases of her job. She must be outstanding in popularity, alertness, efficiency and accuracy.

Janet is very business-like in her work. She concentrates on each transaction as though it were a test order. This could be the reason for her outstanding balancing record over the past two years.

We're proud to have a cashier who possesses so many fine qualities and we're sure that you'll find it a pleasure to be served by Janet the next time you shop our store.

Janet and her husband, Harry reside in Deer Park. Her outside interests include crocheting, water sports and camping.

Central System Of Communications Being Formulated

George Comp, supervisor of civil defense in the county and Bruce McCallum appeared before the County Commissioners this week in regard to the central communications system for the various departments in the county.

Mr. McCallum has been engaged to formulate a designed plan for the system. Federal funds are being applied for, amounting to $23,151 with county funds expected to total $7,718. A preliminary plan is expected to be available to the commissioners in several weeks, it was intimated.

Marshal Rickert, Garrett County planner, told the commissioners the Wild Lands bill had passed.

At a meeting with the Department of Natural Resources Mr. Rickert stated that the commissioners would not approve any future expansion of state owned land to the Wild Land program without a plan as to utilization of present land and a return of revenues to the county for upkeep of roads, as seventy some miles of county roads go through these lands and must be maintained by the county roads department.

John Shelton, member of the Oakland Jaycees discussed with the commissioners "clean-up" day on May 5th. The commissioners committed their support in helping clean up some of the debris and trash in the southern end of the county. Commissioners said they hoped that in another year a county-wide effort could be made.

The commissioners spent several hours Monday afternoon working on some of the budget requests. Four were finalized with practically the same amount of money as were funded for this year.

Southern Band Concert On Tap Friday Evening

A Primer on Pensions

Nearly half of our nation's labor force, or over 30 million Americans, participate in an employee pension program of one type or another, and an additional 6 million retired persons are now receiving annuities from these private pension plans.
